NEWTON BOYS DROWNED

The city was shocked to learn Monday morning of the death by drowning on Sunday afternoon of two West Newton lads, in the waters of Foster's pond in Andover. The boys, Loring Carley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cheever Carley of Elliot avenue, West Newton and his cousin, Raymond Carley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Carley of Cherry street, with Frederick A. Reichert of Raymond place, had gone to a camp belonging to Mr. Edward H. Carley on the shores of the pond for a few days of camping. Mr. Carley had taken the boys to the camp and returned to his home. Sunday afternoon the boys started out in what was supposed to be an unsinkable boat to set some traps and were returning to the camp when the boat sank beneath them. The boys knew how to swim and Reichert had started for the shore when he heard a scream and saw the others sink beneath the water. He endeavored to help them but was encumbered with heavy clothing and boots and finally became so exhausted that he had difficulty himself in reaching the shore. Not being acquainted with the country, and as it was dark when he reached the camp he was compelled to stay (Continued on Page 4.)

THE CITY BUDGET

The city budget as finally passed by the aldermen on Monday evening carries a grand total of $2,784,364.09, a reduction of some $72,000 from the figures submitted by Mayor Childs a month ago, and a reduction of $162,000 from the amounts requested by the heads of departments. The final figures are some $169,000 more than the appropriations for last year and are said to indicate a tax rate of $26 or over. The largest item is that of schools, which has been cut some $15,000 from the figures of the school committee and is still $54,000 more than last year. The Street Department receives (Continued on Page 2)

RECEPTION TO MR. ALLEN

The Hunnewell Club gave a public reception last Friday evening to Attorney-General Allen of Newton Highlands, and a fair sized audience was present notwithstanding the inclement weather. President Arthur W. Blakemore presided, and after enumerating the many matters in which Newton stood at the head, introduced Hon. Samuel L. Powers as the first speaker. Mr. Powers paid a high tribute to the guest of honor, saying that he possessed three qualities which had enabled him to accomplish what Mr. Powers said was the great achievement of the times—those qualities (Continued on Page 3)

ALDERMEN PASS LARGEST BUDGET IN HISTORY

Largely Attended Hearing on Building Line for Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre

An interesting meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held on Monday evening, all members of the Board being present. The annual budget was the most important matter considered and the recommendations of the Finance Committee thereon were adopted without amendment. James R. Gallagher, attorney for a number of property owners, protested against the granting of a permit to keep and sell gasoline to J. V. Monaghan's Sons at the corner of Auburn and Washington streets, ward 3, and Daniel Hannigan opposed the granting of a permit to G. L. Avery to keep and sell gasoline at the corner of Homer street and Lakeview avenue, ward 6. POLICE NEWS

In the District Court Monday morning Antonio Cavallo of 58 Oak avenue, West Newton, and Elia Garardo of 82 Border street, West Newton, were granted a continuance until next Saturday on a charge of assault with intent to kill Frank Castagnino of 13 Smith court, West Newton. They were held in bonds of $10,000.

It is alleged the two men went to the home of Castagnino recently to buy liquor which Castagnino had been making. The men were evidently dissatisfied with the quality of the liquor served to them, and in an argument with Castagnino one of them drew a knife and stabbed Castagnino in the abdomen. He was taken to the Newton Hospital.

On hearing most of the story of the quarrel, the Newton police obtained a search warrant and searched the Castagnino home. Twenty-five gallons of wine in three barrels and one keg were seized, along with a wine press. No charges have yet been preferred against Castagnino.

Lasell

A basketball game between the school team and faculty, which took place on Saturday evening, in the Lasell gymnasium, afforded much entertainment and amusement.

Following the game Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Winslow entertained the student body and faculty with an old-fashioned sugaring off party.

Twenty of the Woodland Park students attended the Boston Symphony concert on Monday afternoon.

On Wednesday evening the Orphean Club gave its annual concert before an audience which crowded the assembly hall to its capacity.

As a former year, the program was of high merit and testified to the splendid leadership of Henry M. Dunham, under whose personal direction the concert was given.

Two numbers—"Salve Regina" and When all things were in quiet Silence—composed by Mr. Dunham for the occasion, opened the program. The choir, beside a group of songs—also singing the spinning song from "The Flying Dutchman" and Gounod's Cantata "Gallia."

The soloists were Miss Elchhorn, violinist, and Miss Erdmann, who added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The spring vacation began on Thursday of this week, to end April 17th.

Miss Potter left on the Fall River line with a school party for Washington, while another party of girls sailed on Saturday for Bermuda.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—Next week at the St. James Theatre marks a new era. Director Masson will appear in person as "Mink Jones," his old part, in Hoyt's famous old play "A Temperance Town." Hoyt was the Dickens of New England and this satire on prohibition may be well considered a classic in comedy literature. There never will be a better character on the stage than "Mink Jones," the town drunkard; and W. C. Masson who has played the part many times before is sure to give a long-to-be-remembered performance. The cast is a very large one, consisting of the entire strength of the Boston Stock Company with many new additions which swell the total to twenty-five people.

con street and Langley road, ward 6, a letter in favor was received from the Newton Centre Improvement Assn., and Leland Powers, attorney for the Newton Centre Garage appeared in opposition.

Hearings were also held on petition of the Middlesex & Boston St. Rwy. for a side turnout on Walnut street, ward 2, and on petition of the Purty Ice Co. for a four-car garage in connection with its plant, on which no one appeared in favor or opposition.

Mr. John Cutler, Herbert S. Riley and Margaret F. Cutler appeared in favor of establishment of building lines on Walker street from Washington street to Proctor street, and on Washington street from Walker street to Brooks avenue, ward 2, and a rising vote showed a large number of citizens present in favor of the proposition.

A lengthy hearing was also held on the question of establishing building lines on Commonwealth avenue from Centre street to Sumner street, ward 6. Ex-alderman Herman Holt, Jr., of Newton Centre, conducted the case for the petitioners. He said, in part: "The question for the Board's consideration under this petition is that of the safety of the thousands of persons who daily use Commonwealth avenue or Centre street, where these great east-and-west and north-and-south arteries of travel intersect at Newton Centre. If this brick structure is erected as planned at the southeast corner of the intersection, the menace to traffic at this point will be greatly increased. In 1914 the city contributed about half and a number of public-spirited residents of Newton Centre about half to purchase a small piece of land at this corner on Centre street for the city, which has ever since held it, so that the dangers of this corner might be lessened. When this land was conveyed to the city eight years ago it is doubtful if anyone then realized the danger or four times as many automobiles would pass that corner in 1922 as in 1914. Great as is the need today of a chance to see across that corner none of us can predict how much greater in 1930 this exigency will be.

"Within the entire confines of the city it is doubtful if there is any corner with which you are so familiar as that of which I speak. That very fact shows the need that exists of making it as safe for travel as is possible.

"This is not a cause wherein the community of Newton Centre is selfishly asking the Board for some gift that is for its exclusive benefit. The members of the Board know only too well that what promotes the welfare and the safety of the city is the duty of the same token helps every other village in the city equally. Making this corner safe is important for the family that lives in Auburndale just as it is for the family living in Newton Highlands.

"Not to carry on the work begun by this partnership of the City and of those who contributed money to purchase this corner trip in 1914 by taking this second step now urged upon you is for the City of Newton to go backward not forward, is to blind itself to the plain lessons of the past. Public sentiment cannot be ignored, and the residents of Newton Centre almost without exception are eager and desirous that you give them your aid and grant this petition."

Ex-alderman Robert M. Clark also appeared in favor calling particular attention to the number of stores in the immediate vicinity and stating that additional ones were unnecessary. Mr. A. S. White appearing for the Executive Board of the Newton Centre Improvement Assn. stated that the Association felt that this corner should be made safe. Dr. Wm. L. Cook stated that in his opinion the building line asked to remedy the blunders made by the city 25 years ago in not properly considering possible congestion at this corner. He saw no object in establishing a building line beyond the point where the stores are proposed.

Mr. William M. Noble appeared for Mr. Augustus White, the owner of the property affected. Mr. Noble stated that Mr. White had complied with all requirements of the law and had proper permits for what he had in mind. Those permits cannot be legally revoked. This building line will affect only the White property and leave a piece of land 25 x 50 which is practically worthless. Mr. White has incurred obligations of many thousands of dollars since the permits were granted, in purchase of land, architects' fees, loss of rents, and contract work on the cellar. The possible damages which the city will have to pay may reach $50,000 and there will be a loss of taxes on an investment of some $60,000 so that if this line is established the city stands to lose from $2000 to $3000 annually. On the question of danger Mr. Noble pointed out that if Commonwealth avenue was made a one way street as has been suggested all traffic danger at this corner would be eliminated.

Mr. Augustus White stated that he was a resident, a tax payer in Newton; that he had bought important pieces of land actuated by a desire to work out a high class development of real estate; that he had gone into the present field without any knowledge that anybody would be displeased or inclined to make any trouble about it; that he intended to put up a high class building which would be of credit to the community.

Mr. Charles A. Malley representing the Gardner, Mass. Savings Bank, stated that a construction mortgage for $30,000 had been granted and that the interests of the Bank should be protected. Mr. Augustus E. White, E. B. Stratton and James A. Waters were also heard.

Alderman Carter drew the following as Traverse Jurors for service at the Superior Court, East Cambridge, on April 11th: Edwin E. Manter, 219 Melrose street, Rudolph F. Koops, 339 Waltham street and Hamlin W. Calder, 27 Austin street.

The following appointments of His Honor the Mayor were unanimously confirmed under suspension of the rules: Samuel K. Billings, 198 Walnut street, ward 2, as Assistant Assessor and John H. Howley, 416 Parker street, ward 5, as a Public Weigher.

The following petitions were granted without reference: Telephone Co. attachments on Beacon street and underground conduit changes on Washington street; Edison Co. attachments on High street, ward 5, and Pearl street, ward 7; J. E. Callanan, auctioneer, private garages, Walter E. Hertig, H. B. VanDorn, H. M. Wadsworth; Quantum Motor Exchange, 43 Faxon street, for second class license to sell automobiles.

The Annual Applications for various classes of licenses were received and referred to the Licenses Committee, and petitions of C. A. McLaughlin, A. F. Weeks and J. A. Farnham for abatement of betterment assessments on Warwick road and D. B. McHugh, et al. for acceptance of Clarendon street were referred to the Committee on Public Works.

Report of the Committee on Public Works granting leave to withdraw the Gardendale Homes, Inc., for abatement of sewer assessment, and Wilbur E. Trussell for sewer in Lothrop street, was accepted.

Orders were adopted as follows: appropriating $2,905.23 for curbing on Dalby street, ward 1; authorizing street sprinkling on various streets during 1922 with assessment at the rate of four cents per foot of frontage; appropriating $5,000 for Architects' fees, new school buildings; $380, land damages by reason of establishment of building line on Walker street, ward 2; $143.00 reimbursement to Officer Conroy for injuries received while on duty; $1,500 Street Dept., Care of Snow and Ice; $200 Executive Dept., War Records; Authorizing Shepherd Worsted Mills, sewer at special connection; Assigning hearings April 17, 1922 on Establishing Building Line, Lexington street, ward 4; Taking land for sewer in Wyman street, ward 5; and laying out and acceptance of Delmore road Extension, ward 5. Report of the Committee on Public Works recommending that it was inexpedient to establish building lines on Washington street, from Walker street was accepted; and an order establishing building lines on Walker street from Washington street to Proctor street was adopted.

Alderman Nichols called the attention of the Board to the attempt on the part of the Government and State authorities to curtail expenditures, and stated that he was somewhat alarmed by the increase in the budget as recommended by the Finance Committee over that adopted for 1921. He was of the opinion that some of the members desired further time for consideration of the recommendations and moved that action be postponed.

Alderman White stated that a careful study of the budget as recommended by the Finance Committee would show that comparatively speaking there was but a slight increase, the reason for the apparent large increase being due to the abolishment of the supply accounts, and the establishment of the accounting on a sound basis. He had no particular objection to postponement but was of the opinion that little would be gained by same.

The motion of Alderman Nichols was lost by a rising vote, 10 in favor, 11 opposed.

The budget was then considered by departments. Unsuccessful attempts were made to further increase the salaries of the City Clerk, Sealer of Weights and Measures and the Water Commissioner.

The recommendation of the Finance Committee reducing the request of the School Committee for Salaries by $9,697.92 was opposed by Alderman Nichols, who stated that a practical agreement had been made by former boards, whereby a certain scale of salaries was placed in operation and that by making a reduction in the amount requested by the School Committee it might likely prove a hardship on the School Committee and prevent the proper working of the scale as in operation.

Alderman White called attention to the fact that by reason of resignations, marriage, etc., a number of teachers were leaving the service each year new ones being employed at the minimum rate, and that for this reason a substantial balance was returned by the School Dept. each year, the amount in 1921 being approximately $15,000. He believed that this small reduction would not prove a hardship.

Alderman White supported Mr. White in his remarks, and Alderman Nichols was supported by Alderman Carter. A motion of Alderman Nichols to amend the appropriation for Salaries by adding the amount deducted by the Finance Committee was lost.

Alderman White explained a number of minor matters in connection with the budget and also the change in handling the accounting through abolishment of the supply accounts.

The budget was then read and adopted. Alderman Nichols voting nay. The Board adjourned at 11:30 P. M.

RECEPTION TO ATTORNEY-GENERAL ALLEN

were imagination to visualize the situation, intelligence to plan the methods to accomplish the results and courage to carry those plans into execution.

President Blakemore in introducing Mr. Allen, emphasized the three attributes which he believed more prominent. These were Mr. Allen's tireless energy, his courage and his power to take the side of the interest of the public as opposed to that of individuals. He introduced Mr. Allen as the greatest Attorney-General of Massachusetts since Rufus Choate.

Mr. Allen was received with great enthusiasm. He urged the selection of the ablest men for public service, and deplored the popular feeling that the word "politician" carried some kind of a reproach, whereas it ought to carry the same respect as the word "statesman." The people are careless and allow the public service to be neglected, and do not elect the men who truly represent them. Mr. Allen said he waged a likely fight for a time against Tufts and Pelletier, and paid a high tribute to the work of Mr. Henry F. Hurlburt. The decision of Chief Justice Rugg, he declared, would live through generations yet to come, for he had written in living words the ideals of public service everywhere.

Mr. Allen compared conditions of today with those of 30 years ago, stating that highway robberies, now almost a common affair, were comparatively unknown 20 years ago, and he believed the fundamental defect which brought about this condition was somewhere in our educational system. Educated people, he stated, have got to think, have got to respect the law—all the laws—for if educated men let it be known that they can violate the law with impunity, it has a wide influence on others. Violating the law, he declared, will not repeal the 18th amendment and that and the Volstead act so long as they are the law of the land, must be obeyed, and the educated and thinking people of the community must do their part.

After the speaking Mr. Allen, assisted by Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Blakemore, and Mr. and Mrs. Powers received informally.

TRIES TO ENJOIN CITY

A suit brought in the Superior Court for Middlesex County by Moses Vigeler, Winthrop, to restrain the members of the Board of Aldermen of Newton from acting on a resolution establishing a building line not less than 25 feet distant from the exterior lines of Washington street, from Walker street to Brooks avenue and from Walker to Proctor streets on Washington street, came before Judge Sisk in the equity motion session of the Superior Court Monday. City Solicitor Bartlett on behalf of the respondents, agreed that the matter should remain in statu quo until a hearing on the merits of the case.

On Feb. 22 last the plaintiff purchased a tract of land at the corner of Walker and Washington streets, and on March 1 executed a mortgage for $20,000 to the Temple Associates, payable in five months. On the same day Vigeler made a contract with the Temple Associates to erect seven stores of brick and stone construction at a cost of not less than $40,000.

He says that work on the foundations for the building had begun when he Aldermen took the action complained of. He also says that he acted in good faith, and that the resolution establishing a building line would be an unwarrantable and illegal interference with a contract.

It is understood that the action taken by the Aldermen Monday evening is satisfactory to Mr. Vigeler.

The city budget as passed by the aldermen on Monday night is estimated to require a tax rate the present year of about $26 per $1000, or $2 more per thousand than the rate of 1921. While the board made a cut of some $72,000 in the figures submitted by Mayor Chitt, it is said that the greater part of that cut was due to a matter of bookkeeping. This year the Comptroller of Accounts has had included in the budget figures sufficient appropriations to take care of what are known as "supply" accounts, and these make a substantial part of the rather heavy increase over the 1921 appropriations. That the budget was accepted by the full board without a single change in the hundreds of items, shows that the Finance Committee had evidently given the matter the most thorough consideration.

Once again we note from the turnout of people at hearings before the aldermen on the establishment of building lines, and the widening of streets to prevent the erection of unwanted buildings, that there is evident imperative need for the passage of a zoning ordinance and we predict that the hearing to be held on this measure at the next meeting of the city government will bring out a record attendance.

The estimated tax rate of $26 for the current year indicates that the $24 rate of last year was entirely due to the change in the method of estimating the receipts for that year. Fortunately that estimate of last August was within the total of the actual receipts for 1921. The present year, however, having no such reserve to call upon must stand on its own merits,—hence the possible increase to approximately the rate of 1920.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

There has been floods of so-called oratory this week on the hill, particularly in the House, but not much progress. The figures show that the Legislature is far behind the work of last year, and prorogation will evidently be several weeks later than in 1921.

Many Newton people were interested in the fate of the bill to repeal compulsory vaccination, which was finally killed this week in the Senate by a two to one vote. The Senate also killed the very good bill of Representative Rice, providing a method for removal of mayors for malfeasance in office.

The annual reception given by Governor Cox to members of the Legislature took place Tuesday evening, and was a brilliant social event. Attorney General and Mrs. J. Weston Allen were in the receiving line with the Governor and other State officers. An excellent entertainment of music and monologues was given in the Senate chamber after the formal reception, the music being in charge of Mr. A. H. Handley.

Governor Cox is receiving much deserved praise for his appointment of former Senator Herbert A. Wilson as Police Commissioner and Mr. Wilson is expected to measure up to the high standard which was maintained by his predecessor, the late Hon. Edwin U. Curtis.

The House yesterday took a most unusual step, when in passing a resolve for the usual printing contract for the State it insisted on a provision which recognizes a 44-hour week in the printing trade. It was an event which may lead to far-reaching consequences in the future.

The House this week passed a bill providing that the tuition of pupils attending continuation schools in cities other than where they reside, shall be paid by their home city or town. The worst feature of the bill was a provision that the amount of such tuition fee should be fixed by the commissioner of education, with the sky as the limit, so far as the bill itself provided, and in addition is one more step in the concentration of educational authority at the State House.

NEWTON CLUB

The club bowling team won three points Wednesday night in the Newton League, bowling the Middlesex Sportsmen at Arlington.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL

April is supposed to be the month of showers, not snow showers, but the kind that brings the May flowers that Al Jolson sings about. Certainly the snow storm of last week was decidedly out of place, distinctly an intruder on the affairs of respectable weather. It did look as if the snow was going to give the baseball season a bit of a setback, but the warmth of the last few days has turned the trick, and once more it seems that proceedings at Clafin Field, at least, will suffer no further interruptions. There is one quality about Clafin Field that everyone must admire. It is the best field in Greater Boston when it comes to drying after a snow or rain. There is no drainage system on Clafin Field, yet the drainage is well nigh perfect. While other college and high school diamonds are still unfit for play, Coach Dickinson's boys were able to return to outdoor practice on Clafin Field last Wednesday. And since the opening game is but a week away, this outdoor practice came as a life saver.

Coach Dickinson would like to send his charges into the first battle next Wednesday afternoon, but as yet none of the other high school teams have expressed a desire to accommodate him. Perhaps Coach "Allie" will take on some college second or freshman team in order to give his 1922 team a real test.

Even at this early date the Newton nine appears to be well able to take care of itself. We have watched them perform in practice games, and they really look to be in excellent form for this time of year. The boys are hitting the ball fairly well, are extremely fast on the bases, and, what is far more encouraging, are putting up a fielding game that promises to make the Newton team a telling power in this department.

The pitching staff is steadily rounding into shape, and at least three or four of the twirlers are ready to step into the box and fill a regular assignment. In last week's issue we failed to mention the name of Whitmore as one of the leading candidates for pitcher. This boy proved his worth last year and should better his performance this year. In addition to being a good moundsman, Whitmore can play the outfield, and is one of the most consistent batters on the squad. Capt. Murphy's arm is in a normal condition once more, and he hopes to do much of the box work for his team. Leith and Leahy are also ready to serve them to the batters whenever they are called upon. In a word, the Newton pitching staff looks as if it can produce the goods.

It is a pleasure to watch "Crundry" Cronin perform behind the bat. At practice he is playing wonderful ball, is always on the jump, and his throws to the bases are almost too good to be true. Cronin is certain to be a much talked of catcher this year. Fairbanks, his understudy, is improving with every practice session, and will be a valuable man to have in a pinch. We are anticipating somewhat, but we believe that the lineup of the 1922 Newton team when it takes the field for its first game will read something like this. Cronin will be behind the bat, Murphy, Whitmore, Leahy, or Leith in the box, Veymouth or Osborne on first, Stanford on second, Leary at short, and Meredith at third. The outfield is a trifle less certain, although the names of Bowen, Blair, Dunlop, Osborne, Murphy and Whitmore are likely to appear in the first box score.

Coach Dickinson is putting a great amount of stress on batting, as he intends to have his nine fully proficient in this all important department. Much of the competition for positions will be settled by the ability a man shows with the stick. If Newton hits the ball as well in the league games as they do in practice the Suburban pennant is going to move from Cambridge and take up its quarters in the Garden City.

While Coach Dickinson is getting the ball team ready for its campaign, Coach Art Roberts is doing likewise for the track team. This spring will find the Newton track team figuring prominently in the various scholastic outdoor meets, and the Orange and Black speedsters should succeed in making a creditable showing. Capt. McDevitt's team comprises much excellent material and hopes to better the record it made indoors.

Newton sport followers probably know that "Stan" Lyon and "Bud" Seavey, former battery on the 1920 Newton nine are now performing in like manner for the Dartmouth team. Lyon twirled his first college baseball game against Catholic University at Washington last Tuesday. Dartmouth was defeated, 2 to 1, in ten innings, in spite of the fact that Lyon held the fast C. U. nine to four hits. The C. U. team is composed of many reliable batters, and when Lyon can hold these men to four hits his first college game it speaks volumes for his ability. Coach Dickinson says that Lyon will prove to be the best twirler that Dartmouth has got, and we are inclined to think that he is right.

Other Newton High boys who are now performing on college nines are George Owen, who after a highly successful hockey season, is holding down first base for Capt. Conlon's Harvard team; Joel Leete, who will cover an outfield position for Amherst, and Wallie Richmond, who is playing shortstop for Williams. Leo Hughes, captain of the Boston College hockey team which went through its coldest season undefeated, has just reported for practice, and will try for a place in the outfield of the Maroon and Gold nine.

Do not forget that Newton plays Waltham at Clafin Field a week from tomorrow. It is somewhat unusual to get a crack at the Watch City team so early in the season, but it should only spur the Orange and Black to greater efforts. Make sure that you are in the stands when the umpire calls, "Play Ball!"

there all night, and early Monday morning made his way to Andover where he told the police and telephoned to the fathers of the boys in West Newton. A search was immediately started for the bodies but they were not recovered until Tuesday afternoon.

Loring Carley was 16 years of age and a student at the Newton High School while his cousin, Raymond, was 13 years of age.

Funeral services for Loring Carley were held yesterday afternoon at his home at 27 Elliot avenue, West Newton, and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Eaton of the Second Church. Burial was in Newton Cemetery. The pallbearers, who were his classmates, were Lawrence O'Neil, John O'Neil, Sturgis Blair, Frank Hincks, Guy Holbrook and Lucas Sartwell.

The funeral of Raymond Carley will be held this morning in St. Bernard's Church at West Newton.

DUE TO BODILY DISORDERS

Scientist Thus Explains the Striking Differences Between Various Races of Mankind.

Assuming that the various existing races of mankind are descended from a common stock, how are to be explained such striking differences as those that distinguish, for example, the Chinaman from the Anglo-Saxon, and the Anglo-Saxon from the negro? Prof. Arthur Keith recently discussed this question in an address before the anthropological section of the British association.

He believes that the key to this problem is to be found through studying the disturbances and disorders that occasionally affect the development and growth of the human body; especially those due to a functional derangement of one or more of the glands of internal secretion—the pituitary, thyroid, pineal, adrenal and other glands. In some manner not yet understood, the functions, carried on in their glands regulate not only the dimensions of the body, but also the shape and size of each individual part.

The racial features of the Mongolian type are initiated by growing Europeans who are affected by deficiency disorders of the thyroid gland. The features of the negro can best be accounted for by the nature of the growth-regulating mechanism centered in the thyroid and suprarenal glands. European features are connected with a dominance in the functions of the pituitary.

Scientists hope that a thorough study of the still obscure subject of the so-called "ductless" glands will provide the means of regulating to some extent, the future evolution of the human race.

BEETLES AS HAIR RESTORERS

Species of Insect That Has Peculiar Properties Found in Many Parts of Europe.

Of the thousands of people who use hair-restorers, few know that the hair-growing power of these preparations is, in most cases, obtained from beetles.

The particular beetles in question are called blister-beetles, and belong to the group known as Cantharides. These insects, which are abundant in France, Spain, Sicily and Russia, are collected in great numbers and killed by being plunged into strong vinegar. They are then dried and ground to a fine powder. This powder is soaked in chloroform and the mixture distilled. The result is cantharidin.

This cantharidin makes the hair grow by causing tiny, invisible blisters to form underneath the skin. These blisters contain blood-serum—the finest tonic in the world for worn-out hair cells. The blisters do not cause any pain. All that is felt is a pleasant tingling sensation.

The beetles themselves use this blistering juice as a protection against birds and animals which would otherwise make a meal of them.

Don't Neglect Your Play.

There are men in the world who feel that the whole world would stop if they took time enough to play a little. That's all bosh. The man who can play well is usually the fellow who can put the work across. Some have the play spirit so well in hand that they make sport of their work. It is real pleasure to them. They get both recreation and profit from their efforts. It's no wonder they stay young in their work.

And don't forget that if you would succeed you must carry your load. It's a mistake to get out from under responsibility. It's meeting responsibility that makes progress possible. Shirkers are not in demand. They may put things over occasionally, but they do it at the expense of personal discontent. You can't afford to do it. Carry your load like a man.—Grit.

An Acre.

The word acre is derived from the old Anglo-Saxon word acer, and is identical with the Latin word acer, meaning a cultivated field. The English acre consists of 4,840 square yards, or 43,560 square feet. If your field is a rectangle, that is, having four sides and each angle a right angle or "square corner," its area is obtained by multiplying the length by the breadth. If your measurements are in rods, the result will be square rods; if in yards, square yards; and if in feet, square feet. A field 132 feet by 165 feet of rectangular shape contains 21,780 square feet. It is therefore, half an acre. But a rectangular field might be different length and width, and yet contain an acre. For example, if it is 330 feet long and 66 feet wide it will contain 21,780 square feet, or half an acre.

Bat's Great Value.

The value of the bat as an insect destroyer has been recognized in the United States by the erection of municipal bat roosts in San Antonio, Texas, and structures similar in bird houses have been set up to encourage bats to live in the vicinity of the city, where they serve as an important check to the mosquitoes. In Jamaica there is no need for such municipal roost, as there are numbers of old buildings, whose dark recesses furnish bats with suitable homes. In some very old churches great colonies of these insect-eating bats have taken up quarters, and it is not an uncommon sight to see them issuing forth shortly before dusk in streams of hundreds.

—A garage on the country estate of Daniel G. Wing of Otis street, on Sudbury road, Concord, was partially destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Firemen laid 1000 feet of hose to pump water from the Sudbury river near Heath bridge, after a run of two miles from Concord Centre. By the time they arrived the heat had become so intense that their efforts were required to save the residence on which the paint was blistering.

INAUGURAL MEETING, NEWTON Y. W. C. A.

At a business meeting held on Tuesday evening, at 7.45 P. M., the Newton Y. W. C. A. was formally organized. Mrs. Newton A. Merritt, Jr., opened the meeting with a short devotional service, following which Miss Emma E. Walker read the report of the Finance Committee, and Miss Helen Woodman the report of the Membership Committee, stating that at the present date the membership stands at 250.

Miss Harriet A. Broad, formerly General Secretary of the Boston Y. W. C. A., and now a member of the Newton Y. W. C. A. Advisory Committee, spoke of the ideals of the Association, emphasizing the privilege and obligation of being a member of the Y. W. C. A.

Members of the board of directors were then elected by ballot, a slate having been prepared by a nominating committee, of which Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs was chairman.

Other nominations from the floor were then made and accepted and the following directors were elected: Miss Hazel Beckwith, Miss Agnes Bogstad, Mrs. J. William Blaisdell, Miss Eugenie F. Bradshaw, Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs, Mrs. Arthur Kendrick, Mrs. Franklin P. Lowry, Miss Gertrude MacCallum, Mrs. Clement McPherson, Mrs. Newton A. Merritt, Mrs. Leslie Moore, Miss Martha O'Brien, Miss Mabel E. Riley, Miss Emma E. Walker, Mrs. Royal Waring and Miss Helen A. Woodman.

The meeting closed with the singing of "America." Directly following this meeting there was a meeting of the directors, at which the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Arthur Kendrick; vice-president, Mrs. Newton A. Merritt; secretary pro tem, Miss Helen A. Woodman; treasurer, Miss Emma E. Walker; auditor, Mrs. Royal Waring.

Your Furs

"Something New"

How often have you heard a woman say "If my furs could only look as they did when new?"

Possibly you did not know about the REFINISHING of furs. Ask your furrier about it and at the same time get his charge. Then compare his charge for refinishing only with our charge.

FOR 3% OF A FAIR VALUATION we will cleanse your furs, refresh them and place them in cold storage. (No charge to be made until we deliver in the Fall.)

Our fur storage is probably larger than any in Greater Boston. Our autos collect and deliver daily in Boston and suburbs.

This refinishing of furs is another service "entirely new" which we wish to furnish to you at a nominal cost.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

"The time for the singing of birds is come," and likewise that of annual meetings. From "this out," as the Irishman puts it, will follow a succession of annual meetings in the Newtons, culminating with that of the Newton Federation on May 9, and of the State Federation at New Bedford, May 23, 24 and 25. The birds call, the gardens call, in fact everything outdoors calls us insistently. Indoors there is the same insistent call to New England homemakers to clean up, paint up, sew up, and a thousand and one other "ups," with all these callings ringing in our ears, it is very, very easy to let them drown out the call for the annual club meeting, so the Club Editor is moved again, as many times before, to say a word on behalf of that annual meeting, and of the importance of being there to round out the club year in a fine and splendid way. Be deaf to all these other calls just for one day, no two, for the Newton Federation needs you, too, as well as your own club, and be on hand to speed your retiring president, and to greet the new one, who is taking up for you the difficult task of harmonizing many diversified interests and tastes of holding her club true to the ideals for which it stands, and of leading it ahead that she may leave it farther on its way than she found it, when her turn comes to lay down the reins. A thrifty club woman will appreciate also that she is not getting her full money's worth if she is not in at the finish, so go to your annual meeting and feel the thrill that comes when all the work of the year is summed up, and you realize that you have had a part in it.

State Federation

Tuesday, April 11, 2.30 P. M. Mothercraft Conference for Seventh District, at Milford, by invitation of the Quinsigamond Woman's Club. Mrs. Henry C. Mullen will give the Motherhood Illustrated lecture. Other speakers: Mrs. Mary Hazen Sherburne, Miss May Bliss Hinzson.

Local Announcements

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands will meet on April 10, with Mrs. W. M. Mick, of Parker street, Newton Centre, Mrs. C. S. Luitwieler will review the Life of John Burroughs.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Miss Mary E. Hyde of Floral street.

Mrs. William Leighton of Williston road, Auburndale, will be hostess for the meeting of the Christian Era Study Club next Monday afternoon.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club meets on Monday, April 10th, at 2.30 P. M., with Mrs. Littlefield, 117 Mt. Vernon street.

Mrs. Ernest Cobb opens her home next Monday, at 7.45, for a Home Talent Evening of the Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls. The proceeds will go towards starting a Philanthropic Fund for the club. Refreshments will be served, and everybody is welcome.

Herbert W. Gleason will give an illustrated lecture on "National Parks" before the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon. All familiar with Mr. Gleason's lectures know the beauty of his slides.

Mrs. George Minot Baker will be the special guest at the meeting of the Newton Social Science Club next Wednesday morning, when Mrs. George Angier will give a paper on "Modern English Novelists—Joseph Conrad, Hugh Walpole, Frank Swinerton."

At the meeting of the Newton Community Club on Thursday, April 13, Elizabeth Layton will render solo dances. Mr. Harris A. Reynolds, secretary of the Massachusetts Forestry Association, will speak on "Forest Conservation in Massachusetts and in the Nation." The program is arranged by the Conservation committee. Mr. Reynolds is a convincing speaker and will be heard with more than usual interest, since the attention of Newton people has been forcibly turned to the subject, owing to the damage to our own trees during the ice storm of last November.

April 14, Mrs. Grace M. Poole will lecture upon Current Events before the West Newton Women's Educational Club.

"The Social Message of Six Great Leaders of Modern Thought" is the title of the lecture to be given by Barbara Bradford (Mrs. J. W. Ferguson Kennedy), of Chestnut Hill, before the Elizabeth H. Whittier Club of Amesbury, on Monday, April 19. This lecture shows the thought which some of the most powerful minds among the playwrights of the day and of the century have had in regard to women, and the development of that thought.

NEWTON Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Dr. Warren K. Lewis, Professor of Industrial Chemistry in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will be the speaker at the Fellowship Club on Monday evening, April 10th. His subject will be: "Engineering as a Profession."

On account of the prominence of the speaker and the very interesting subject, the members are extending a very cordial invitation to old High School boys and young men to be present. Dr. Lewis will begin to speak about 7 o'clock. Supper will be served as usual for members of the club and their guests at 6.30.

A big attraction for Friday evening, April 21st, will be a minstrel show put on by the members of the Newton Y. W. C. A.

Our representative bowling team has so far gone through the season without a defeat. There have been close matches with neighboring clubs and a tie with the Winthrop Yacht Club. The members of the team have enjoyed these matches on account of the courtesy and the fine spirit of the teams representing the organizations. Besides the Winthrop Yacht Club, mentioned above, the team has bowled matches with the Windsor Club, Cottage Park Yacht Club, City Club, Waban Club and Medford Club. On next Tuesday a match has been arranged at the Towanda Club, champions of the Mystic Valley Club. The Newton team is composed of Walter Cooper, A. F. Tucker, Percy Morton, D. W. Anders, Wm. H. Cady and John R. Roney.

Boys' Department Notes

On Thursday afternoon a group of boys from the Junior B Bible class, in charge of the boys' assistant secretary, R. C. Smith, visited the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company's factory, Boston. The boys were shown every phase of the cookie and cracker making industry, which proved very interesting and valuable from an educational standpoint. This trip is only one of many more planned for them during the spring and summer months.

On last Saturday afternoon a tournament in Baby Ten Pins was held in the boys' game room. The game is a new one added to the boys' division, and has taken a strong hold on the boys of all ages. It is very much like regular ten pins, only on a small scale, the balls being shot with a cue, similar to a billiard cue, instead of being rolled by hand. The tournament drew out quite a large entry list and many spectators. Final results as follows: Fred Becker 1st, Maynard Moody 2nd, Abbott Gotshall 3rd, William Pearce 4th, Paul Campbell 5th, Ed Merritt 6th, Harry Gibson 7th, John Cutts 8th, Robt. Lucas 9th, and Frank Perry 10th. Ribbons were presented as prizes.

For the fiscal years 1900 to 1904, inclusive, the surplus of receipts over expenditures aggregated $319,319,165.04. For 1905 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $78,776,622.30.

For the years 1910 to 1914, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $149,024,404.27. For 1915 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $33,488,931.53. For 1916 the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $55,171,553.59, and for 1917 there was a deficit of $29,724,864.73.

From 1896 to 1917, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures for each year with the exception of 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1905, 1908, 1909, 1915 and 1917. The total amount by which the expenditures exceeded the receipts for these 11 years just named, is $443,766,744.70. For the 52 fiscal years, 1896 to 1917, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures in 41 years, the total of such excess for that period being $2,591,453,184.16.

For the fiscal years 1896 to 1910, the revenues were raised through an indirect system of taxation. Beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, the receipts from direct methods of taxation have usually grown each fiscal year, as will be seen by the following table:

1910-Corporation tax	20,351,780.97
1911-Corporation tax	33,516,976.59
1912-Corporation tax	28,583,203.73
1913-Corporation tax	35,006,293.81
1914-Corporation tax	30,571,977.22
1915-Corporation income tax	32,456,662.67
1916-Individual income tax	28,233,834.85
1917-Emergency revenue	52,069,126.29
1918-Corporation income tax	39,135,596.77
1919-Individual income tax	41,946,162.06
1920-Emergency revenue	54,278,302.13
1921-Corporation income tax	56,983,657.93
1922-Individual income tax	67,943,594.63
1923-Emergency revenue	56,297,653.88
1924-Corporation income tax	179,572,857.86
1925-Individual income tax	199,168,949.10
1926-Income and excess profits tax	2,883,999,394.28

The number of corporations making income tax returns showing taxable income, aggregated 52,498 in the calendar year 1909, and that number increased to 232,079 for the calendar year 1917. The number of individuals making personal income tax returns aggregated 357,598 for the calendar year 1913, and that number increased to 3,472,890 for the calendar year 1917.

For the fiscal year 1909 the total ordinary receipts aggregated $603,589,489.84, of which $300,711,333.35 came from customs duties, $246,212,643.59 came from internal revenue, and the balance was received from the sale of public lands and other miscellaneous items; whereas, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, the total receipts from customs amounted to $184,457,867.39, while the internal revenue, including income taxes and corporation and excess profits taxes, amounted to $3,839,950,612.05.

So you will see that until 1910 the money you paid toward the support of the government was slipped away from you so easily that you hardly knew anything about it. You did not know that you were paying taxes to the national government.

Indirect taxation is the most seductive form of raising public revenue. You never came in contact with the federal government except when you bought a postage stamp. But now you know it every time you buy a drink at a soda fountain, or a bottle of medicine, or send a telegram, or make a long-distance telephone call, or perform any one of a score of other normal activities of daily life. Something must be put in the kitty for the government. Its annual rakeoff runs into the billions. You pay it and the government spends it.

But all that part of the party is about over now. The oysters have been eaten and put in the bill. They must be paid for. It is perfectly clear that in the future by far the greater part of the revenue required for conducting the public business must come from direct taxes. It is also clear that the ordinary expenses for running the government will in future probably exceed four billion dollars a year. That is a lot of money to take out of your pockets, and mine. Hadn't we better see what is done with it, and whether we can save any of it? Congress, which is very far-sighted, and able, when its own skin is concerned, to distinguish a hawk from a hand saw at a very great distance, is beginning to take notice.

Where Your Taxes Go

How Uncle Sam Spends Your Money in Conducting Your Business

REMEDY IN YOUR HANDS

I have been asked many times, and particularly since this series began: "What is the remedy for the condition and situation of government business that you have described? What can we, the average man or woman without influence, and with no knowledge of politics, what can we do about it?"

Well, the answer is that you can do everything about it. The remedy lies wholly within your own hands, as I have tried to point out in each one of the articles that have preceded this one. It is a remedy easy to prescribe but, I confess, difficult to put into effect.

Difficult, I mean, in the sense that you will have to give up time from your own engrossing private affairs to pay some attention to what you probably think of as public affairs and, as such, not concerning you. The whole point I have to make is that public affairs are your affairs.

I do not suggest that you go into politics. I do not suggest that you attend political meetings. I do suggest that you take an interest, a direct personal interest, in the business of government as distinguished from the politics of government.

A part of the remedy you ask for the conduct of the business of government has been applied when the facts and the conditions are spread broadcast and made known to every taxpayer. Bad conditions are in a way to be remedied when they become known.

But some hundreds of you have written me and asked: "How can we help? What can we do?" Let's take a concrete case.

Congress has committed itself to the policy of building twenty first-class battleships in the next few years. Armed and equipped, those battleships will cost in the neighborhood of $45,000,000 each. That will make a total cost of $900,000,000; that is, just short of a billion dollars.

Do you approve that expenditure? Do you think it wise and necessary? Do you think we ought to spend our money that way? Do you think we ought to spend 80 or 90 per cent of our total national income for wars, past, present and prospective? That is what we are doing. If you approve of it you have only to sit still and say nothing. If you disapprove of it, let your congressman know.

You live in a congressional district and every two years you send a man here to Washington to attend to your public business. Do you know him? Do you know what he is doing here? Your state has two senators, who also represent you here. If they do not represent you fairly, you can keep them at home. Whatever a majority of you want you can have.

To this moment a majority have approved, at least by silence, the great military expenditures that have been made from the money you have paid in taxes. If now you have come to the conclusion that it is too much, you have only to say so.

Do you realize that this conference on the limitation of armament which President Harding called arose fundamentally out of the circumstance that all of the so-called big nations are paying more than they can afford to pay by way of preparation for war?

The endeavor to find a formula to limit armaments is another way of saying that the nations are trying to find a way to save money. Since the war the great powers are all living beyond their means. All of them are in debt. All of them, except ourselves, owe more than they can pay. In all of them, including the United States, government expenses are running beyond government income. A nation can no more stand that sort of thing than a private person or a private business.

If you will devote a half hour or an hour every evening to thinking about and talking about public business you will be amazed at the prompt response you will get. If there is any question you want to ask, write to your congressman or to either one of your senators. That will cost you two cents for a postage stamp, and it won't cost him anything to reply, for his letters go through the mails free. That is one way of helping to remedy the present condition.

An Arms Cache in Crater.

A weapon storehouse in the immense crater of extinct Haleakala, where the natives of Maui many years ago made their last stand against the all-conquering king of Hawaii, has been discovered, according to Emil A. Berndt, a business man of Honolulu, says a dispatch to the Cincinnati Times-Star.

Mr. Berndt says each of the three white men with knowledge of the cave stumbled across it when wandering aimlessly about after losing their way in the crater. He reports that it contains crude stone hatchets, immense quantities of slingshot stones, spearheads and other implements of ancient warfare.

WOMAN'S CLUB

at the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club last Monday afternoon, which was held at the home of Mrs. Clifton H. Dwinell. The speaker of the afternoon was Rev. H. M. Lichter, D.D., who told of Welfare Work in Newton. He urged united effort in the city in the support of all that is being done. His address was listened to with close interest on the part of the large number present. A social hour followed, the other hostesses being Mrs. J. T. Eddy, Mrs. Irving J. Fisher, and Mrs. Natt W. Emerson.

Monday afternoon was Presidents' Day at the Waban Woman's Club, and a number of representatives of other Newton clubs accepted the hospitality of the club on this occasion.

All present enjoyed to the full the very delightful musical program given by the Brooks Trio, including Mr. Carl Webster, cellist; Anna Liebhorn, violinist; Cora Gooch Brooks, pianist; assisted by Marjorie Warren Leadbetter, soprano. The artists were well received and generous in their response to the encores. The program consisted of two ensemble selections for the trio, two groups of vocal solos, a group by Mr. Webster, and one by Miss Eliechorn, and closed with "Rigoleto Paraphrase," Loud-Verdi, by the trio and Marjorie Warren Leadbetter.

At the close an informal reception was held when those present had the opportunity of meeting the officers, and Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, the president of the Newton Federation, who was a special guest. Mrs. Edmund Winchester, Mrs. Nelson H. Marvin, Mrs. Harry L. Tilton, and Mrs. John Cranston, were the hostesses for the afternoon.

On Monday evening members of the Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls listened to a talk upon "Continuation and Vocational Schools" by Mr. John Lusk of the State Board of Education.

The Auburndale Review Club for the most part does its own work, but two or three times during the season some speaker from outside brings added inspiration to the members. This was particularly true of the meeting on Tuesday morning held with Miss Margaret Haskell of Vista avenue, when Miss Clara H. Coolidge spoke upon "Robert Louis Stevenson." She presented his life and work in a most attractive setting, giving ample quotations from his poems and essays, and even quoting one essay entire without aid of any notes whatever. The spirit of the morning was enhanced by the singing of a number of his poems by Mrs. Arthur Francis Farley. Miss Coolidge spoke particularly of the two songs with which Mrs. Farley closed the morning, "Even Song," which she had written after Stevenson realized that he could never recover, and of "The Requiem" as being his epitaph.

Tuesday afternoon found the vestry of the Central Congregational Church at Newtonville packed with members, and their little guests of the Woman's Club to hear the remarkable bird songs rendered by Charles Crawford Gorst. He began with that of the canary and followed with those of the most common song birds. He showed many beautiful pictures of birds electrically lighted by a device of his own, which brought out wonderfully the coloring, but did not necessitate the turning of the lights of the room. His talk about the birds made a deep impression upon the eager children. He told them that a bird is "brilliant plumage, a beautiful song, and swift flight. When you shoot a bird, the brilliant plumage is gone, there is no song and no flight, and you haven't any bird." Mrs. Arthur D. Quimby accompanied him upon the piano. Tickets for the annual luncheon must be secured from Mrs. Ralph Conant, 6 Fair Oaks avenue, before April 14th, by enclosing one dollar, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for return of same.

Another Presidents' Day this week was that of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands held in the Congregational Church on Tuesday afternoon. The songs by Mr. Ralph Talley were greatly enjoyed by all, while everyone was completely fascinated by the talk upon "Wales, her People, and her Customs," by Rev. J. Burford Parry, of Springfield. Himself a Welshman, brought up in one of the tiny, spotless cottages, which he described so charmingly, Mr. Parry told of the love of the Welsh for their churches, of the training and general supervision which they have over the growing boys and girls, of his people's love of music, particularly of the hymns of the church, of their mysticism and belief in fairies. With this background the speaker was able to interpret to his audience the remarkable personality of David Lloyd George in a way they had never before understood.

A social hour with refreshments followed in the adjoining vestry, where the three presidents of the club and the speaker of the afternoon received the members and guests. A great deal of care was taken to make the visitors at home, a club member being assigned to each and making her personal guest.

Wednesday morning the Newton Social Science Club held its monthly business meeting with the usual round of reports and routine business.

The Community Service Club of West Newton held its closing meeting of the season on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Florence Brown, of the West Newton Music School gave a pianologue. Mr. Henry Whitmore spoke of the proposed Zoning Ordinance, telling the women that as they owned most of the houses, they should feel a personal responsibility and interest in this matter. A very delightful feature of the afternoon's program was the reading of two sketches by Miss Ethel Priscilla Potter, one an unpublished play, and the other a Cape Cod story. Those familiar with Miss Potter's work know its perfection, and realize the unusual pleasure afforded

The annual meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club Chorus was held at the home of its business manager, Mrs. H. H. Longfellow. Luncheon was served by the "Corner Cupboard" of the Club House Fund Committee.

Popular songs, with words suited to the occasion, arranged by Mrs. Longfellow, were sung between courses. After luncheon, a Musical Quiz was given, the winner being Mrs. L. D. MacNutt. The unique and attractive decorations were in keeping with the chorus activities and were much appreciated.

The business meeting followed the luncheon, and officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Mrs. H. H. Longfellow, business manager.
Mrs. L. W. Gore, secretary and treasurer.
Mrs. Charles Sweet, librarian.

THE ZONING PLAN

Some Interesting Questions asked by a Correspondent

to the Editor:
In any consideration of a zoning system for Newton, on which there is to be a hearing at City Hall on the evening of April 17, certain basic ideas should be taken into account.
First of all, how far has a community the right to attempt to control its future development by means of such measures as it may legally adopt? How far has it the right to maintain itself as it would have itself?
The laws in regard to nuisances, the health and the building regulations go far to preserve a community along certain lines. No man by buying land may establish in a district built up with residences a pigery, a glue factory or a henery. A community of homes has along these lines certain already recognized rights. The people who live in them must not be offended by certain, unpleasant, offensive, and unhealthy odors.

Ought a community of homes to have more protection than it now has, ought those who settle in it to have more assurance than they have now that the value of their property and

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

That the new employment bureau of the Newton Chamber of Commerce is to be a material help in providing a solution of the unemployment problem in Newton has been already indicated during the few days that the bureau has been in operation. During the first three days of this week eighteen men were provided with positions, thirteen of whom were given permanent jobs.

That the work of the bureau may be as effective as possible, all Newton citizens and business men who are in need of help of any kind are invited to take advantage of the facilities provided by the Chamber. A majority of those men registering for positions are willing to accept anything that is work, many of them have families to support, and no complaint has

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION

Much interest has been aroused locally over the annual convention of the Boston District Epworth Leaguers, to be held in St. John's M. E. Church, Watertown, April 19. The Newton chapters are going after the attendance banner strong, and chapters from the other parts of the district will have to show some good sized percentages to keep the banner from Newton.

The program this year is an exceptionally fine one, and shows the result of much hard work and preparation. The convention will open at 10.00 A. M., with a morning watch service and communion. Special music will be furnished by the chimes of St. John's Church, reported to be among the best in the country. At noon the Leaguers will enjoy a picnic lunch, and it is reported that more than one young man has taken this occasion to test the ability of the young ladies present to find the best way to a man's heart.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL

The 1922 Newton High baseball team will open its season against Waltham High at Claffin Field tomorrow afternoon. Newton was listed to play La Salle High of Waltham last Wednesday, but a wet field made it necessary that the contest be cancelled. Tomorrow, therefore, will see the 1922 Orange and Black nine receiving its first fire of baptism. It will also be Waltham's first game of the season.

Newton should win tomorrow's contest without much trouble. The Watch City team is, with the exception of its pitcher, Haney, an inexperienced outfit. Haney is a good twirler, tosses them from the port-side, and should prove an excellent man to test the battling strength of Coach Dickinson's crew. But Haney will not have a strong infield behind him, and it seems hardly possible that his twirling alone can overcome this handicap and stem the well-balanced —The Woman's Association of Central Church met Wednesday, April 12th. The vestry was tastefully arranged, and Chinese embroidery, ending altar and charm. Group VII, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Frail, had the meeting in charge, and showed much originality in their plans. Chinese postcards had been sent out as reminders, and there were over fifty in attendance. Mrs. Wallace Boyden led the devotion. She emphasized the thought of God seeking us, always knocking at the heart's door. China was the subject of the meeting, and Miss Seal Thompson, of the faculty of Wellesley College, was the speaker of the afternoon. Her impressions were gained through a year in China spent in teaching, and in the Y. W. C. A. work. She considers that Americans are especially adapted to work among the Chinese, as there is a natural friendliness between the races—a certain simplicity and democracy which make them kindred spirits. When the present ruling class, who are of the old Manchurian type, have passed away there will be more hope for China politically, as the young students are trained for a better leadership. The tea was very attractive. As Mrs. Otto Backman was unable to be present, Mrs. J. D. Bennett was the hostess.

The fashion of having many small pictures clustered together on the wall is one that has long since passed. And yet these are to be seen in many otherwise pleasant living rooms. No one can properly appreciate even a good picture when it is surrounded by half a dozen others. One or two pictures hung in the right place and in the right way invariably prove far more attractive than a medley. Nothing in excess is the motto of the interior decorator.

Secretary Mellon of the treasury, in a letter to Representative Fordney, chairman of the committee on ways and means of the house of representatives, says: "Ordinary expenditures for the first three quarters of the fiscal year, 1921, have been $3,783,771,996.74, or at the rate of about $5,000,000,000 for the year. . . According to the latest estimates of the spending departments, . . . ordinary expenditures during the fiscal year, 1922, including interest on the public debt, will be over $4,000,000,000.

"The nation cannot continue to spend at this shocking rate. As the President said in his message, the burden is unbearable, and there are two avenues of relief. One is resistance in appropriation and the other is the utmost economy in administration."

R. C. Leffingwell, formerly an assistant secretary of the treasury, whom I have quoted previously in these articles, and who is still deeply and actively interested in securing retrenchment in national expenditures, commenting on this utterance of Secretary Mellon, says: "Why should there be retrenchment in public expenditure? Why does the secretary of the treasury speak of current and estimated expenditures as shocking? What is the evil that we are discussing and what is its effect?"

"Government expenditures must be met from taxes. To the extent that they are met promptly from taxes and from honest taxes directly laid upon the incomes of the people, and in proportion to those incomes, exaggeration of the evil of government expenditure is avoided. Government expenditure takes the money of all the people for the supposed benefit of a portion of the people, honestly or dishonestly, equally or unequally, avowedly by direct taxation, or surreptitiously by the indirect taxation which results from inflation of currency and credit and of the public debt.

"Government expenditure takes the fruits of the earth and the labor of the people and diverts them from the productive and reproductive enterprises of men, from the natural enjoyment of the men, by their prudence, foresight and effort, created the wealth and made it available, to the sometimes benevolent and sometimes belligerent, but almost always economically wasteful, purposes of government.

"Government exploits all of us for the benefit, or supposed benefit, of some of us. Yielding to the vague aspirations of men for a better world or a better distribution of the good things of this earth, government imposes upon all of us ever-increasing burdens in the effort to benefit vociferous and organized minorities.

"Each of the executive departments is concerned to improve its service and to discover new and useful fields of service. The entire organization of the army, of the navy, of each of the departments, independent offices and agencies of the government, is devoted to an important task. Its particular function seems of vital usefulness, even necessity. Experts in each are alive to its defects and to the opportunities for usefulness which have not been availed of.

"The secretary, or other head of the department, drawn from private life, perhaps wholly ignorant at the outset of the nature and extent of its problems, promptly becomes the advocate of the policies and demands of his permanent assistants and bureau chiefs. If he does not become such advocate, he may break down the morale of his organization and possibly lose the confidence of his personnel.

"Behind it all is the pressure of organized interests in the constituencies, which are the beneficiaries of specific expenditures, operating upon politicians, executive departments, senators and congressmen. The strident voice of greed is heard in the market place and in legislative halls; the voice of the people is barely audible.

"The fact that each project is considered separately, without reference, either in executive departments or congress, to ways and means of financing it, prevents concentration of popular opinion on the awful total. All agree that there must be economy, but as each item is presented all seemingly agree that that is not the proper field for economy. There must be economy, but there must be a merchant marine, whatever the cost. There must be economy, but the government must pay high wages to railroad employees and furnish transportation on the railroads at less than cost. There must be economy, but the World War soldiers must have their bonus. There must be economy, but Civil War pensions must be increased. There must be economy, but we must prepare for war, regardless of expense."

You know this is true. The new budget law will help very much this condition, but unless you are interested, continuously, actively, openly interested, your money will not be saved.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—Next week the Boston Stock Company will play "A Stitch in Time," which achieved such a big New York success at the Fulton Theatre.
Comedy, pathos, love, drama, virtue emotions, all molded into one big, clean, wholesome play, that summarizes "A Stitch in Time."
The various roles contain big opportunity for every member of the cast. "A Stitch in Time" will be presented for the first time in Boston, and will undoubtedly prove to be one of the brightest and pleasantest offerings of the Boston Stock Company this season.

Origin of Gas.
There are a thousand uses for gas today, both in the home and factory, and yet only a comparatively short time ago the level-headed Scotchman, Sir Walter Scott, was scoffing at a "madman in London who was trying to make a light without a stick" and people, thinking the gas pipes were filled with fire, approached them with fear.

Cherished incredulity. "You mustn't believe all you hear," remarked the prudent person. "I don't," rejoined Miss Cayenne. "If I believed all I hear I'd consider it a privilege instead of a misfortune to be deaf."

The Eskimo is a prodigious eater. Two will commonly dispose of an entire seal at one sitting. Their principal fuel is the blubber or fat of whales and other sea animals.

An Eskimo would give a Fortune in Furs

A NEW Perfection Oil Cook Stove is as superior to the first oil cook stove as a modern coal range is to the Eskimo's crude fire of blubber and fat.

Stop in and let your dealer show you the various New Perfection models and how easy they are to operate.

The New Perfection gives more uniform results in frying, boiling, broiling and baking than the average coal range, because you can control the heat so easily. And there is no waste of fuel when the stove is not in use.

There is no odor from a New Perfection. You don't have to shovel in coal and take out ashes, or litter up with kindling wood, or give it a blackening every week. The glass kerosene reservoir can be changed without spilling a drop of oil or getting any on your hands. The stove is clean, light and easily movable, an all-year-round stove.

WHY GOOD MEN DODGE

The government service must look largely to the graduates from colleges and universities in recruiting for its technical work. Replies to an inquiry addressed to some forty of the leading colleges and universities of the country to discover what class of men took civil service examinations, whether the number is decreasing and, if so, the reasons, disclose vividly what the training schools of technical and scientific men think about the government as an employer. They warn the graduates against government service, and the graduates heed the warning. Carnegie Institute of Technology, at Pittsburgh, reports:

It is certainly true that the best of our graduates are not interested in government employment because they feel that, first of all, it does not pay adequate salaries, nor does it offer opportunity for advancement that private enterprise does. This spring I interviewed all the members of the graduating class, except the women, and none of them would consider government employment, although there were many positions open. There are now about 1,500 male graduates of the institute, and I will venture to state that more than ten are employed by the government.

Replies of similar tenor and import were received from the University of Chicago, Leland Stanford University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Princeton University, Indiana University, and the University of Wisconsin.

Inequality of compensation is one of the chief reasons that deter scientific men from going into the government service. Congress fixes the salaries of most of the government employees. I can give a concrete illustration of how it determines the salaries of scientific men.

Dr. Leland G. Howard and Dr. Edward W. Nelson are two scientists in the employ of the government who have national reputations.

The appropriation bill for the Department of Agriculture was under consideration in the house on January 30th, 1920. The secretary of agriculture had been recommending for five or six years that Doctor Howard's salary be increased from $4,500 to $5,000. He proposed it again in that year's bill. When the item was reached in the discussion on the floor, this colloquy ensued:

Mr. Stafford—Mister Chairman, I reserve a point of order on the paragraph. Is the entomologist whose salary you propose to increase the same person recommended for an increase last year?

Mr. Lever—Yes; he has been in the government service many years.

The Chairman—I make the point of order.

Mr. Lever—I concede it.

Mr. McLaughlin of Michigan—Will the gentleman reserve?

Mr. Stafford—I will reserve it.

Mr. McLaughlin—The committee made the recommendation to increase the salary $500, took testimony on it and considered it very carefully. In our judgment the increase in salary ought to be made for an official who has been in the department, as the chairman says, for a long time at the head of this bureau. He has performed able and faithful services. The salary is less than that paid to the heads of other bureaus. We felt, after listening to what was said, and with knowledge of the work he has been doing and has done, the salary proposed is not too large.

Mr. Stafford—How long has he been there?

Mr. Lever—He has been there forty-two years.

Mr. Stafford—What is his age?

Mr. Lever—Over sixty, perhaps nearer seventy, but he is still vigorous and able to do good work. He is one of the greatest entomologists in the world.

The Chairman—The point of order is sustained.

Five minutes later the matter of Doctor Nelson's salary was reached. The secretary of agriculture recommended an increase of his pay from $3,500 to $4,000. This happened:

Mr. Stafford—Mister Chairman, I reserve the point of order on the paragraph. Will the chairman of the committee inform the house as to how long this biologist has been in the service of the government and how long he has been receiving the present salary of $3,500, on which you recommend an increase of $500?

Mr. Lever—Mister Chairman, this gentleman, whose name is Nelson, has been in the service of the department since November, 1899. He has served as chief field naturalist from 1907 to 1912, and was assistant in charge of the biological investigation from 1913 to 1914. On August 6, 1914, he was appointed assistant chief of the bureau, and on December 1, 1915, was made chief of the bureau. He took the place of Doctor Henshaw.

Mr. Stafford—And the salary has been $2,500 since 1907?

Mr. Lever—Yes.

Mr. Stafford—What is his age?

Mr. Lever—I should think that Doctor Nelson is round fifty years of age.

Mr. Stafford—He is not superannuated.

Mr. Lever—Oh, no; he is a very vigorous man.

Mr. Stafford—Mister Chairman, I withdraw the point of order.

Doctor Howard was refused his increase of pay because he was too old, "over sixty, perhaps nearer seventy." Doctor Nelson was allowed his increase because he was not superannuated but in his prime, "round fifty years of age."

Now, as a matter of fact, Doctor Howard is more than two years younger than Doctor Nelson. Is it any wonder that scientific men of any attainments are reluctant to enter a service where the measure of the value of their services is set down in any such haphazard and casual way?

HELP THE BIRDS

To the Editor:

One of the most valuable of the privileges which residents of Newton enjoy is that of entertaining each year a quantity and variety of birds far in excess of that found in the average thickly settled community. That the birds are an aesthetic and an economic asset of vast proportions, few thinking people will venture to deny. It may therefore be timely to suggest to residents of "The Garden City" that many of our birds which prefer to build low, notably the fox sparrows, are already starting nests in the brush piles which are an aftermath of the ice storm of last winter. These piles of branches and twigs will inevitably be cleared away sooner or later, and will therefore prove to be tombs rather than shelters to those birds which we permit to build in them.

Will not all readers consider this letter a personal appeal to each man to burn all accumulations of brush on or near his property at once, in order that our feathered guests may not be deceived into building to their own destruction?

THE AUBURDALE BROTHERHOOD

Plans are advancing successfully, with abundant enthusiasm and co-operation, for the community reception to former Governor John L. Bates next Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Congregational Church, when he will give a Patriots' Day address to the Auburndale Brotherhood. The annual meeting of the Brotherhood, with a subscription supper for all who subscribe, at 6.30, followed by the annual business meeting, will precede the address. All of the civic organizations of the village—the Village Improvement Society, the Good Government Association, the Auburndale Club, the College Club, the Auburndale Review Club and Lasell Seminary—have been invited to the address. Professor Guy M. Winslow, the principal of Lasell, who was a fellow member of the constitutional convention with Mr. Bates, has been invited to introduce him to his new neighbors of Auburndale, and there is no doubt that he will have a welcome showing their appreciation of their new and distinguished resident.

"THE HOUSE OF PERIL"

Thirteen Men Around a Table—Twelve Unconscious, One Strangely Killed—A Strange Odor in the Air—Why Did the Criminal Kill the Goldfish?

The great grief of Detective Furneaux's life was that people invariably refused to believe that he was a detective, upon first acquaintance. It was only after his extraordinary experiences in solving the mystery of "The House of Peril" that he received the recognition due him. With the physical agility of "Old Sleuth," he combined much of the mental acuteness of Sherlock Holmes. Yet he had many qualities, combined with a gift of humor, in which he differed from both these famous predecessors.

Furneaux, by the way, is the hero of the most thrilling detective story of this generation. He is the dominating figure in Louis Tracy's sensational new detective story, "The House of Peril," publication of which begins in next Sunday's Boston Post, to be continued each day thereafter until completed.

The editor of the Post was "tipped off" to the extraordinary fascination of this story before it had even been submitted to any publication either here or in Europe. A trusted representative was sent to read the manuscript. He wired back:

"The best detective story I have ever read!"

The Post paid a very large sum—many thousands of dollars—for the privilege of introducing this story to its readers before it should appear anywhere else in book or magazine form. Further, to show how highly the Post values this prize, arrangements were made with the brilliant artist, Frederic Dorr Steele, whose pictures of Sherlock Holmes are familiar all over the world, to illustrate "The House of Peril" especially for the Post. These illustrations, in themselves, make the publication a noteworthy event.

Those who have read the manuscript of Mr. Tracy's story predict that it will make as great a "hit" with the story-loving public as did A. Conan Doyle's "Study in Scarlet." The reader is introduced in the first chapter into the room where the "Ace Club" had indulged in a night of revelry. Around a table were the forms of thirteen men. Twelve of them were unconscious. The thirteenth was dead—mysteriously killed. A strange odor filled the air, in a bowl there floated a dead goldfish. Here is mystery enough to stir the pulse of the most ardent reader of detective fiction. Not alone in the plight of the thirteen men around the table, but in the unique touch of the apparently trivial episode of the bowl. In the words of the discoverer of the extraordinary scene:

"I am forgetting the goldfish. Poor thing! Why should it have been killed, too?"

Those who desire to follow the unfolding of this drama will find the story told in the inimitable manner of the famous author of "The Pillar of Light" and "Wings of the Morning," in the Boston Post, beginning next Sunday, April 16, and continuing each day thereafter until completed.

THE NEWTON CUBS OF 1922

Without being a bit overacting Newton proper will be able to boast of one of the strongest nines on the diamond this season in greater Boston and probably in all Massachusetts.

In view of the fact that Newton always stands for the best the reorganized Cubs are expected to uphold the high standards of the Garden City provided that team is supported by all the fans.

The Cubs have joined the Newton Amateur B. B. Twilight association and play their first game with the Tigers on West Newton common, May 22nd.

April 19th at 3 P. M. the Cubs clash with the Moogals at Burr playground and owing to the intense rivalry a great game is expected.

The manager, Leslie F. MacNeil, has been very fortunate in obtaining the services of such men as Paul Johnston of Newton and James Manning of Wellesley and many other former high school and semi-pro players.

The club expects a large attendance at the game they are running Easter Monday night, April 17th at Elks' Hall, Newton.

LODGES

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Newton High Schools opened on Monday, April 10, after the spring recess.

The teachers who are taking the Junior High School course under Prof. Inglis will have an examination on the work covered in his recent lectures. The next meeting will be held in the Classical High School, where the examinations will be given.

The junior class of the Technical High School is planning a reception for the senior class. There will be dancing in the school library, followed by refreshments. The date for the junior-senior reception has been set for Friday, April 28.

Most people nowadays like to have something that is new, but the pupils in the Newton High Schools are extremely glad to get "something" that is old. This "something" is nothing but an old schedule, by which they get out 1.50 instead of the present time of 2.20. Beginning Monday, April 17th, the old schedule will go into effect.

A great many members of the senior class in the Technical High School were allowed to leave school on Monday in order that they might secure positions in some institute for the remainder of the year. Those that were excused stood high in their class and were a credit to the school.

Instead of having "setting up" exercises for one minute before each period, there will be an eight-minute drill at noon time, under the instruction of members of the class who have had thorough training under Dr. Oscar Martin and Mr. Altman, gymnasium instructors. This will be beneficial to the students mentally as well as physically, and better results will be obtained in the school.

A group of girls staged a grammar play, entitled, "I'll Try," at the Freshman Assembly, on March 30th.

Burr School

The April Echo will be out in a week now.

The eighth grades are to organize such as a graduating class. The March Weight Chart for the Burr School showed many changes from the February figures. Grade V made an especially big gain.

Williams School

The boys of grade 6 are working on bird houses.

An attractive table and comfortable little chairs with cushioned backs add to the pleasure of the children in grade 2.

The children of the Kindergarten made a very attractive picture on Tuesday running to and fro with their gay pinwheels to catch the wind.

The boys and girls of the 6th grade have completed the project of the Panama Canal with sand and plasticine on the sand table. Any child in the room would be pleased to take an interested spectator up the locks and through the Canal.

Hyde School

Miss Beatrice McOwen assumed her duties this week as assistant kindergarten.

A Red Cross nursing class has been formed among the eighth grade girls. About twenty of them met for an hour every Wednesday after school under the direction of Miss Herick.

On the bulletin boards in both buildings of the Hyde School are certificates showing one hundred per cent enrollment in the National Education Association.

Miss Sampson's fourth graders recently gave a lecture on Japan using lantern slides.

Miss Green's fourth grade gave a musical, inviting the other fourth grade.

The baseball season has begun and two teams have been formed under the supervision of Coach Lucio P. Eller. The lineup of the two teams is as follows:

First Team—Herring, c; Wilkerson, c; Smith, lf; Joyce, ss; Clark, 1b; Stout, 2b; Ciccone, 3b; Maynard, rf; p; Lingham, lf; p; Madden, p.

DEATH OF MRS. HAZEN

Mrs. Martha B. Hazen, widow of Rev. Henry A. Hazen, who was a Congregational minister, and secretary of the National Council of Congregational Churches, died suddenly Monday, at 236 Auburn street, Auburndale, where she had long made her home. Born in New York, she was the daughter of George Warren Heath, a Boston merchant, who suffered disastrously in the time of the big Boston fire. Her mother was Sarah Norris. The daughter was married in August, 1889, to Rev. Mr. Hazen. He died in 1900. Mrs. Hazen always kept up her interest in Congregational activities and was a member of the church in Auburndale. Her nearest relatives are distant cousins.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, Rev. Dr. Edward P. Drew officiating.

NEW ENGLAND ASSOCIATE ALLIANCE

Channing Alliance will hostess for the annual meeting of the New England and Associate Alliance, which includes all the Alliance branches of New England, next Thursday, April 20. The morning session will open at 10:30, when there will be addresses on "Work in the North Carolina Mountains," by Miss Lydia Holman; "Work of the Year at the Carolina Industrial School," Mrs. Jeanette B. Lamson; "Some Unitarian Considerations," Rev. Fred A. Well of Quincy; "A Modern Test of Faith," Rev. B. Franklin Allen of Needham. In the afternoon there will be music by the "Hazen" choir, a report of the Junior Alliance by Miss Alice Barney, and a closing address by the Rev. John N. Mark. There will be a box luncheon between the sessions. All who may be interested to attend will receive a cordial welcome.

The action of the Auburndale Brotherhood in tendering a reception to Former-Governor John L. Bates, who has just taken up his residence in that part of the city will be heartily endorsed by everyone. The ex-governor pays high honor to Newton by selecting this city as his home and we suggest that the reception be widened so as to include other parts of the city as well as Auburndale.

We note with pleasure the almost universal recognition of Good Friday by the churches of the community. Time was, and not so long ago, either, when but few of the Protestant churches took any notice of this important day in the church calendar. The custom of observing these anniversaries of our Christian life cannot fail to deepen the religious life and strengthen the moral character of the entire community.

The hearing next Monday night before the aldermen on the proposed zoning ordinance will undoubtedly attract a large number of our citizens. We understand that the ordinance has been revised during the past few days and persons interested may obtain copies of the revised document at the office of the City Clerk.

The appointment of Mr. Oliver M. Fisher as fuel administrator for this city does not mean that our coal dealers are suspected of profiteering under the present situation regarding our fuel supply.

NEWTON CENTRE RADIO CLUB

This month has been very busy so far for the Newton Centre Radio Club. One of the first events was a talk by Mr. Emery Davis of Beacon street, on his experiences as a radio operator during the war. He told of some of his experiences as a radio operator in France—particularly the Toule Sector; and of the French radio equipment which was used, and the accuracy required in receiving messages of foreign languages. He explained some of the code systems used during the war.

He also explained the system used on the German border of relaying messages; the kind of aerial used for "reach work" and told of the varied kinds of messages received. The press reports were usually longest, sometimes two thousand words or more. He told of one message to one of our congressmen reporting on the condition and location of one of our boys on the firing line, and another message sent out on November 10th, commanding hostilities to cease at the given hour, thereby ending the war. He emphasized the training in power of concentration needed to pick out the one station sending to your station when a number of stations were sending at once on nearly the same wave length and could not be tuned out.

The club has also proved its usefulness in the community. On Thursday afternoon, April 6th, it gave a radio demonstration to a group of twelve young boys. This was arranged by Mrs. F. E. Banfield, Jr., as an entertainment after a dinner party for the boys given at her home at 84 Hancock avenue. Maurice Whittinghill, vice-president of the club, gave a talk on the various parts of a simple receiving set, after which a prominent young radio operator in the Centre sent out a short concert which we received. Many of the boys "listened in" on radio telephony for the first time. Later in the afternoon we received the concert and lecture from the Medford Hillside station.

At the last meeting Reginald Perry gave a talk on Vacuum Tubes. One tube was taken apart to show the filament, plate and grid. Many more boys report good progress on the sets that they are making and getting to

Y. M. C. A. MINSTREL SHOW

The Y. M. C. A. Minstrel Show being given by the "Y" Glee Club on Friday evening, April 21st, bids fair to be a world beater, according to the way the chorus and principals are going ahead. Harold Hall, Hugh Boyd, Jack Woodsum and Richard Duly, working with Secretary A. T. Leary as interlocutor, are cooking up some very original and snappy side-splitting which would do credit to Al Jolson himself.

Solos will be rendered by the following members: Edmund Woodward, Earl Bates, Wm. Brightman, Andrew Dahl and W. S. Bruton.

The minstrel quartet, made up of Edward Bacon, Brightman, Bates and Bruton, will give selections.

Specialty acts will be given by the following well known artists: Bert Hammer, international Hebrew impersonator and clog dancer; Frank Jassett and Joseph Arsenault in a comedy tumbling and hand balancing act entitled, "Hold It," Giuseppe Sullivan, Jo-Jo Carling, and Tony Doubleday, in a comedy Italian sketch entitled, "Who Touch?" "Soch the Monk," will also perform in this sketch.

Miss Inez Cormack will be the accompanist, assisted by the "Y" orchestra.

Begin it Here:

(Copyright 1922 by Edward J. Clode, N. Y., and the Boston Post. All rights reserved.)

CHAPTER I.

What the Butler Found
Marie, the parlor-maid, tossed her head indignantly. She jerked a thumb toward the stairs and the upper regions of the house generally.

"A nice lot!" she cried. "Not one of 'em gone home. This joint ain't a fit place for a decent girl. I'll beat it at the end of the month."

The butler looked puzzled. He was, as all butlers should be, tall, portly, bald-headed and English. It is almost impossible to imagine an American butler. He glanced up the stairs, as though expecting the comparative gloom of the halfway landing to yield some sort of confirmation or denial of the girl's statement.

"Sure?" he inquired.
"Of course I'm sure." Indeed, Marie was vehemently so. "Didn't I peck in when I ken down? Dead drunk, all of 'em. And, oh, the smell! Like passin' a corner saloon in Seventh Avenue on a Saturday night before prohibitoon."

"Well, well," said the butler. "I'll just go an' see what the trouble is."

"Better ring up the Fire Station, an' get 'em to lend you a hose," snorted the parlor-maid.

The man turned on the stairs, apparently wishing to say something. But he repressed the words, whatever they might have been. Repression was a habit he had cultivated of late years. He walked on, treading with the remarkable lightness of step often found in big, heavy men.

The house was a Fifth Avenue mansion, but not typically so, since its architecture was simple and pleasing. It stood on the south corner of a cross-town street not far above the main entrance to Central Park, and its rooms were arranged in the shape of an "L," whereof the longer part faced the street and the shorter the avenue. In the inner section were the stair-case, elevator, and a series of bathrooms, linen-closets and store cupboards. A gallery gave access to the main rooms on the first floor, and the butler made for the spacious drawing-room, which had three windows facing west and two north. All of these opened on to a balcony, protected by a wrought-iron railing. The door was situated near the south wall.

The first whiff of air from the interior more than justified the parlor-maid's disagreeable recollection of the week-end odors of certain parts of Seventh Avenue, although her sarcastic comment had, to some extent, prepared the butler for the extraordinary scene that met his eyes. The blinds were drawn, and clusters of electric lights shone through a slight haze of tobacco smoke. Mostly lying on the floor—three being sprawled awkwardly across a long dining-room table—were thirteen young men, all in evening dress, all apparently sodden with alcohol, and quite insensible.

Neither the parlor-maid's glimpse of this disreputable gathering nor her scornful description of it prevented the butler from being surprised and slightly alarmed. Never before had the members of the singularly-named Ace Club indulged in such an orgy. He knew at once that something out of the common had happened. Being a butler, his first thought flew to the quality of the liquor the revellers had imbibed, but, unless some uncanny chance had intervened, that question could not arise, as every bottle on the table came from one of the best-stocked cellars in New York, and bore a pre-war label.

Yet these well-dressed youngsters seemed to be helplessly intoxicated. Their stertorous breathing and abandoned attitudes gave first evidence of that apparent fact. Then the butler sniffed, not willingly, it is true, but rather with the air of an expert testing some suspected compound.

"That's neither champagne, nor whisky, nor brandy, nor any liqueur that I know of," he muttered. "I wonder what it can be?"

Naturally he sought a more wholesome atmosphere and a better light, there being few things on earth so thoroughly ghastly as an all-night debauch illuminated by electricity struggling against the beams of a summer morning's sun, even if these found but occasional chinks in dark blue blinds. So he rather hurried across the room to the nearest window overlooking Central Park, trying, as he went, to ascertain with sidelong glance whether or not Coleman van Cortland, his employer, was as utterly hors de combat as the twelve guests. Yes, so far as he could judge, van Cortland's plight was in no wise less discreditable than that of any of his friends. Indeed, the host was stretched on his back on the hearth-rug, in front of a fire-place which stood between the two northern windows.

So the butler raised the blind and opened the window both above and below. He had closed the door when he entered the room. Hence, there was not a pronounced draught, but the rush of air was nevertheless wholesome and effective. He went to the second, or centre, window, but was brought up with a distinct shock.

In a large glass bowl, nearly filled with water, and standing on a high but narrow round table, was a plump goldfish floating on its back—quite dead.

The butler uttered a man-of-butler-like expression. This little creature had been his pet for many months. Mechanically his hand went to a pocket in the loose jacket he wore at that hour of the day. He brought forth a paper bag of ant-eggs with which he was wont to feed his tiny friend, which should now be darting in meteoric flight up and down and around the basin in anticipation of a speedy meal. But never again would those opal hues flash from the iridescent body. It was lying motionless, upside down on the surface of the water.

FUELA DMINISTRATOR

At the suggestion of Gov. Cox, Hon.
E. C. Hultman, chairman of the commission on necessities of life, has requested the mayors of the cities of the Commonwealth to recommend suitable persons to act as fuel administrators for each municipality to prevent hoarding and to regulate the distribution of coal if it becomes necessary. Mr. Oliver M. Fisher, of Newton, who was the fuel administrator during the war for this city, has been recommended for the position by Mayor Childs and has received his appointment. Little danger is apprehended in this city as our coal dealers are men with an established reputation for honorable dealing.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Fitchburg will be the Mecca for the club officials next Thursday for the Spring Presidents' Conference. It will open at eleven o'clock in the morning and there will be addresses on "The Relation of the Community to the Executive Service," and "Woman, a New Political Asset." Time will be allowed for a question box. Presidents should send questions to Mrs. George Minot
Baker not later than April 15th.

The President, one officer, and one member of the Executive Board are invited to attend. A special invitation is extended to the incoming presidents. Luncheon tickets may be obtained in the usual way from Miss Cora P. Blanchard, 154 Pleasant St.,
Fitchburg, not later than April 15.
Train leaves Boston at 9.49 A. M., and returning leaves Fitchburg at 3.52
P. M.

This Spring conference is in a way a forerunner of the annual meeting, but it has the advantage for club workers of being a little more intimate gathering, when there is opportunity for getting an exchange of experiences along local club lines, which often prove helpful to new workers.
It is of special value to incoming presidents and such should make every effort to attend, for unless one has been familiar with Federation affairs beforehand, there are many things which can be better understood at close range.

Chinese Think Little of Women.
Of so little account is woman in China that a father, if asked the number of his children, will probably leave out the girls in his reckoning. In the very great majority of cases the girls are not taught to read or write, for the simple reason, as the men would say, that it is useless for girls to learn to read. All the restrictive customs are based on the idea that woman is a being inferior to man.

Eel Really a Scaly Fish.
Most persons regard eels as the most slippery residents of the water, but the investigating scientist says the eel is covered with a complete set of scales, quite as nicely arranged as those on the fish and employed for the same purpose, but their diminutive size required a powerful microscope to study them.

INCOMPETENTS ARE KEPT

The annual turnover in the government service is something almost incredible. No business corporation, however strongly established, could long endure the heavy annual drain on its resources. Hundreds of men leave the government service daily; and new, untrained people have to be taken on and taught to do the work. This costs money, as every employer knows.

The resignations from the government service are chiefly from the supervisory and most highly paid positions and from the very lowest grades. The men at the top, if they have any initiative or ability or ambition to make a name for themselves, are offered private employment at double or treble or more what the government can pay them. The people in the lowest grades leave for private employment when opportunity affords because in too many instances they actually cannot keep body and soul together on their government pay.

It is the people in the middle class who stay on the longest. The whole constant process makes for a steady deterioration in the quality of the government service and tends to retain the mediocre in public employment.

The civil service commission, through which the great bulk of government employees are brought into the service, is acutely aware of this condition. Its reports give emphasis to the difficulty constantly experienced in securing and retaining competent employees. The rotation in office has become increasingly frequent and vitally impairs the efficiency of the service.

During the war there was a lower rate of turnover in the mechanical forces than in outside establishments. The proposition of separations, however, is excessive in clerical, professional and technical positions, in which the rate of turnover sometimes amounts to a third of the force in a year.

During the nine months preceding the armistice more than 60,000 appointments were made in the civil service and about 28,000 separations occurred—that is, for every two appointments made one person left the service. For a period of similar length following the armistice only 60 per cent as many appointments were made, but there were nearly 33 per cent more separations. In this period almost as many positions were vacated as were filled.

The exigencies of the war required a great expansion of the clerical forces at Washington and elsewhere and this was accomplished by a labor turnover several times above normal. The percentage of declinations of appointments among eligibles in the civil service register increased in many instances from 30 to more than 50 per cent—that is, more than half the men and women who successfully passed civil service examinations and were offered jobs under the government refused to take them. It is estimated that more than 950,000 of those who met the test were appointed during that time.

The civil service commission says flatly: "Those familiar with the federal service at Washington know that the service is now hampered by the retention of incompetents whose removal is rendered difficult by influences which are incompatible with the efficiency of the service. Preferences and exemptions increasingly clog the departments with persons who, no matter how inefficient, are difficult to remove, and whose retention tends to destroy the discipline of the service."

Among these inefficient, of course, are the supernumerary and the physically incapacitated. The bureau of efficiency estimated, before the passage of the superannuation retirement law, the number of employees in the civil service of the United States seventy years of age and over as follows:

Railway postal clerks.....	197
Rural letter carriers.....	454
City letter carriers.....	230
Post office clerks.....	387
Mechanics.....	228
General employees, Dist. Columbia.....	1,484
General employees elsewhere.....	1,613
Total.....	4,693

The commissioner of pensions supplies the following compact statement of the age of the employees in the pension bureau:

Real Length of Day.

How long is a day? Twenty-four hours, you say. Yes, but not quite. One real day contains 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.090 seconds of time, as reckoned by the movement of the sun. The earth moves through space with an average velocity of eighteen and one-half miles per second, and its velocity of rotation at the equator is about 1,000 miles per hour.

CHORAL SOCIETY CONCERT

The Newton Choral Society closes its season next Tuesday night, by its fifth concert, to be given at the Central Church, Newtonville. The program is full of big and interesting features. The orchestra of 50 pieces is doing the accompaniments finely and giving a splendid spirit to the performance. The chorus of 150 voices has been working for three months on three of the most dramatic and musically beautiful pieces ever presented in this section.

"The Feast of the Holy Grail" from Wagner's "Parsifal" will give the people of this city and vicinity a chance to hear a considerable portion of the famous opera, considered by many people the finest musical work in the world. It is thrilling in its beauty and depth. "Fair Ellen" by Bruch, is a selection of tremendous dash and enthusiasm, the story being taken from an episode in the Siege of Lucknow, and introducing prominently the old Scotch air, "The Campbells are Coming." "Gallia," by Gounod, is a famous choral work, written to lament the capture of Paris in 1871, a composition of majestic power and closing with a chorus of emotional beauty. It is a great program.

The soloists, Mrs. Marjorie Leadbetter and Mr. Ernest Johnson, have appeared with the leading choral societies of Boston, and all will be interested to hear their superb voices.

Valuable in Industry.

Diatoms, microscopic organisms inhabiting both fresh and salt water, have numerous industrial uses. Deposits of their cases or skeletons, laid down in past geological ages, constitute "diatomaceous earth," which is a valuable abrasive for metal polishes, scouring powders and tooth pastes.

"ADAM AND EVA"

"Adam and Eva" presented by the Waban Neighborhood Club on Friday and Saturday nights scored a tremendous success. There was standing room only on both nights.

The comedy is one of the best of modern comedies abounding in clever witticisms which delighted the audience.

The part of the father, with his dry humor, and cynical outlook on life—particularly family life—was very well taken by Mr. Theo E. Quimby, while "Adam" as played by Mr. Carlyle Emery was a splendid contrast. The latter entered upon his unfamiliar duties with zest, in spite of the warning of the elder man. "Don't think that they (the family) will lean on you; they will sit on you."

Miss Carolyn Blaney acted the part of the efficient, unobtrusive parlor maid who quietly looks out for Adam with understanding and appreciation of the part, and Mrs. Moore presided over the household with charm and dignity.

The climax of the second act, where Adam declares the family ruined, produced interesting and surprising results.

One expects Eva, who all along has shown grit and a clearer understanding of the situation than any of the others to "come through," but Lord Andrew Gordon's nobility and Julie and Condon's resourcefulness come as a complete surprise.

The scene where the members of the family scan the want columns of the daily papers in search of a job was excruciatingly funny, and was very well done.

Mr. Harold W. Cheney as Lord Andrew Gordon was most convincing, in accent and manner, as well as in speech, and Mrs. Tougas was a winning heroine.

In the last act where the family have returned to nature, Mrs. Jefferson's enthusiasm over the simple life was delightful, as was the metamorphosis of Uncle Horace.

The play ran very smoothly and showed the results of the careful training of Mr. George M. Roberts. The stage managers are to be congratulated also, upon the artistic setting of both of the scenes.

The members of the Waban Neighborhood Club have certainly shown talent and proved themselves capable of work of a high order, and the cordial reception accorded them should be an encouragement for the future. The cast included Theo E. Quimby, Carolyn Blaney, George R. Walker, Bertha Jefferson, Katherine Tougas, Josephine Moore, Samuel D. Wyman, H. L. Andrews, Carlyle Emery, Harold W. Cheney.

Harry L. Tilton was stage manager; George W. Souther, Dana M. Dutch, assistant stage managers; Anne Matthews, Ethel North, property managers; Lorraine Phipps, Manuscript Secretary; Marjorie Mason, Wardrobe manager; Louis O. Tilton, business manager; Duncan Wright, program manager; Herbert I. Buttrick, musical director.

Newly Discovered Organ.

Dr. G. Vitall, the Italian naturalist, has discovered that birds and bats have a small sense organ or vesicle situated on the middle wall of the tympanic cavity of their ears. When this is removed they seem to have no sense of balance. Vitall concludes that this organ, which reacts to variations of pressure within the middle ear, thus enables the bird to determine the density of the air through which it is moving and regulate its muscular movements accordingly.

Islands in Great Salt Lake.

There are several islands in Great Salt Lake. On these islands, which, like the lake's shores, are whitened by salt, immense flocks of gulls, ducks, geese and pelicans breed each year. On Antelope Island, the largest, alfalfa is cultivated and cattle are raised. Antelope Island, also known as Church Island, is about eighteen miles long.

ALDERMAN NICHOLS EXPLAINS

To the Editor of the Graphic:

As I was the only alderman who voted at the meeting of April 3 against the adoption of the budget in the form recommended by the committee on finance, I feel that I ought to make a statement of my position in this matter.

During and immediately after the war, the cost of the administration of public affairs rose steadily and rapidly throughout the whole country, and the burden of taxation mounted correspondingly. The total amount raised by taxation in Massachusetts increased from 93 million dollars in 1910 to 457 million in 1920. While largely unavoidable, this increase in taxation was none the less regrettable. A high scale of public expenditure, once established, is very difficult to recede from; but nevertheless the detrimental effect upon the public welfare of continued high taxes has led almost everywhere to an insistent demand for reduction in public expenditures. The general adoption of more businesslike methods and the fall in the price of many commodities used in the public service has made such a reduction possible without lowering salaries or wages, as is evidenced by the expected reduction in the expenditures of the state for the current year of five and a half million dollars, in the more favorable reports of the Boston Elevated Ry. Co., and other public service companies, and in the diminishing budgets of the more prudently administered cities and towns.

In Newton, however, the citizens were faced with a budget not only showing no recession from the immense expenditures of the war period, but involving an actual increase of no less than $322,000 over the budget of the previous year, an increase of over 13 per cent. in a single year, or seven dollars for every man, woman and child in Newton, and thirty-five dollars for every family. In a single evening, all that the taxpayers of Newton would have saved by the limitation of armaments, by the budget training of Gen. Daves in the federal service, and by the insistence of Governor Cox upon economy in the administration of state affairs, was to be swept away by an increase in municipal taxation, and the taxpayers of Newton faced with an even greater aggregate burden of taxation than in the previous year.

On Saturday, April 1, there was mailed to each alderman a copy of the budget which was to be submitted to the board on the following Monday evening, containing some 275 items and calling for an appropriation of over two and three-quarter millions of dollars. This was the first opportunity that the members of the board who voted on the Finance Committee had of knowing what was to be recommended. Some of the items of the budget seemed on their face to indicate extravagance or favoritism of a character from which Newton has hitherto been free. Doubtless these items could have been satisfactorily explained, and possibly the necessity for the proposed increase in the cost of administering Newton's municipal affairs would have become apparent upon a careful and detailed study of the budget; but the time afforded was obviously insufficient, and my request for postponement until the next meeting of the board, in order to allow the taxpayers an adequate opportunity to study the budget and to suggest possible opportunities for economy, does not seem on its face to have been wholly unreasonable.

The budget was, however, as noteworthy in the choice of its one instance of economy as in its general lavishness. No class in the community suffered more from the increased cost of living during the war than the already underpaid teachers in the public schools. In response to an almost universal demand for increased compensation for the public school teachers, a schedule of salaries was agreed upon between the Board of Aldermen of 1920 and the School Committee, which, while not as high as the School Committee desired, was all the aldermen felt the city could afford. The friends of the teachers accepted the compromise and gave up their agitation for further increases, and the faith of the city was pledged to maintain the schedule thus established. Under these circumstances it seems almost incredible that the one attempt at economy on the whole budget was a cut of some $9,000 in the requested appropriation for school teachers' salaries, a cut which will make it impossible for the School Committee to pay the schedule established in 1920, and set forth in the published Rules of the School Committee.

The only defense offered for this extraordinary action was the cynical statement of one or more of the members of the Finance Committee that doubtless some of the older teachers would die or resign during the year, and their salaries could be used to maintain the established schedule. It is hardly necessary to point out that, at least so far as engaging new teachers is concerned, the school committee requires a schedule based upon a more stable foundation.

A substantial number of the aldermen voted in favor of postponing consideration of the budget until the following meeting; and when this motion was lost, they voted against cutting the school teachers' salary schedule, but this effort, too, was unsuccessful, and the budget was passed exactly as recommended by the committee on finance.

My action in voting against the adoption of the budget needs, I think, no further justification. I am sure that there are some citizens of Newton who feel that I was right.

Very truly yours,
PHILIP NICHOLS.

Short Night in Scotch Highlands.

In the early July days the Highlands may truly be called a land where there is no night, writes a correspondent of the London Daily Mail from Elgin, Scotland, for sunset and sunrise are really one and the same. Officially the sun appears for about six hours, but the track of its passage from northwest to northeast is marked by a crimson glow above the horizon which serves to link the long summer days together in an unbroken chain.

SYSTEM IS ALL WRONG

The great difficulty that stands in the way of discussing Uncle Sam as an employer is that there is no such person. The men who stand in the relation of employer to their subordinates are not one but many, and they, themselves, and temporary ones at that, with a very fleeting tenure of office. Cabinet officers and members of congress, to whom the rank and file of employees look for guidance for a solution of their problems, are simply fleeting figures that come and go, with their own interests to serve. They testify freely enough as to conditions of government employment. Senator Carter Glass, recently secretary of the treasury, for example:

"The largely multiplied business of the government cannot be conducted with efficiency and economy unless there be attracted to and retained in the public service a group of highly trained, well-paid and permanent officials of supervisory grades. Uncertainty of tenure in some instances and inadequacy of compensation have closed the public service to many men of the best type or forced them out of government employ at the moment of their greatest usefulness."

"The war has increased the public debt more than twenty-five fold and has augmented the functions and activities of the government in many ways. The duties are greater and the responsibilities are larger than those of other days, to the standards of which it is not to be expected that the government will ever return. The conditions are such that failure to take the necessary action to invite and hold in the public service men of exceptional ability and of real distinction in their fields can result only in grave burdens to the taxpayers of the country and in possible disaster."

"Already the transaction of the business of the government is hampered by deficiencies of personnel due to the return to private life of many men of large capacity who during the period of active warfare were willing and glad to serve their country at great personal sacrifice. I have come to learn that there are heroes in the civil establishments as well as in the military services, self-sacrificing patriots who toll year in and year out for a bare pittance when they could command salaries double or treble the amounts they receive from the government, but who, for the love of their country and for the love of their work, have rejected alluring offers in the field of private enterprise. They were too fine and too patriotic to leave their posts."

"Under the compelling force of patriotism they made willing sacrifices during the war, but with the return of peace the government cannot expect to retain these employees indefinitely, because in justice to themselves and their families they will sooner or later accept the larger opportunities that are open to them in the world of business and industry unless the government proposes to pay them salaries that at least reasonably approach the value of their services."

"Only prompt action by the congress to build up a permanent and dignified civil service which will include men of great ability and high attainments can prevent mistakes and failures in the transaction of the public business, the consequences of which may be calamitous."

Ex-Representative Good, who was chairman of the appropriations committee of the house, is equally frank:

"Today duplication in the government service abounds on every hand. For example, eight different departments of the government, with large overhead organizations, are engaged in engineering work, in navigation, irrigation and drainage; eleven different bureaus are engaged in engineering research; twelve different organizations are engaged in road construction, while twelve, with large overhead organizations, are engaged in hydraulic construction and sixteen are engaged in surveying and mapping. Sixteen different bureaus exercise jurisdiction over water-power development. Nine different organizations are collecting information on the consumption of coal. Forty-two different organizations, with overhead expenses, are dealing with the question of public health."

"The Treasury department, the War department, the Interior department and the Labor department each has a bureau dealing with the question of general education. These departments operate independently; instances of co-operation between them are exceptional. Each of these departments is manned at all times with an organization prepared to carry the peak of the load and maintains an expensive ready-to-serve personnel. A lack of co-operation in the executive departments necessarily leads to gross extravagance. The system is wrong, and congress alone can change the system."

DANNEHOWER—VAN TASSEL

Last Saturday night Miss Elizabeth Gordon Van Tassel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Van Tassel, of Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, became the bride of Gilbert Lane Dannehower of Norristown, Pennsylvania.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by the Rev. M. H. Litcher of Central Church. The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of cream faille with old Princess lace, with a beaded tunic and a Princess lace veil.

The maid of honor, Miss Margaret George of Yonkers, N. Y., wore pale blue georgette over light green, and carried a bouquet of bouvardia, French hyacinths and forget-me-nots.

The bridesmaids, six in number, wore gowns of sweet pea shades of lavender over blue, lavender over pink, and blue over lavender, and carried bouquets of sweet peas and snapdragons and larkspur. The six bridesmaids were Mrs. Irving C. Jennings of South Norwalk, Conn.; Miss Helen Shumway of Newton Highlands, Mrs. Edward D. Van Tassel, Jr., of Newton; Miss Janet Robertson of Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Horace Z. Lechan of Newtonville, and Mrs. Wallace B. Stroud, sister of the groom, of Norristown, Pa.

The best man was Edwin J. Fagar of Harrisburg, Pa., and the ushers, Messrs. William F. Dannehower, Jr., of Norristown; E. Douglas Boyce of Binghamton, N. Y.; Samuel A. Parke of Norristown, Pa.; Kenneth C. Grinslade of Providence, Edward W. Van Tassel, Jr., of Newton, and Raymond S. Van Tassel of Newtonville.

Margaret Plant Van Tassel of Newton was flower girl, and William Plant Van Tassel of Newton, page.

The reception at the house, which was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns, Easter lilies, jonquils, forsythia and roses, was largely attended, Miss Van Tassel having been well known and popular in Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Dannehower are on a wedding trip through the South, but will be at home to their friends June 1st, at Norristown, Pennsylvania.

Miss Van Tassel is a graduate of Mrs. Paul's school, Washington, D. C., and Mr. Dannehower is a graduate of Lafayette College, class of 1914.

A Big Ticker.

London people like to keep their clocks and watches with "Big Ben" because it is the accurate timepiece of Great Britain. It is also the largest clock in the world. It is wound by machinery which looks powerful enough to drive a steamship, and it takes two men several hours three times a week to wind it up and keep it in order. The hour figures are two feet long on the dial of Big Ben. Its hour hand is made of gun-metal and its minute hand, which is 11 feet long, is of copper. The pendulum of Big Ben weighs 700 pounds and is 13 feet long.

Benjamin Franklin's Thrift.

The thrift of Benjamin Franklin is reflected in his will. In giving his daughter his "King of France" picture, set in 108 diamonds, he requests, "that she would not form any of those diamonds into ornaments, either for herself or daughters, and thereby introduce or countenance the expensive jewels in this country." He concludes his will with this clause: "I would have my body buried with as little expense or ceremony as may be," writes E. A. Hungerford in the Thrift Magazine.

How Ferns Spread.

The fronds of ferns arch over until they touch the earth, where they root and form new plants. Some other ferns occasionally produce plants in this way, but in this species it is a settled habit. The new plants grow up, repeating the process of walking, and soon the original plant is surrounded by quite a colony of its own offspring without the intervention of spores. The connections between them are slow to die, and it is not unusual to see three or four generations linked together.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHANNING ALLIANCE

Channing Alliance closed its season with much enthusiasm and great satisfaction on Tuesday with the annual business meeting. Each report revealed a large amount of work accomplished in a very quiet, modest way, but when brought all together surprised even those most conversant with what had been going on. The time from eleven o'clock until one was occupied with the annual business, election of officers, and a short appeal by Mrs. Celia Wellman for members and increased interest in the Newton Circle. A delicious luncheon was served in the dining room under the direction of Mrs. H. L. Simpson, after which the company returned to the parlor below for the after-luncheon program.

Several selections by the Alliance choir, augmented by a few members of the Community Club Chorus, and assisted by Mrs. J. J. Bosdan, violinist, were enthusiastically received. The members welcomed very cordially its former member, Miss Alice S. Emery, who gave a vivid picture of the work she is now doing as parish worker in the Unitarian Church at Taunton, Mass. Mrs. Sidney Peterson in a somewhat humorous vein gave a sermonette on "Little Things." The closing address was made by Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, recording secretary of the Alliance of Unitarian Women, in which she contrasted the splendid work done by Channing Alliance, with its large numbers and privileged conditions, with some of the lonely, struggling branches in far-away parts of the country. She urged greater loyalty to the church in the days to come, as a result of the membership campaign which is closing this week, as well as a stressing of the things which the churches of the land have in common, rather than things which divide them. Most of the old officers were re-elected, the only new ones being Mrs. Philip Nichols, vice-president; Mrs. Ralph W. Angier, auditor, and Mrs. Stephen W. Holmes, director.

guide conducted the ladies through various parts of the building, and gave them many facts of interest, after which they had the honor of being received by His Excellency the Governor.

The party adjourned to the Women's City Club for luncheon and in the afternoon attended the session of the Senate and also of the House.

Last week saw the completion of the second year of work of the Community Service Club of West Newton and the reports submitted revealed an immense amount of good things accomplished. This club is unique among those of the city, in that it combines practical work with inspirational programs, alternating the meetings, many already know, it grew out of the united war work of the women in West Newton, and judging from the reports at the annual meeting, it is now upon a firmly established base, which will mean much for the future welfare of that community. A list of the articles which have been made follows: For the Pomroy Home, 91 articles, including 9 dresses, 8 kimono aprons, 8 night-dresses, etc.; to Stone Institute, 6 dressing sacks; to the Schools, 12 bloomers, 5 petticoats, 3 boys' shirts, 16 blouses; to the Day Nursery, 7 3-piece layettes, 12 diapers, 2 pairs booties, 3 jackets; to the Newton Hospital, 214 articles and 50 yards of gauze and absorbent cotton made into pads. During the summer 85 layettes of 15 pieces each, a total of 1200 pieces, were made in response to a call from the Red Cross. Fifty-seven jackets and 20 convalescent robes were also given the Red Cross.

An incredibly large amount of knitting has also been done. Four pairs of stockings, 29 sweaters, 22 pairs of mittens, 1 boy's suit and 1 girl's dress have been given the schools; to the Red Cross, 6 mufflers, 10 pairs children's socks, 17 sweaters; 49 caps for Parker Hill; for community needs, 6 sweaters, 2 pairs men's socks, while a number of articles have been packed away ready for next winter.

In addition to the five program meetings there have been two courses in Current Events by Mrs. Claude U. Gilson.

Another very important step, which has been taken by the club, is the starting of a fund for a Memorial Library building in the village. The sum of $6,575 has already been pledged, including five gifts of $1,000 each. These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Elery Peabody; vice-presidents, Mrs. Louis Bell, Mrs. H. L. Pelton, Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, Mrs. R. H. Gross, Mrs. J. N. Lovell, Mrs. G. F. Rice; recording secretary, Mrs. A. Shirley Ladd; corresponding secretary, Miss Helen Porter; treasurer, Mrs. H. E. Cushman; clerk, Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club met on Monday with Mrs. E. W. Littlefield, 117 Mt. Vernon street. The study of Italy was continued with papers on Milan and Turin by Mrs. Brackett, and the story of Fiume by Mrs. Jennings.

At the meeting of the Christian Era Study Club the members had the delightful privilege of having Miss S. Alice Ranlett in charge of the program last Monday afternoon. The subject was "Wallenstein," and it was treated in Miss Ranlett's masterly way with selections from the play translated from the German as she read. Mrs. Leighton of Williston road, was the hostess.

Mrs. Ernest Cobb, president of the Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls, opened her home on Monday evening for an entertainment for the benefit of the club's new Philanthropic Fund. There was a program of songs and readings, and an Ancient History Class, from whose recitation the audience learned many interesting facts regarding the early history of Upper Falls.

Herbert W. Gleason lectured before the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon on "National Parks." In beginning his lecture he alluded humorously to the notice of his lecture, as published in one of the Boston papers, that he would tell about all the beauties of all the National Parks, intimating that if he did so, he would never be able to finish. The members particularly enjoyed the beautiful slides, many of which are colored by Mrs. Gleason. At this time several views of the club house, as it will appear when renovation is completed, were thrown upon the screen. These made the members feel that their dream of a club house is soon to be a reality.

Wednesday morning the Newton Social Science Club had the pleasure of welcoming as a special guest, Mrs. George Minot Baker, president of the State Federation. Although this is not Mrs. Baker's first appearance in Newton, it is the first time she has visited the Social Science Club. In her short address Mrs. Baker told of the new lines of work in the Federation, and made a plea for the young people of today, expressing the hope that the older women will do more to try to get their point of view. She mentioned particularly the great stride ahead which the Legislative matters have made in the Federation since the vote was given women.

Mrs. George Angier was the speaker of the morning, presenting a paper upon "Modern English Novelists," taking up Joseph Conrad and Hugh Walpole. Conrad, she said, belongs to Poland, the land of his birth, to the sea, and to England. She found Walpole a striking contrast with his London and thoroughly English atmosphere, and all his novels, save two which have a Russian background, are permeated with it. She characterized Walpole as the young aristocratic democrat of literature.

Auburndale Woman's Club to Hold Carnival

The plans for the Carnival to be held May 1st, and 2nd, for the benefit of the Club House Fund of the Auburndale Woman's Club are progressing rapidly. A May Breakfast will be served on May 1st, and a supper on May 2nd. The House of Little Shops will prove of great interest to all, including as it will a Bonnet Shop, Toggery Shop, Children's Specialties, Summer House, Candy, and the Corner Cupboard stored with tasty goodies.

"The Spring Carnival," under the direction of Mrs. Helen M. Whidden, will be presented at two o'clock in Norumbega Hall, on May 2nd, and repeated in the evening, followed by dancing. Mrs. Whidden will use 50 children of members of the club, who will be assisted by eight special ballet soloists.

"Noah's Ark" will prove a delight to the kiddies and a fascination to the grown-ups.

Great success is assured, if the work being put into it and the enthusiasm already manifest are any criterion.

SALE FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS

April 24, at the Newton Club, there will be a sale of articles made by disabled soldiers in the hospitals, under the auspices of the Newton Federation. Tea will be served, and cake and candy on sale. Come and help a good cause.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Last Monday evening a large number of men enjoyed the address by Dr. Warren K. Lewis, on "Engineering as a Profession." A number of seniors from the Newton and Watertown High Schools were present. On next Monday, April 17th, the speaker will be Mr. Harold D. Wilson, and his subject will be, "Law Enforcement, from the Top Down." Members of the club will be glad to have any of their friends who may read this notice present next Monday to hear Mr. Wilson, who will begin to speak at 7 o'clock.

If the weather holds good the tennis courts will be ready next week. The baseball field is already in shape for playing.

The annual meeting of the Newton Y. M. C. A. will be held on Monday evening, May 1st. A banquet will be served and the guest of the evening will be Rev. W. H. Van Allen, pastor of the Church of the Advent.

Varro's Aviary.

Varro, author of a famous book on agriculture, lived in the Ciceronian age. He built a model aviary, with fish ponds, and duck houses enclosed by fine gut nettings. Similar netted spaces housed blackbirds, nightingales and other song birds. A little channel furnished fresh water, and food was introduced beneath the nets.—Scientific American.

Earth Is Heaviest Planet.

The earth is the heaviest planet for its size, being 5.5 times heavier than its bulk of water. The sun's specific gravity is 1.39, that of Jupiter practically the same, while Saturn is only 0.7. Water is water, the lightest known planet.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

While the Legislature is way behind its last year's record in action on matters before it, there can be no question but what the matters already acted upon are and have been receiving far more attention than last year's business.

For a number of days recently the House has spent all of one session on the consideration of but one or possibly two matters, with a subsequent congestion of the calendar.

Representative Rice has been appointed a member of the conference committee to endeavor to reach a satisfactory settlement of the so-called "soft drink" bill, which the Senate thoroughly emasculated after its passage by the House. The Senate amendment destroys the bill, and Senator Napheon, who is a Senate member of the committee of conference, certainly does not represent the wishes of this part of his district in refusing to give the State an effective measure.

This bill was the precursor of the more important bill to make the laws of Massachusetts harmonize with the Federal law under the 18th amendment. This matter will hold public attention the coming week. All three Newton representatives will support the bill.

Representative Rice's very good bill, to allow the removal of mayors for malfeasance in office, which passed the House recently, was killed this last week in the Senate. It was a good bill and deserved a better fate.

The bill of the writer, to make a false statement regarding candidates at primaries and elections a corrupt practice, which had the remarkable record of passing both houses without a word of protest or explanation, was signed this week by Governor Cox. Under this law, a person making such a false statement can be haled into a district court and receive summary punishment, and the person injured will not, hereafter, have to wait a year and a half or more for the slow action of the civil courts.

The House had a hard fight this week over a bill regarding the State printing, in which the issue of a closed or open shop for printing was fought to a finish, the unions winning by a wide margin.

The triennial apportionment of the State and county expenses has been reported this week, and Newton will pay a slightly increased amount over the last apportionment. The new figures are $15.79 per $1,000 valuation as against $15.22, established three years ago.

The report of next annual session, made some time ago by the committee on cities, on the proposal to change the election laws governing the city election in Newton, was finally given to the Senate late last week, and has now been formally accepted by both branches. A little story of how political influence failed to work might be told of this report and may explain the delay in reporting the action of the committee.

DEATH OF MR. KIMBALL

Mr. Herbert Wood Kimball, who had been secretary or registrar of the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution for twenty-six years, beginning April 29, 1894, died Monday morning at his home, 325 Woodward-street, Waban. He had been in failing health for some time. He was a native of Boston, born Mar. 3, 1840, in La Grange place, now La-grange street. The following year his parents removed to McLean street, in the West End. He was the last surviving child of Daniel and Louisa (Keith) Kimball, and a direct descendant of Richard Kimball, his English progenitor, and Rev. James Keith, the first minister of the church, who was his Scottish ancestor. He was educated in the public and private schools of Boston, and subsequently became clerk in the store of Frederick Jones & Co., where he remained until 1861, when he made a voyage to London on a sailing vessel. The following year he removed to Fitchburg where he remained four years, and where he became identified with the Fitchburg Woolen Mill Company. Upon the sale of the Kimball interest in that concern he returned to Boston. Later he was in partnership with Joseph C. Bates in the flour and grain business, and upon the dissolution of this business connection in 1882 Mr. Kimball became an accountant and secretary of committees for the Home for Aged Men.

In 1875 Mr. Kimball moved to Roxbury, and in 1890 he took up his residence in Jamaica Plain. In 1896 he again moved, this time to Waban, where he built himself a house, which has since been his home. Mr. Kimball was one of the charter members of the Everett Literary Association, formed by young men clerks who were in business in Boston. He was a life member of the Young Men's Christian Union, a resident member of the New England Historic-Geographical Society, the Bostonian Society, the Old School Boys' Association of Boston, and the Bunker Hill Monument Association.

His long continued service in behalf of the Massachusetts Society of Sons of the American Revolution had been of great benefit to the interests of the society and through this work he had become well known throughout the State and elsewhere through keeping in touch with other State societies of the organization. His work likewise for the Old School Boys Association had been of great value in keeping up the active interest in the organization and he did much to promote the success of the annual summer outing, year after year, for a day at the Atlantic House, Nantasket Beach, and for the midwinter dinner gathering, always at Young's Hotel. Mr. Kimball did much good work to "round up" the schoolboys of earlier days and secure their attendance at these gatherings.

In 1863 Mr. Kimball married Miss Abby R. B. Kimball of Lunenburg, and their children are Herbert Sawyer Kimball of Waban, Mrs. Evelyn H. Richmond of Providence, R. I.; Richard D. Kimball and Miss Katharina P. Kimball, both of Waban.

At the funeral services on Wednesday afternoon, representatives were present from the Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Everett Literary Association, the New England Historic-Geographical Society, the Bostonian Society, the Old School Boys' Association of Boston and the Bunker Hill Monument Association.

The services were conducted by Rev. Charles H. Curtis, pastor of the Union Church at Waban. Burial was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

NEW PASTOR

Rev. Ambler Garnett, the new pastor at the Newton Methodist Church, has been for the past three years and over, the pastor of the Methodist Church at Northampton, Mass.

He was born and educated in the West, coming into the New England conference in 1918, with West Warren as his first church.

Garden city team. Unless Haney is in extremely rare form tomorrow we predict a somewhat one-sided victory for Newton.

It is probable that Coach Dickinson will start Leahy in the box for Newton. This, however, is by no means certain, and when the time comes you may find Capt. Murphy shooting them over. But we have an idea that Coach Dickinson will save Capt. Murphy for the opening Suburban League game to be played with Everett at Claffin Field on the morning of Patriots' Day.

First, Stafford at second, Leary at third, Newton infield will line up to-morrow as follows: Weymouth at short and Meredith at third. This quartet has played well together during practice sessions, and we believe it will do fully as well tomorrow.

We prefer not to name the outfield at this time, for we must confess that we are not at all sure as to which three men will hold down these positions. You may rest assured, however, that the Newton outer garden will be well cared for. "Crundgy" Cronin, Newton's crack catcher, will start behind the bat. No need to worry about the receiving end.

Next Wednesday morning Everett will come to Claffin Field to open the Suburban schedule. This game also, should end in a win for Newton. Everett has no abundance of seasoned material and will probably not play in top form until later in the season.

The majority of the other Suburban League teams have already taken part in a game. Malden has defeated the E. U. Frohmen Ringers, dropped a close game to the Harvard second team, Brookline lost a 3 to 2 contest to B. C. H., and last year's champions, Cambridge Latin, fell before Fred O'Brien's Boston Latin School nine.

Brookline was unfortunate in its important game with B. C. H. last Wednesday. Bill Harwood, who twirled for the Wealthy Towers, allowed B. C. H. but three hits, while his teammates collected eight safeties off the delivery of the great Bill Fallon, the former strike-out king of Milton High. But Brookline made four errors behind the crack pitching of Harwood, and B. C. H. was able to pull out on top. B. C. H. plays Cambridge Latin tomorrow, and it looks as if the Maroon and Gold will win its second game over a Suburban League team. All of which reminds us of that post season game at Braves Field three years ago between Capt. Fred Sawyer's Newton team and Capt. "Jimmie" Cassell's B. C. H. nine for the scholastic champion of the State.

Who knows but what these same two teams will have to fight it out for premier honors again this year? Stranger things have happened.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

At one of the largest meetings of Newton Lodge of Elks, the recently elected officers were installed with impressive ceremonies by Past Exalted Ruler William E. Curran of Winthrop. The lodge room of the Elks at Eliot block was deemed too small for the expected gathering and the exercises were held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, and even that place was well filled by nearly five hundred members and guests.

The installing officer was attended by a large suite of prominent Elks from all over the State. These officers were installed: Exalted Ruler, Dr. Howard Moore; Esteemed Leading Knight, Malcolm P. McKinnon; Esteemed Knight, Willard L. Sampson; Esteemed Locating Knight, John H. Gordon; treasurer, V. M. Turley; secretary, J. Edward Callahan; tiler, Edgar F. Callahan; trustee, John J. Doherty; delegate and alternate to grand lodge, George P. Flood and C. S. Ensign. These appointed officers were also installed: Master, Harold Moore; chaplain, Edward N. Soule; organist, George P. King; steward, Burt M. Rich.

After the installation, a turkey supper was served at the Elks Home in Eliot block, Newton.

NORTHGATE CLUB

The recent show at the Northgate Club was so popular that the members have been urged to repeat the performance. The stage was set as a cabaret dining room, with tables, attractive electric lights and real food. The head waiter and his assistants acted as end men, and the guests were the chorus for the soloists.

The curtain opened with dancing by members of the club followed by specialties. The local jokes were highly appreciated by the audience. The musical program included solos by Mabel Burch, Edgar P. Hay, Leroy Percy, C. L. Dutton, and Fred Yelland.

In the closing scene, the orchestra played, "Three O'Clock in the Morning," while the chimes rang, and the guests at the different tables showed the dancers with confetti and streamers. The show was under the direction of J. L. Macdonald, Mrs. Mabel C. Macdonald, with Henry Perry as musical director, Mrs. Mildred Freethy at the piano and Perry's orchestra, and was one of the prettiest and best shows ever put on by amateurs.

The following took part: Dana Libbey, Frank McCool, Leroy Percy, C. L. Dutton, Edgar P. Hay, Fred Yelland, Catherine Bigham, J. Lehan, F. A. Riley, O. P. Harris, A. P. Winters, George Freethy, Edwin Wolley, Herbert Macdonald, Paul Putnam, Mr. Van Voorhes, Dwight Woodberry, Mrs. Ruth Wolley, Mrs. Edith Church, Mrs. Irene Alvord, Mrs. Josephine Parry, Miss Gladys Lawrence, Mrs. Ruth Tedesco, Mrs. Helen Perry, Miss Mabel Burch, and Mrs. May McCool.

Last Monday night was the last Open House for bowling. A luncheon was served by Mrs. Sheldon, Mrs. Parry, Mrs. Hay, and Miss Forte. Mr. Rudolph F. Koops, past president of the club, spoke of the excellent work that had been done by the club during the past season, and in appreciation of the work of the entertainment committee presented Mr. J. L. Macdonald with a loving cup, and Mrs. Macdonald with a bouquet of carnations. Mrs. Parry, who has had charge of the bowling during the season, was also presented with an Easter lily, and Mrs. George Freethy, the pianist at the show, with a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas and maiden-hair fern. Dancing followed until midnight.

On Thursday evening there was a lecture at the club given by the Loyal Committee of the Edison Electric Co. The stereoscopic pictures by Mr. Petersen were followed by readings and musical selections by Mr. Law and Mr. Thayer of the company.

PLAYBOY OF THE WESTERN WORLD

Miss E. H. Freeman's company will give a public performance of Synge's famous Irish comedy, "The Playboy of the Western World," in Player's Hall, Theatre, on Friday evening, April 28th, and in "The Barn," at Wellesley College, on the following night.

This particular comedy is of a general and diverting nature, and if judged by the two special performances given earlier in the winter, its popularity is unquestionable.

It will be played by the same cast throughout, the two chief parts taken by Mr. Geoffrey Baker and Miss Freeman.

HEARING ON ZONING

Large Attendance at City Hall, but Little Fundamental Objection Raised to the Ordinance

Another large audience which filled the aldermanic chamber to its capacity was present last Monday evening at the regular meeting of the board, at which only two members, Aldermen Saltonstall and Young were absent.

No one appeared at hearings on proposed 20-unit garage at 5 Park street, by O. D. Brett, on the enlargement of garage on Court street by John W. Blakeney and on petition of Moorhead Motor Co. for a repair shop at 38 Crafts street, the last petition being subsequently granted.

Mr. J. A. Dowling favored a building line on Lexington street near Auburndale avenue, and Mr. A. W. Kellaway spoke in favor of a sewer in Wyman street.

The extension of Delmore road in Newton Highlands to Erie avenue brought out a number of citizens from that village. The improvement was strongly favored by Messrs. A. H. Norton, Howard Whitmore, J. E. Rayner, Wm. J. Cozens and A. H. Elder and opposed by Mr. Wm. M. Noble for Mr. Frost and by Mr. Walsh.

But the crowd were present for the larger issue of the proposed zoning ordinance and President Hollis did the graceful thing in calling upon Alderman George V. Phipps, chairman of the Zoning committee to preside during the hearing. Mr. Phipps stated that the committee had requested local organizations to appoint local committees to consider the local situation with special regard to the lines of demarcation between the different districts as defined by the ordinance. He then called upon these committees for reports. Ex-alderman A. H. McAuslan for Newton Centre said that his committee found a general sentiment in favor of the ordinance. Mr. H. C. Robbins said that Waban had held two public meetings and was unanimous for the ordinance. Mr. Henry Whitmore for West Newton said his committee had given careful study to the matter and believed the same results could be obtained with less drastic provisions. Mr. A. H. Elder for Newton Highlands said that a largely attended meeting had been held and the vote was 2 to 1 in favor of the ordinance. Mr. James C. Irwin for Newtonville said that they had divided the village into districts and had endeavored to reach each individual owner of real estate. Over 1300 opinions had been received of which only 24 were opposed to the ordinance. Mr. William Coulson stated that Auburndale was in favor of the ordinance. Alderman Nichols stated that public meetings had been held in Newton and the sentiment was unanimous in favor. Mr. Duncan Wright for Nonantum said that that village was nearly unanimous in favor of being placed in a commercial zone.

Ex-alderman Forknall was the first speaker in opposition and criticized the way in which the Nonantum committee had been appointed and had acted. He called for fair play and wanted some part of Nonantum placed in the general residence district. Later ex-aldermen John W. Murphy

ANNUAL S. S. CONVENTION

The Annual Convention of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association will take place at the Central Church, Newtonville, on Monday evening, April 24. Combined with the Convention will be the final event marking the close of the first year of the Community School of Religious Education. Members of the School will have charge of a part of the evening's program and will be addressed by Dean Walter S. Athearn, Dean of the Boston University School of Religious Education and author of many books in that field.

There will be a supper at 6 P. M., followed immediately by Professor Athearn's address on the subject, "Present Status of Week-Day Religious Instruction throughout the United States." After this will come the reports of District officers, including such items as "The Values of Hymn Memorization," by Frank W. Chase of Newton, chairman of the Music Committee; "What the Young People of the District are Doing," by Dwight Shepler, of Newtonville, president of the Young People's Executive Committee of the District; "A Year as Executive Secretary," by Miss Lullona Barker, of Watertown; and "What we may accomplish by the Sub-District Institutes," by G. Lewis Foster of Belmont.

The Committee from the Community School in charge of their part of the program is composed of the Director, Dr. Herbert W. Gates, Mrs. E. L. Colton, of Newton Highlands, and Willard H. Loud of Waban.

The Convention will also discuss future steps in the District work and will elect officers for the coming year.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The April meeting of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the Newton Club next Thursday evening, April 27, promises to be one of the most interesting meetings yet held by the Chamber, and should attract a large attendance of members. Charles M. Ketchum, manager of the Fall River Chamber of Commerce, will be the guest and speaker of the evening. "Getting the most out of a Chamber of Commerce" will be his subject. This will be followed by a general discussion of proposed activities for the Chamber, and the new officers and directors of the Chamber are prepared to develop a definite program and put it into effect immediately following this meeting. Arrangements have been made to use the large hall at the Newton Club, to accommodate the increasing attendance at the Chamber meetings. The usual dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. As usual, reservations must be made in advance. Members who cannot attend the dinner are cordially invited to be present at the meeting, which will begin at about 7:45 o'clock.

The response to the questionnaire sent out last week to members of the Chamber, inviting suggestions as to proposed activities for the Chamber, was unusually gratifying, nearly 50 per cent. of the membership responding. A large number of practical suggestions were received, and some of these will be brought up for discussion at the coming meeting on April 27. A majority of those who filled out the questionnaire emphasized the importance of building a large and representative membership for the Chamber as soon as possible, and it is probable that the proposed membership campaign will be developed as not only one of the first, but one of the best.

RECEPTION TO MR. PARK

An informal reception, a sort of family gathering, was held on Monday night at the Second Church, West Newton, in honor of the return of Rev. J. Edgar Park from Europe.

There was a cafeteria supper from six to seven thirty o'clock, following which those assembled adjourned to the chapel. Hon. Thomas Weston, as chairman of the occasion, introduced Dr. Edward E. Eaton who has been supplying the pulpit of the Second Church during the absence of Dr. Park complimenting him upon the good work he had done, and the congregation on their loyalty in the matter of attendance. Dr. Eaton was presented with a gift of gold in appreciation of his services.

Mr. Park then told of his six month's trip abroad, of the two terms spent at Oxford College, England, where he has been studying psychology, and of his visits during the vacation. The latter included two trips to Ireland and a trip to the continent visiting France, Belgium, Germany, and Holland.

The chapel was filled with those eager to shake Mr. Park's hand and bid him welcome. Mrs. Stanley M. Bolster and her committee had charge of all the arrangements for the evening. Those who poured were Mrs. Charles E. Bramer, Mrs. Benjamin S. Palmer, Mrs. Charles A. Wyman, Mrs. Edwin B. Rogers, and Mrs. Joseph B. Wood. Mrs. Marion Kingsbury sang a group of songs.

NORTHGATE CLUB

The Northgate Club will hold an evening Whist Party on April 28.

HIGH SCHOOL BASE BALL

Newton Opens the Season by Defeating Everett 9 to 0

Last October Newton went to Everett and opened the Suburban League football schedule by defeating the Red and Blue, 10 to 0. Last Wednesday morning, Patriots' Day, Everett came to Claffin Field to open the Suburban League baseball season, and once again the Orange and Black prevailed over the Red and Blue. Newton tendered the visitors a warm reception in the form of nine big runs for the home team, and not a single score for the guests. A pretty mean reception, we'd call it.

Last Wednesday morning was a trifle cold, and could not be classed as an ideal baseball day. Yet Newton seemed not in the least affected by the chilled atmosphere, and played a brand of ball that looked almost too good for an opener. If there is any bad baseball in the Newton nine, none of it saw the light of day last Wednesday. Coach Dickinson's boys were on their toes from start to finish, pounded the ball at opportune times, and backed up the excellent twirling of Whitmore with errorless fielding.

The Everett lads were stage-struck in the first two innings, and for a time it seemed as if the game would turn out to be a most one-sided affair. But Capt. Hall, who did the pitching for the home team, proceeded to work better as the innings advanced, and from the second inning on Newton found it far more difficult to connect with his delivery.

The Newton batters continued to live up to their reputation of being tough customers in the first inning. Meredith led with a single to left and took second when catcher Mallett failed to hold a low one from the Everett pitcher. Drennan bunted over Hall's head and was safe at first as Meredith made third. Capt. Hall hit Leary, the next man up, and the bases were full, with none out. The Everett team was indeed in hot water, and the Red and Blue infield moved into close formation as Capt. Murphy of Newton came to bat. Murphy laced the first pitched ball for a single through short and in came Meredith and Drennan with the first two runs. "Crundgy" Cronin, next at bat, laid down a neat bunt which the Everett catcher threw wild over first, and in came Leary and Murphy with two more runs. Then Everett came to life and stopped further scoring for that inning.

In the second inning the Newton boys took up the slugging right where they had left off. Stafford and Meredith, the first two batters, were safe on singles to the outfield. Then Leary stroled up to the plate. Leary had been hit on his first trip to the bat, and he must have been just a bit peeved at the treatment, for he knocked the third ball pitched clear over the left field canvas for a homer. It was a corking good drive and the spectators who crowded the stands roared their approval. Score: Newton 7, Everett 0.

There was no more scoring until the last half of the seventh. After the second inning Hall pitched good ball for Everett and struck out eight men. In the "lucky seventh" Newton made the score read 9 to 0, when Tedesco

AN INDUSTRIAL DIRECTORY

Aimed to be a business directory, the New York Central Lines have issued and are distributing gratis to shippers the largest railroad reference book of its kind ever published.

It contains the names of more than 50,000 individual concerns on its rails, all classified by commodities, localities and railroad facilities.

The purpose in assembling the Directory lists was to bring the various industrial and business activities into more ready and intimate touch with one another for mutual benefits. The volume's portrayal of railroad service was aimed to aid shippers in directing their traffic and new enterprises in locating their plants most advantageously.

The volume has 1,000 pages, including 29 specially drawn maps, one 20x28 inches showing in color the entire New York Central system, and others charting the existing railroad terminal facilities of the big cities.

There are more than 400 half-tone illustrations. The book gives facts and figures useful to business men covering the whole territory served by the 13,000 miles of New York Central lines, which enter twelve states and the two busiest provinces of Canada.

told how the Nonantum committee had been appointed,—how a meeting of 80 or 90 persons had been held after a widespread notice and how at a second meeting a vote of 48 to 12 had been passed in favor of placing Nonantum in the commercial district and allowing the village to continue as it had been doing for the past 50 years.

Mr. Dilworth, for his brother, John Dilworth, protested against the east side of Walnut street between Madison avenue and Washington park being placed in the general residence district. He believed it should be in the business district. He also favored stores to be located on all the main streets. Ex-alderman G. H. Mellen had grave objections to zoning as he was afraid it would strangle business. He called attention to the fact that all of the local Newton Highlands committee lived in the first zone. Mr. Wm. J. Cozzens told how he had purchased property around Woodward and Devlin streets as he foresaw it would be a business center and he protested against placing this district in the general residence zone. Mr. R. S. Bushnell of Tremont street favored some method of appeal from the decisions of a local committee and commented on the manner in which local notices had been issued. Mr. Thos. F. Murray protested against placing the east side of Centre street in ward 7 in the general residence district and he favored being in the single residence zone. Alderman White suggested that while the ordinance might be passed by the votes of 11 aldermen it would take 12 votes to pass an unopposed change and 16 votes if there was any opposition. Mr. W. I. Woodman called attention to the manner in which the lines had been drawn on Bellevue street. Mr. John T. Burns gave an interesting talk on Newton real estate and believed that the ordinance would need considerable revision before being satisfactory. He thought the two-thirds vote too strict if a change was desired, predicted a city of 200,000 in the next 25 years and favored a two-year trial of zoning before becoming a permanent feature. He suggested that there was nothing in the ordinance to prevent the erection of a four-story house in the first zone. Mr. Wm. H. Robblee believed both sides of Washington street, West Newton, should be alike. Mr. George D. Frost of Newton Centre was opposed to the whole zoning proposition and entertained the audience for fifteen minutes with his dry comments on various features, which he stated were in the ordinance or on the plan. His remarks were very interesting, but as most of his allegations regarding the ordinance and the district lines are not borne out by the facts it is doubtful if he made much impression on the board.

Among others who spoke were Messrs. George W. Bishop, G. W. Chamberlain, Everett C. Lewis, Chas. H. Cobb and J. E. Herlihy. Mayor Childs sent in a large number of recommendations including one for $1500 for preliminary alterations in the old hose house at Lower Falls for the city and other municipal purposes. $8700 for drainage of Elliot street, $3420 for drainage of Chestnut street, $1250 addition for playground maintenance and $1250 for playgrounds, $2670 for curbing on Green street, $4000 for widening of Beacon street, Waban, $484 for a Ford car for Buildings Dept., $724.25 for pension for Sgt. The report of inexpedient on using the north side of Commonwealth avenue for automobiles was accepted, on majority report of the committee, Aldermen Earle and Saltonstall being in the minority. The board also accepted an inexpedient report on the proposed building line on Commonwealth avenue at Rice street.

The usual grist of licenses for pool tables, billiard tables, bowling alleys, taxi cabs, express and trucks, common carriers, lodging house keepers, intelligence offices, power boats, Norumbega Park and junk collectors were granted. Garage permits for Purity Ice Co. on Pico road, and Gilbert Mauch at 1994 Beacon street were granted and leave to withdraw given on petition of G. L. Avery, Lakeview avenue and J. V. Monahan's Sons at Auburn street for gasoline permits.

There was quite a debate over the majority report of the License committee in favor of granting a gas filling station to the Colonial Filling Stations Inc., at Beacon street near Langley road. The minority of the committee, Chairman Ross and President Hollis made a valiant fight to have this permit refused, but were beaten by a vote of 10 to 9. It was brought out in debate that the proposition was favored by the Newton Centre Improvement Society, that it would result in a $10,000 building taking the place of an old stable. The opposite relied on the nearness to the Mason school and to the Newton Centre Garage. The minority also pointed out that the report and the Hollis and Ross report and it was favored by Aldermen Banfield, Pratt, Metcalf and Carter.

Alderman Whidden made an unsuccessful attempt to have the adverse report on the Monahan petition for a gas-filling station at Auburn and Washington streets returned to the committee for hearing but was defeated 9 to 8.

The request of the school committee that the new junior high school on Crafts street be named the Frank Ashley Day Junior High School was endorsed.

Orders were passed for hearings on sewer in Prairie avenue, for sewer in Auburndale avenue, for curbing on Green street, for water mains in Algonquin road, Beacon street, Colburn road, Coillidge road, Eastbourne road, Linwood avenue, Neholoid road, and Nobscot road, for $4,000 for widening of Beacon street at Waban and for $1,500 for alterations at old Lower Falls hose house.

An order designating the Davis school lot as the site for a 145-room school house with an assembly hall on the third floor was passed.

Alderman Whidden said this order would commit the city to a minimum expense to the plans of the school committee and would require the purchase of additional land. Alderman Pratt questioned the value of an assembly hall on the third floor and Mr. Whidden stated that such a hall would cost about $30,000.

The board adjourned at 12:06 A. M.

poked a single to left with two men on.

The Everett batters were unable to do anything with Whitmore's pitching. The curly-headed Newton boy was as cool as the day itself, and had the visitors completely under his control. Whitmore fanned ten of the Everett batters and allowed but three hits. We believe that the chief fault of the Everett batters could be found in the fact that they tried to knock the cover off the ball instead of simply endeavoring to get on base. Romano's double was the best hit in the Everett collection.

Newton certainly played an admirable game of ball. The infield looked alive at all times, and the playing of Tedesco, who started the game at first for Newton, was a pleasant surprise to those who did not know he could play that position. Tedesco proved himself a valuable man both in the field and at the bat. As usual, the work of Cronin behind the bat was a feature. Cronin seemed to be the pivot about whom the team revolved. Yes, the 1922 Newton nine looked all to the good last Wednesday, and here's hoping it will continue to do so.

Everett has no reason to feel downhearted and discouraged at the loss of the first game. The Red and Blue is a much better team than the score would seem to indicate, and we believe that Coach Hazen's boys are going to be a hard team to defeat before many weeks pass by. Capt. Hall, the Everett pitcher, was uniformly good in his support in the Newton game, but it is our opinion that he will cause the Suburban League teams more than a little trouble.

Newton and Waltham made an attempt to play their postponed game at Claffin Field last Monday afternoon, but the rain interfered and stopped the contest after two innings had been played. Newton was leading, 5 to 2, when the game was called. Haney was pitching for Waltham, and as far as we could see he had nothing on in the box for Newton, and was taken the ball but the cover. Leahy started out in the second inning, after he had passed his seventh man. During the third inning of play Waltham did not make a hit, but that may have been the fault of Leahy, who refused to put the ball near the Watch City batters. If the remainder of the game should have turned out to be anything like the first two innings perhaps it was just as well that the rain did interfere.

Tomorrow Newton will line up against one of the best of the 1922 Suburban League nines. Brookline will be the opponent at Claffin Field tomorrow, and Newton must continue to play top notch ball in order to defeat the Wealthy Towners. Brookline has a fast outfit, and in Capt. Muldowney and Harwood it has two of the best pitchers in the league. Newton realizes that Brookline is going to be a dangerous contender for championship honors, so you may expect to see the Orange and Black fighting with their heads up tomorrow afternoon.

English High comes to Newtonville next Wednesday afternoon in an attempt to prove that a Boston City League team has something on a Suburban League outfit. We fear that English High is going to be greatly disappointed.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Horace Mann Notes

The orchestra, made up of the Horace Mann and Claffin school pupils, will play for a program given at both schools for the nineteenth of April celebration.

The Horace Mann-Claffin baseball squad has elected its captain and manager, George Doherty, who played first base last year, was elected captain. Ned Bloom, who played full-back on the football eleven, was chosen manager. As a whole, the squad who are out for the team are expected to bring the school high honors.

The pupils of the grammar grades are writing compositions on the Liberty Bell. There are a great many other schools who are competing. The pupil having the best composition wins a silver medal. There is also a gold medal, which the Horace Mann school now has, which will be given to the school having the best composition. The person winning the silver medal can keep it, but the school winning the medal must pass it to the winning school the following year.

Horace Mann School

The Horace Mann School gave an entertainment in their hall this week, in celebration of Patriots' Day. The program included a play-let on the History of Newton, in which pupils from nearly all of the grades took part, and the Horace Mann Claffin orchestra played several selections. The 7th and 8th grade chorus sang "Yankee Doodle." Among those who took part were Katherine Dobyns, Lucy Bloom, Virginia Kaskell, Dorothy Stevens, Philip Ahern, Harold Green, Edwin Ducaey, Albert McCarthy and Robert Bennet.

Burr School

Posters on Citizenship have been made by the 7th and 8th grades. These have been judged by a committee made up of the pupils. The following have been especially mentioned as among the best: Margaret Merrill, Merton Howard, Kathleen Putney, Robert Morris, Thomas Rushforth.

In the last four issues of "The Echo" have been printed articles written by 46 different children in the Burr and Williams Schools, 18 from the 8th grades, 21 from the 7th grades, 7 from the lower grades. Mr. Rofekunist, playground director for Auburndale, is organizing the Burr School ball team. The team played an informal practice game with Waban Wednesday, the score being 17-5 in favor of Burr School.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

A meeting of the upper grade boys who are interested in a school baseball team was held last week in Room 9. There was a discussion of plans for the season. John Practor was chosen captain and William Murphy, manager of the 1922 team. The selection of players on the team was postponed until after a few practice games have been played. A new outfit of equipment has been provided. There are to be several class teams in addition to the school team.

Miss Marion D. Bassett gave a lantern lecture to Miss Davis's class on "Holland" on Wednesday of last week. The lecturer travelled through this and other countries of Europe not many years ago. In appreciation of the lecture the class presented to Miss Bassett a beautiful bouquet of cut flowers.

Mrs. Goodie, representing the Mass. Audubon Society, gave two addresses in the hall on Tuesday to the primary and grammar sections in the interest of bird protection and appreciation.

A complimentary trip to the State House was given on Tuesday afternoon to the graduating class by Principal and Mrs. Dodge. The party dined at the Huntington Avenue Station. A brief visit was made to the Boston Public Library, and on the way to Beacon Hill more than a dozen statues of historical interest were visited. At the State House every courtesy was shown to the class through Capt. Vester, who acted as guide to the visitors. The Governor held a brief reception to the class, and the much-prized opportunity was given of going up into the dome for the outlook over the city and harbor.

The crowning feature in the study of the "Nurse" in Miss Dow's class was a class-room talk by Miss Estella Sargent on Monday. Miss Sargent is a nurse and spoke very interestingly of the qualifications, preparation necessary, and the work of the trained nurse.

Miss Mantel's class entertained on Monday morning at the Assembly with a literary selection recently studied and memorized.

The deposits in our school bank have reached the $150 mark.

The school enjoyed the recent visits of Miss Maud Brown of Chicago and Miss Whitney of New York who came to inspect our health work.

Mason District

The new printing press given through the generosity of the N. C. School Association and the N. C. Woman's Club was installed some two weeks ago. Many heartfelt thanks to the women of Newton Centre, who have made the new press possible.

The eighth grade boys and girls are busy preparing for their first debate in the class meeting to be held this week on Friday.

Baseball practice for the boys, and captain ball for the girls make the playground at recess time, a lively place.

Claffin School

A new stereopticon has recently been added to the school equipment. Its great advantage lies in the fact that it can be made ready for use at a moment's notice, and can be used in any class room.

The Eight Grade recently gave a Moving Picture Entertainment and Candy Sale which proved very successful, netting a little over $100 for the class treasury.

RECEPTION TO GOV. BATES

The dinner given by the Auburndale Brotherhood on the evening of April 18th as a community welcome to Ex-Governor John L. Bates was attended to the capacity of the tables in the chapel of the Auburndale Congregational Church by an enthusiastic group of about 150 ladies and gentlemen. Vice-President John H. H. Turner presided during the transaction of the brief business of the annual meeting. Mr. Stephen Wright was elected president for the season of 1922-23, and a resolution was adopted expressing great appreciation of the work of the retiring president, Mr. Raymond L. Bridgman, who has succeeded in nearly trebling the membership of the Brotherhood during his term of office.

Following the meeting the diners adjourned to the church auditorium, where a large audience was already assembled. Mr. Bates, who was introduced by Dr. Guy M. Winslow of Lowell, delivered a Patriotic Day address, in which he pointed out what great contributions the United States has made to the physical and moral welfare of the world, and predicted that in the near future not even the harshest critics would be able to justify accuse her of a lapse from her war time idealism. At the conclusion of the address Mr. and Mrs. Bates received the members and guests of the Brotherhood informally.

PERRY-TILTON

Miss Marjorie Tilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Tilton of Dalton Road, Newton Centre, was married last Saturday to Mr. Howard Pratt Perry of Commonwealth avenue, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Edward M. Noyes. Miss Margaret Perry was bridesmaid, and Mr. Thomas A. Tilton best man, while the ushers were Warren Ordway of Newton Centre, and M. B. Whitney of Weston. A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony. After May 15, Mr. and Mrs. Perry will make their home at 14 Irving street, Newton Centre. Mr. Perry is a graduate of Harvard College, class of 1919, and the bride a graduate of the Children's Hospital.

EDITORIAL

That the citizens of Newton are fairly well pleased with the proposed zoning ordinance which has been under discussion for the past six months, was clearly manifested at the public hearing on Monday night before the aldermen, when, without scarcely any exception those in opposition, were opposed not to the intent of the ordinance, but to the district lines between the different zones. It was also noticeable that most of the objectors wanted their particular district placed in the more restricted zone than that proposed by the ordinance. The objections suggested by our correspondents this week cannot be maintained in face of the facts. The constitutional amendment which was submitted to the people in 1918 was the real test of the proposition, and was adopted overwhelmingly not only by the voters of Newton, but by the entire State. Too much praise cannot be given to the Alderman George V. Phipps for the hard, faithful and conscientious work he has given this zoning problem, admittedly one of the most intricate and difficult matters ever before the city government. He has been the wheel horse in the preparation of the ordinance, and has had the patience of Job in discussing the matter with groups and committees of citizens. The public spirit manifested by the local committees in canvassing their respective districts is also worthy of praise and indicates that in all civic matters Newton citizens can be depended upon to do their share of the work.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

While in point of numbers, the Legislature is not progressing very fast nowadays, two of the important measures of the session were acted upon this week by the House. On Monday there was a long debate, lasting the entire afternoon, over the proposition that only members of the bar should be eligible for the office of district attorney. The Judiciary committee had reported adversely on the matter, with some of its most prominent members dissenting. The House overruled the adverse report of the committee by a substantial vote and accepted the bill.

On Tuesday the House came in at 11 o'clock on account of the holiday on Wednesday, and spent all that session in debate over the bill to harmonize the State laws with the Volstead act of the Federal government, and finally passed the bill by a vote of nearly two to one. On this measure, as on the above noted, all three Newton representatives voted with the majority in passing both bills.

Senator Naphen takes exceptions to our criticism of last week in regard to the so-called "soft drink" bill, on which he is one of the Senate conferees over the differences of opinion between the Senate and the House. Senator Naphen states that he voted against the amendment which we criticized last week, and that, although the Senate adopted that amendment, Mr. Naphen believes that the House bill is satisfactory. We intended no reflection on Senator Naphen, as he has been an able legislator and has given this district splendid representation.

Representative Abbott B. Rice announced yesterday that he would be a candidate for the Senate this fall, to succeed Senator Naphen, who will retire.

LODGES

Garden City Grange will discuss Gardens at the next meeting, Tuesday evening, April 25th.

On Friday, April 28th, they will hold their first annual ball in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville. The Colonial Orchestra will furnish music.

Wednesday, the 19th, an exemplification of the first, second and third degree was held in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville. About 300 witnessed the work. Seventeen candidates from Elmer Lodge, Lincoln Lodge and Waban Lodge. The first degree was conferred by Waban at 3:30; second, by Home, at 4:30; third degree by Sincerity Lodge at 7:30. About 200 sat down to supper at 6:30, supplied by Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge. The Grand Lodge and Grand Encampment were represented. The lodge rooms were decorated with palms and the national colors.

Waban Lodge will present an old-time minstrel show on Wednesday evening, April 26, in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville.

WILBUR THEATRE—Theatregoers who delight in genuine operetta as distinguished from bedroom musical comedies, will welcome the announcement of "The Last Waltz," the Oscar Strauss operetta which the Messrs. Shubert are presenting at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston. This latest work by the author of "The Chocolate Soldier," comes to Boston direct from a season's run at the Century Theatre, New York, and no musical piece produced during the past decade created greater enthusiasm. It is generally acclaimed the loliest score to come from the pen of the Waltz King, and is given one of the most magnificent productions of recent times. Eleanor Painter, one of the very few talented and cultured singers in operetta before the American public today, has a singing role in which she appears with rare charm and effectiveness. She has come into her own in "The Waltz," and shines as one of the greatest prima donnas of the light opera stage.

WILLWERTH-DE ARMON

Following the marriage at St. Benedict's Church, Somerville, last Sunday afternoon of Miss Mary E. De Armon and Mr. Francis G. Willwerth, a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Nellie Ganley, on Oak street, West Newton. Guests were present from Hill City, Kan., and Trenton, N. J. After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Willwerth will reside in Somerville.

NEW ENGLAND ASSOCIATE ALLIANCE

Some five hundred women, delegates from the Alliance branches in the Unitarian churches of New England, were guests of the Channing branch for the annual meeting of the association at Channing Church yesterday. Among the visitors were also one from North Carolina and one from Lincoln, Nebraska. Following a devotional service prayer was offered by the Reverend Chester A. Drummond, minister of Channing Church. Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer, president of the Channing branch, extended greetings to the visiting delegates. Mrs. Arthur Austin reported the work of the branch at Wollaston, after which followed several addresses, one being by Miss Lydia Holman, the "Friendly Nurse," on her work in the mountains of North Carolina. Mrs. Jeanette B. Damon, superintendent of the Assistant work of the Alliance at Shelter Neck, N. C., a little town in the eastern part of the State, told of conditions there. In its educational work, North Carolina, she stated, stands next to the lowest of any State of the Union, there being 40,000 illiterate white women in the State. Today, she says, the people are waking up to the need of education, and there is an increasing ambition on the part of the young people themselves for greater educational advantages.

Mrs. Sidney Petersof, chairman of the committee on Southern Work, made an appeal for increased support of the Carolina Industrial School, which has recently been turned over to the Alliance to be administered, and a collection was taken for that purpose.

Rev. Fred Alban Weil of Quincy, in his address accused the New England pulpit of having been lax in the presentation of the Unitarian position, saying that it does not realize what has to be preached in order to start a Unitarian church outside of New England.

The morning session closed with an address by Rev. Ben Franklin Allen, of Needham, who took for his subject, "A Modern Test of Faith," in which he discussed the Unitarian "fundamentals." The real Christian is not he who follows Christ blindly, merely imitating Him, but he who has caught the spirit of Christ.

During the noon recess the delegates partook of box luncheon, every available space in the parish house being set with tables.

The afternoon session opened with singing by the Alliance choir under the leadership of Mrs. Frederic A. Wetherbee. Miss Alice Barney, president of the Channing Junior Alliance, and a report of the work done since its formation, about one year ago. A novel bit of Americanization was reported, that of a play being given at Montpelier, Vt., by Italian women in English, many of the women having known nothing of English until they learned it in classes in that city, supported by the New England Associate Alliance. Letters of greeting were read from the Southern Associate Alliance and from that of the Meadville district.

The program closed with a strong and stimulating address by Rev. John Nicoll Mark, recently of Uxbridge, but now at Fall River. Mr. Mark took for his central theme, "Me and My House," and stressed the value of the home as an influence upon the spiritual life of the country. City life, he said, is waging a tremendous warfare against the home today. Four things are needed in the home today—Independence of judgement, the spirit of service, the spirit of unselfishness, and religious education, adding that there are eight million children in non-church going homes in this country.

MEN'S CLUB

The Men's Club of West Newton and their ladies turned out in full force last evening to welcome the return of Rev. J. Edgar Park, the pastor of the Second Church, who has just returned from a winter's stay in Europe. Nearly 400 ladies and gentlemen sat down to dinner which was served in the parish house of the Second Church at 6:45. During the dinner there was some excellent community singing under direction of Mr. Harlan D. Crowell.

President Franklin S. Hoyt was the toastmaster and presented Rev. Mr. Park in a neat but brief speech. Mr. Park was greeted with great enthusiasm, and there could be no doubt of the regard and esteem in which he was held.

Mr. Park gave a most interesting description of the city of Oxford, England, where he studied for two terms, including its colleges, its chapels, its gardens and its people. He also gave sketches of London, Lille, Brussels, Cologne, Coblenz, Leipzig and Berlin. His observations on the manner in which the German occupied territory was dominated by the English, the American and the French troops was most interesting. Mr. Park also spent several weeks in Ireland, part of the time in Belfast, and part in the south and west portions. He stated that the better class of people in Ireland believed that the present treaty was much better than could be expected.

All in all, it was a most enjoyable evening.

the most important, things to be done by the Chamber. This will give the Chamber the necessary standing and influence, and place it in a position to do more effectively the various other things suggested as matters which should receive early attention.

The work of the new employment bureau of the Chamber is developing in a manner that is gratifying to those who are interested in seeing the unemployment situation relieved in Newton as much as possible. With the exception of a few late registrants and one or two men with technical training who prefer to wait until permanent positions in their respective professions are available, practically all who have applied for work have been taken care of. Men who are willing to do anything until something better turns up are practically assured of something, while several steady jobs as laborers are available at the present time to all those who want them at the terms offered. The Chamber has provided several men with temporary positions, and is putting these men in touch with permanent jobs as soon as they become available. All Newton citizens who have outside work to do about their homes or estates are asked to cooperate in making the work of the Chamber employment bureau effective by calling on the Chamber for help, either for short temporary jobs or for longer periods. Newton men who are out of work who have not yet registered at the Chamber office, at 277 Washington street, are invited to do so at their earliest convenience. Arrangements have been made this week with employment managers and welfare directors at some of the local mills, through which men who are working but three or four days per week are to be provided with opportunities to supplement their wages with extra outside work on Fridays and Saturdays. The co-operation of citizens is also invited to make this plan successful, and relieve some of the welfare associations from demands made upon them for relief through underemployment.

THE MOLLUSC

The Concord Players will give the comedy, "The Mollusc," at Players' Hall, West Newton, next Monday evening, April 24, for the benefit of the Radcliffe College Endowment fund. "The Mollusc" was written by an Englishman, Hubert Henry Davies, who was the author of many successful plays, including "Cousin Kate." When he met his death during the war the theatre lost one of its most promising playwrights. "The Mollusc" has a clever, forward moving plot, concerning four very human persons, and the bright and witty dialogue has a marvellous continuity, avoiding trite and meaningless remarks. The play was first produced in London in 1907, and has been acted in Boston by Mr. George Arliss as recently as 1919.

The committee in charge of the West Newton performance are Mrs. Wm. H. Greeley, Mrs. Frank R. Stubbs, Mrs. W. Harris Crook, Mrs. H. W. Stevens, Mrs. L. M. S. Miner, Mrs. Charles S. Cook, Jr., Mrs. Frank Huckins, Miss Winifred Whittlesey and Mrs. Edwin G. Johnson.

Hundreds of thousands of readers of the Boston Post await eagerly each morning the day's installment of what they all declare is proving to be

Why Not Begin Reading It Here and Now?

"A gallery gave access to the main rooms on the first floor, and the butler made for the spacious drawing room, which had three windows facing west and two north. All of these opened on to a balcony, protected by a wrought-iron railing. The door was situated near the south wall.

"Mostly lying on the floor—three being sprawled awkwardly across a long dining room table—were thirteen young men, all in evening dress, all apparently sodden with alcohol, and quite insensible.

"Then the butler sniffed, not willingly, it is true, and rather with an air of an expert testing some suspected compound.

"That's neither champagne, nor whiskey, nor brandy, nor any liqueur that I know of," he muttered. "I wonder what it can be?"

"In a large glass bowl, nearly filled with water, and standing on a high, but narrow, round table, was a plump goldfish, floating on its back—quite dead.

"The butler was thoroughly scared now. He hurried to the upper end of the room and knelt by his master's side, lifting his head and speaking to him.

"Wake up, Mr. Van Cortland!" he said, quite loudly. "Wake up, sir! It's nearly half-past seven."

"The sound of his own voice was almost frightening. It seemed wholly out of place in that room of awe. Then as gently as he had handled the goldfish, he lowered Van Cortland's head to the rug, for his young employer would not wake up in this world. He, too, was dead. There was no doubting it. Eyes, mouth, lips, were eloquent witnesses of the great silence.

"After a pause of breathless horror, the butler nerved himself to conduct a hurried examination of each of the remaining occupants of the room. He assured himself that they were alive, but insensible. They reminded him of men under the influence of an anesthetic, and the conceit added to his distress. Pulling himself together, in the manner of one accustomed to military drill, he stepped over the body of one of the revellers, and stretched a hand toward a decanter half filled with liqueur brandy.

"But he drew back.

"No," he muttered. "That won't do. This is no time for Dutch courage. God only knows what will happen if I make a mistake now. I must keep my head clear until this affair is out of my control for good and all."

"Again he glanced around the room. Beyond the raising of the blinds and the quickly abandoned effort to restore Van Cortland's consciousness, he had literally touched nothing, he assured himself. Nothing, except—

"By jing!" he said. "I am forgetting the goldfish. Poor thing. Why should it have been killed, too?"

REED-WILKINS

Much local interest was shown in the wedding on Monday night of Miss Margaret Wilkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Herbert Wilkins, of Dorset road, Newton Centre, to Mr.
David Albert Reed, Jr., of Springfield.
The wedding took place in Trinity Church, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan,
D. D., officiating.

The bride wore a gown of white Duchess satin and Duchess lace, with a court train. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies of the valley and white orchids.
The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles W. Wallour, of Newton Centre, a cousin of the groom, and the maid of honor, Miss Katherine Wilkins, sister of the bride, wore gowns of orchid satin crepe and georgette, with silver lace hats, and carried bouquets of pink sweet peas.

The best man was James S. McCabe of Brookline, and the ushers were Messrs. Ward Wilkins of Newton
Centre, a brother of the bride; Robert C. Bray of Newton Centre, Carl Holmquist of New York City, Edward J.
Shields of Cambridge, W. Bruce Riddell of Hamilton, Ontario, and Dr.
Theodore B. Reed of New York City, a cousin of the groom.

The music at the church was by Mr. Arthur M. Phelps of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, Boston. Following the ceremony at the church there was an informal reception at the home of the bride for the relatives and in-imate family.

The bride has been a student in the Architectural Department of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, and the groom is a graduate of the Mass. Institute of Technology.

After June 1st Mr. and Mrs. Reed will make their home in Boston.

Mr. Harris A. Reynolds gave a very interesting and enlightening talk upon the forestry situation at last week's meeting of the Newton Community Club. In summing up the causes of the coming timber shortage, Mr. Reynolds stated that, contrary to the general opinion, the country was not wholly covered with virgin forest when the Indians landed at Plymouth, for the Indians had been responsible for many forest fires. During the first hundred years after the settlement at Plymouth, little damage was done to the forests, and even in the second hundred years the forest had resources that had barely been touched, but it is in the last hundred that they have suffered most. The centre of production has moved from New England to Pennsylvania, and thence westward, until today 60 per cent of the virgin timber is in California, Oregon and Washington. Something must be done to bring back the forests in the East, for we have gone ahead without regard to posterity. And it must be done quickly, if our grandchildren are to enjoy the use we have had. Most national shortages are relieved in a year or two, but there has been only about time to grow three crops of timber since 1820, and in from forty to sixty years all the virgin forest will have been exhausted. With only about one-third as much timber there are now ten and a half times as many people.
One in every 20 persons depends upon the forests for a living. Among the results of a timber shortage will be some 900,000 men out of work, and the price of everything made of wood will jump to almost any price.

Merely to stop devastation of the forests is not going to solve the problem. The only thing to do is to plant new ones, and it is not enough for the government to do it, the states must take hold, while much can be done, if only the cities and towns will establish forests of their own as has been done in Germany, Switzerland, and France.

A special feature of the afternoon was the two character dances, Spanish interpretations, by Elizabeth Lawton accompanied by Mrs. George Owen niano, and Mrs. J. J. Bosdon violin.
Mrs. Bosdon also gave a violin solo between the two dances.

At the meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation on Monday morning, after the regular reports had been submitted Mr. Joseph Spaulding, Field Secretary of the North American League for Immigrants, told of the work of his organization in bringing about a better understanding of America and its ideals among the foreign-born laborers. He said they are trying to gain their confidence first and take them away from under the influence of bad leaders. He told how the workers have gone in at the time of strikes and by talking to the laborers in their own language and explaining the true situation, they have been able to get the workmen to agree to terms and go back to work. There is an enemy in our midst, he said, that needs to be fought, just as we have fought that from without, in the shape of leaders who are trying to lead astray simple-minded people, who do not know better. He urged both individuals and clubs to join the League or make subscriptions to the work.

Monday evening the members of the Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls enjoyed a thirty days' trip to Mexico as described by Mr. William D. Goddard, of Pawtucket, R. I., who shipped last year as an ordinary seaman. Besides telling of his adventures on the way, he told of visiting various ports and concluded his talk with some discussion of the policy of the United States toward Mexico.

The regular business meeting preceded the lecture.

On April 17th, the Waban Woman's Club held its annual meeting. A delicious luncheon was served in the Union church vestry at one o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. R. J. M.
Fyfe. The tables were decorated with centerpieces of bright colored flowers, while baskets of brilliantly colored blossoms were hung about the room.

MR SALTONSTALL DEAD

Richard Middlecott Saltonstall, lawyer and Harvard graduate, and a prominent factor in many departments of the business and social world, died suddenly Monday morning at the Corey Hill Hospital, where he had been a patient for three weeks. Mr. Saltonstall had entered the hospital for a major operation from which he was making an encouraging recovery when a new trouble set in which was the more immediate cause of his death.

Mr. Saltonstall was born in Chestnut Hill, Oct. 29, 1859, and he was the son of Leverett and Rose Smith (Lee) Saltonstall. He prepared for college at Noble's School and entering Harvard was graduated in the class of '80, the same class that graduated Theodore Roosevelt. For two years he studied at the Harvard Law School, and for a time was in the office of Hon. William Caleb Loring. He was admitted to the Bar in January, 1884. He entered the law department of the old New York and New England Railroad in this city, and was general solicitor of the company from 1887 to 1890, and since that time he had been engaged in private practice.

Mr. Saltonstall first took offices in the Sears building where he shared quarters with H. Eugene Bolles and Charles H. Tyler though he was not in partnership with them. Subsequently Mr. Saltonstall established himself at 15 Congress street, and in November, 1898, he became a member of the firm of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall which firm name was later changed to incorporate the name of Thomas Hunt, the firm name now being Gaston, Snow, Saltonstall & Hunt, which has a large suite of offices on the seventh floor of the National Shawmut Bank building.

Mr. Saltonstall as a lawyer enjoyed a very high standing outside of Boston, and he frequently was called to Washington, New York and other places for purposes of consultation.

Mr. Saltonstall gave himself little respite from labor, but in 1912 and again in 1914 he went abroad. His summers were spent for the most part at North Haven, Me., where he had a country estate, and he also had a large farm at Sherborn on the borders of the Charles River, which enlisted much of his attention. The spring and fall seasons were spent at his Chestnut Hill home. During the winter the family lived at Mr. Saltonstall's city home, 99 Bay State road.

Mr. Saltonstall was a member of a number of organizations. He belonged to the Somerset, the Union, the Country, the Exchange, and Norfolk Hunt Clubs, to both the Harvard clubs of Boston and New York, the New Riding Club, of which he was treasurer, and the Curtis Club. During the summers when he was in Maine he was active in the North Haven Golf Club. He also held membership in the Porcellian Club at Harvard.

He always had been especially interested in the cultivation of the soil, and as the president at one time of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society he had done a great deal to promote the interests of that organization. Also in another way he performed valuable services through holding the double post of treasurer and trustee of the Massachusetts Society for Promoting Agriculture. He was always fond of the Noble School which later became the Noble & Greenough School. He was untiring in his efforts to advance its interests, and in seeking to establish the school in its new location in Denver with one of the most instrumental factors.

On Oct. 17, 1891, Mr. Saltonstall married Miss Eleanor Brooks, daughter of Peter C. Brooks of Medford. She survives him. By this marriage there were four children, three of whom are living, Leverett, who married Alice Wesselhoft; Emily Bradley Saltonstall; and Richard, who married Miss Mary Bowditch Rogers. Both sons won honors in war service, Leverett in the Artillery, and Richard in naval service. The daughter, Rosalie Saltonstall, commonly known as Rose, died suddenly on Aug. 2, 1919. In October of 1917 she had gone abroad to work under the American Red Cross among the refugees in Paris and she subsequently became attached to Mrs. Daly's Field Hospital Unit, and was awarded the croix de guerre with star for her work.

Returning to the spring of 1919 she went to California. Taking ill with typhoid fever she died in Portland, Oregon. Mr. Saltonstall was proud of the fact that his two sons represented the eighth generation of the family in lineal descent to be graduated from Harvard, these having been Nathaniel, 1659; Richard, 1695; Edward, 1722; Nathaniel, 1766; Leverett, 1802; Leverett, 1844; and Richard, 1880.

There is also a surviving brother and sister, Endicott P. Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill, who is district attorney for Middlesex County, and Mrs. John S. Curtis (Mary Saltonstall). Another brother, Philip Saltonstall, died a few years ago.

The First Unitarian Church at Chestnut Hill, of which Mr. Saltonstall was a prominent member, was not large enough to hold the relatives and friends who gathered Wednesday morning to pay their last tribute of affection and respect.

The gathering included the governors of the New Riding Club and delegations from many other organizations with which Mr. Saltonstall was identified. The Army and Navy Club was represented by a soldier, a sailor and a marine in uniform.

The organ music, as played by Ernest Harrison, included "A Prayer" in F by Ceuppens; "Andante Solenne" by Oesten; "Regret," by von Wilm; Oesten's "Gento"; Chopin's "Marche Funebre" and "Saul" by Handel. At the request of the family the hymns, "Peace, Perfect Peace," "For All the Saints" and "Hark, Hark My Soul," were sung by the congregation and a quartet composed of Miss Ruth Freed, soprano; Miss Clara Bolle, alto; De Ross McAlister, tenor, and Eberl L. Wells, bass.

The honorary pallbearers were Lawrence A. Ford, Arthur D. Hill, William Hooper, Thomas Hunt, Dr. Henry Jackson, G. Gorham Peters, John C. Rice, Frederic E. Snow, Robert Winsor and John Woodbury. George S. West headed the group of ushers, the others being Robert Bacon, Merrill Griswold, Gorham Brooks, Robert Jordan, John R. Chapin, Robert C. Cobb, William Gaston, Charles Greenough, Augustus Hemenway, Jr., Philip Saltonstall and Francis Weld.

Burial was in the family lot in Harmony Grove Cemetery at Salem. Mr. Moore conducted the committal service at the grave.

AN APPRECIATION

The Boston Transcript has the following editorial on the late Richard M. Saltonstall:

"Whether most to admire the late Richard M. Saltonstall, who passed today at the height of his usefulness, for his sagacity or the breadth of his interests, will ever be a moot question. The sudden termination of a life peculiarly healthy both physically and mentally is a tremendous shock to a large and varied circle. The tradition of public usefulness handed down to him by a distinguished ancestry he passed on to his children and exemplified in his choice of his life partner. Though as a lawyer and trustee he stood in the front rank, he was also chosen to lead in the gentler arts of education, horticulture and sport. His war-time service, distinguished as it was, was but the logical outcome of his peace-time activities. He was ever an upbuilder made highly effective by his virile and energetic personality. While he was a man of vision yet there was nothing of the 'visionary' about him. His 'dreams' were based upon an abundance of common sense, faith and driving power. Of such are the 'dreams' which come true."

New We Know Better.

THE New Perfection Oven is scientifically designed. It has the most perfect system of oven ventilation yet devised.

First of all, it bakes evenly from all directions in the oven—top, bottom and all sides. Then, the doors are locked tightly at three points, thus preventing the loss of heat. The oven has glass windows through which the interior is visible at all times. These windows are not easily broken, except by accident, and can be readily and cheaply replaced with ordinary glass.

Cleanliness and economy, lightness, durability, perfect cooking with the least possible care and trouble—the New Perfection assures all of these. Which explains why this cook stove is more popular than any other five makes combined.

ENGAGEMENT TEA

On Saturday, April 8, the Red Room of Whittier Hall, Columbia University, New York City, was the scene of a delightful tea given by Miss Whiting, announcing the engagement of Miss Johnnie Pirkle and Mr. Percival M. Symonds. Both Miss Pirkle and Mr. Symonds are graduate students of Teachers College and are connected with the Institute of Educational Research under the direction of Dr. E. L. Thorndike.

Miss Pirkle, a graduate of the University of Texas, holding the degree of Master of Arts from that institution, has been in Teachers College since September where she came from the psychology department of the University of Texas to accept work with Dr. Thorndike. Mr. Symonds comes from West Newton, Massachusetts. He is a graduate of Harvard, 1915, and was formerly an instructor in mathematics in Columbia University. He is well known in Teachers College where for the past two years he has been working in Psychology. He is president of the Psychology Club and also president of the college Y. M. C. A. Mr. Symonds finishes in June his work for the degree of Dr. of Philosophy in Psychology.

HOME BEAUTIFUL EXPOSITION

Because of the renewed interest in home building, more than a quarter of a million people are expected to visit the second annual Home Beautiful Exposition that is to be held under the management of Chester I. Campbell, in Mechanics Building, Boston, during the next week.

The recent boom in building resulted in 350 leading manufacturers and dealers in building materials, home furnishings and household appliances arranging for exhibits. Practically every worthwhile article for the home will be found on display. All of the five big halls in Mechanics Building were needed to meet the demand for exhibit space to a hospital.

The purpose of the Home Beautiful Exposition is to educate the public on all subjects relating to the home. In addition to the exhibits there will be a series of lectures on home management and home planning which promise to be unusually interesting.

The exhibit of the Metropolitan Coal Company at the Home Beautiful Show in a few minutes gives an insight into the magnitude of the coal-mining industry and throws light on the question, "Will anthracite be cheaper?"

A cross-section model shows the present base of operations. It is in reality a city of subways beneath a city. To reach the coal now at a depth of 675 feet, tons of material must be removed after extensive preparations for safety and efficiency.

11,000,000 Feet of Timber Used

More than 11,000,000 feet of prop timber were used in the past year to support the surface of the coal was removed. It was necessary to pump out of the mines 10 tons of water for every ton of coal brought to the surface, in addition to pumping in 6 1/2 tons of fresh air. To get the coal to shafts for hoisting, 775 miles of tracks have been laid and 1,600 mules are always below the surface to handle the hauling. Equipment is complete from mule stables to a hospital.

Even where levels have been opened to the extent of 8 to 12 feet, only from one to three feet of coal can be mined, although the miners are paid just the same for removing the refuse above and below the coal veins as they are for the coal itself.

After the coal is brought above ground it is "sized" and made ready for use in the coal breaker, which sometimes receives pieces weighing as much as 500 pounds. Expenses in this process jump rapidly, for out of every 40,000 tons mined, only 23,000 tons are available for consumption, owing to the slate, bone, stone and loss in the breaker.

In the anthracite mines four laborers are employed to every miner fitting the coal for use, while in the bituminous operations the ratio is one to 1 1/2. The coal is carried up a long incline, on which immense rollers break it into different sizes that are automatically conducted through shuttles to separate bins, where the process of taking out the impurities finally takes place. By huge plungers the contents of the bins are set in motion and the heavy slate is separated from the coal and carried away. The remaining pure coal is then moved for storage. A miniature "jigg" bin is in operation at the exhibit.

This model is 1-24 the size of the Lorre breaker at Larksville, Pa., owned and operated by the Hudson Coal Company in the mining of anthracite. The Lorre breaker made a record in 1921 by producing 1,530,201 tons of coal. This represents a block 399 feet square or a load which would fill cars of a freight train 376 miles long.

INTER Y. W. C. A. TRACK MEET.

With 22 cities and over 400 girls entered, a track meet for girls will take place in the Harvard Stadium on June 10 under the auspices of the Northeastern field athletic council of the Y. W. C. A. This is the second annual meet and the Newton Y. W. C. A. is entering a team this year which will be the youngest association to compete in the meet. Entries for the meet may be made at the Newton Y. W. C. A. up to the end of April.

GLEE CLUBS' CONCERT

On Thursday, April 27th, at 8.00 P. M. in Jordan Hall, Boston, will be held the long anticipated concert by the Federated Men's Glee Clubs of Greater Boston. The Federation is made up of the Wollaston Glee Club of Wollaston, the Highland Glee Club of Newton, the Schubert Club of Malden, and the Men's Singing Club of Beverly. These four clubs have been practising during the winter in Boston and are now prepared to offer the people of Boston a unique program of songs sung by 200 men. The musical director of each club will conduct a part of the program offering a splendid comparison of different methods employed by different conductors.

An attraction which will draw those not especially interested in any of the clubs will be the appearance at this concert of Royal Daddum, the famous baritone, in several groups of songs. He is well known in Boston and especially in Newton, having appeared here last winter as soloist for the Highland Glee Club.

HITCHCOCK-JENKINS

Among the Easter brides was Miss Margaret Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Jenkins, of Washington St., Newton, who became the bride on Monday night of Mr. John Hitchcock of Commonwealth avenue, Boston. The service took place at Elliot Church, Rev. H. Grant Person officiating. Miss Beatrice Jenkins, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Barber of Newton, Miss Marion Ratcliffe of Newton, and Miss Ethel Roberts of Arlington.

Mr. Benjamin Blanchard of Brookline was the best man, and Mr. Bartlett Guild of Cambridge, Mr. Charles Thorndike of Boston, and Mr. Henry Harris of Chestnut Hill were ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock are at present in Bermuda. Mr. Hitchcock is a graduate of Harvard College, class of 1920.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—Winchell Smith's world famous play, "The Fortune Hunter" will be given this coming week at the St. James Theatre. It was in this play that John Barrymore made one of the greatest hits of his noted career.

This clever piece took New York, Chicago, Boston and London by storm. It has been hailed by the critics of four cities as the best American comedy in years. The intensely interesting human plot and the life-like characters are responsible in no small measure for the play's past successes.

The hero, "Nat Duncan," is a young American who has failed in business and is near the point of "quitting." Before he does this, he visits an old college chum who advises him to go to a small country town and start life all over again.

His experiences in the small country town are presented in a clean, wholesome, humorous way. The play scintillates with wit and brilliance, and is written only as Winchell Smith could have written it.

SHUBERT THEATRE—Originality in scenic investiture and novelties of dress and action will be found in the third annual production of the Greenwich Village Follies which is being presented at the Shubert Theatre, Boston. This gay and attractive musical comedy of New York's Latin quarter was devised and staged by John Murray Anderson. Added to the element of lightness given this production is an assortment of bright and engaging humor which is so often lacking in a revue, but which is found in such rich abundance in this third annual production.

Ted Lewis and his musicians are favorites and they play many new tunes. The chief fun maker is Joe E. Brown, whose methods are new and clever. Cecil Cunningham is always delightful, and is seen to exceptional advantage in this production. Some exceptionally pleasing dancing is done by graceful Ula Sharon and Gordon Dooley adds much fun to the occasion, particularly when he impersonates the flapper with unbuckled overshoes.

On behalf of the club Mrs. Frank L. Miller presented a basket of spring flowers to the outgoing president in appreciation of the splendid service she has rendered the club during her term.

The president, Mrs. Fastnet E. Dutch, called the business meeting to order. The club voted to accept the recommendation of the Executive Board that various sums of money be given to the following: West Newton Music School, $20; Newton Welfare Bureau, $10; Newton District Nursing Association, $20; Destitute Children of Russia, $20; and that $200 be given toward a scholarship fund for a Waban Newton High School girl.

Mrs. Hatch, a member of the music committee of the State Federation gave a talk on the popular music of today. She urged all mothers to read the words of the songs their sons and daughters buy and by forbidding the purchase of the music with suggestive words, to decrease the demand, and in this way to bring up the standard of the so-called popular song.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Alice C. Congdon; vice president, Mrs. Caroline E. Hosley; recording secretary, Miss Grace E. Andrews; treasurer, Mrs. Margaret W. Brown; new director, Mrs. Mae M. Elmer; chairman entertainment committee, Mrs. Helen P. McCleary; nominating committee, Mrs. Amy C. Crocker, Mrs. Margaret B. Gilpin, and Mrs. Maud L. Rice.

Old Natick Inn, South Natick, proved a very delightful place in which to hold the annual meeting of the Auburndale Review Club last Tuesday. A delicious luncheon was served. At the business meeting came the reports, and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Richard O. Walter; vice president, Mrs. Nathan W. Dennett; secretary, Miss Florence N. Brigham; treasurer, Mrs. Amos R. Wells; members of executive committee, Mrs. George P. Knapp, Miss Elizabeth A. Rider, Mrs. John F. Dunton. Impromptu charades of Mother Goose characters made much merriment, and the company joined in singing the State Song, "America, the Beautiful," at the close.

Two hundred and fifty women, the largest number ever present on such an occasion, gathered last Tuesday for the annual luncheon of the Newtonville Women's Club.

The tables were beautiful with potted geraniums and heliotrope and baskets of flowers, with trailing vines between.

A very delicious four-cover luncheon was served under the direction of the social committee of which Mrs. Ralph Conant is chairman.

After the luncheon music was furnished by Mrs. Kenneth Hastings, whose wonderful talent as a violinist is always so generously given to the club, and by the ladies' double quartet which made its debut on this occasion which merited the enthusiasm of the audience.

The annual business meeting and election of officers began at 2.45 o'clock in the church parlors. All the committees reported most diligent activity during the year. The club membership has been increased by fifty, making the present number 450 and there are still 18 on the waiting list. The treasurer reported that over $2,000 had been received and expended. The charity list being as follows:

Christmas party for 50 children, $154; Newton Hospital, $100; Stearns School Center, $100; John A. Andrew Home, $25; District Nursing, $25; Newton Welfare Bureau, $25; Flower Mission, $10; West Newton Music School, including gift from flower sale, $32; Newton Federation Philanthropic Fund, $100; Special gift to Nurses' Training School, $39. The Charitable Committee of which Mrs. James A. Stafford is chairman, reported 705 garments which had been distributed in Newton. The Hospital Committee, through its chairman, Mrs. C. J. Wilson, said that 274 articles for the hospital had been made by her committee and the Industrial and Social Conditions Committee, Mrs. L. W. Leland, chairman, brought a record of 838 articles made under their direction. This committee also reported 700 garments, toys, etc., which were given in connection with the Christmas party.

The club voted to have a new constitution and the following were appointed as a committee to arrange for such a document: Mrs. J. C. Hagar, chairman, Mrs. H. H. Carter, Mrs. W. C. Boyden, Mrs. E. C. Adams, Mrs. I. O. Palmer, Mrs. W. S. Higgins, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Mrs. A. L. Wakefield, Mrs. A. D. Auryansen, Mrs. E. E. Wakefield, Jr., Mrs. Winfield S. Smyth, Miss Susy A. Dickinson, Mrs. John W. Byers, Mrs. E. J. Cop, Mrs. C. A. Richardson. The retiring president, Mrs. J. C. Hagar, very feelingly, though with a characteristic vein of humor, expressed the pleasure which she had experienced as the presiding officer and thanked the club for its cooperation. In presenting the gavel to the new president, Mrs. E. L. Gardiner, she reminded the club that the gavel was made from an old elm tree which stood on the Clafin estate and was cut down to make room for the Technical High School, this old elm tree having grown, tradition says, from a switch which Gen. Hull cut to keep the flies off his horse and which he stuck in the ground.

Mrs. Gardiner gracefully accepted the gavel and the office.

Mrs. Austin Decatur, speaking at the request of club members, voiced the appreciation of every member of the club, of the three years' generous, efficient service which the outgoing president had so splendidly given, and presented her a beautiful basket of flowers.

The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

President, Mrs. E. L. Gardiner; vice presidents, Mrs. Austin Decatur, Mrs. Pitt Drew, Mrs. Percival Evans, Mrs. Percy Williams, Mrs. W. N. Shelton, Miss Susy Dickinson; recording secretary, Mrs. H. B. Sherman; corresponding secretary, Miss Bertha Miller; treasurer, Mrs. W. L. Vosburgh; assistant treasurer, Miss Theresa Cram; clerk, Mrs. F. R. Bolster; chairman of finance, Mrs. A. E. Vose; auditor, Mrs. M. H. Stafford; directors for four years, Mrs. G. H. Robinson, Mrs. A. W. Church, Mrs. A. D. Rice.

Newton's Opportunity

On Monday, April 24th, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. at the Newton Club, Walnut street, Newtonville, the Civics and Social Service Committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs offers the opportunity for every president of our City to see and purchase articles made by our disabled soldiers of the Great War.

These men are still under treatment and are even now at Parker Hill, West Roxbury, Chelsea Naval, Chelsea Marine, or the East Norfolk Hospitals. Their earning capacity depends upon their interest in their handwork. Having seen, we shall surely want to buy for the exquisite design, coloring, and quality of materials used in baskets, scarfs, leather goods, etc., surpasses the average shop and the prices are lower.

Miss Edith S. Ticknor of Jamaica Plain is chairman of the Hospitals Sales Committee and under her supervision the boys carry on the sale.

COME! And with your friends have a cup of tea in the afternoon. Let Newton citizens show the boys that whatever we may think of in baskets, scarfs, leather goods, etc., surpasses the average shop and the prices are lower. Miss Edith S. Ticknor of Jamaica Plain is chairman of the Hospitals Sales Committee and under her supervision the boys carry on the sale.

DISPLAY THE COLORS

The members of Charles Ward Post of Newton earnestly hope for a universal display of the Stars and Stripes on April 27th, the one hundredth birthday of our great Commander, General U. S. Grant, who was one of the greatest generals in all history, and a lover of peace. He went direct from Appomattox to Washington to expedite the discharge of an army and to stop all further enlistments instead of parading in the conquered cities of Richmond and Petersburg.

Comrades and families having war relics can display them to advantage on that day near their flags.

MISS FREEMAN'S PLAYERS

Miss E. H. Freeman's Company of Players who are giving the famous Irish Comedy, "The Playboy of the Western World," at the Players' Hall Theatre in West Newton on Friday evening, April 28, are to repeat the play at the Wellesley College "Barn" on Saturday evening, April 29th, at 8.00 o'clock prompt for the benefit of the Eastman Memorial Organ Fund. Inasmuch as there are many Dana Hall Alumnae throughout the Newtons, it is hoped that they will take advantage of this opportunity to help this worthy cause.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE—The spirit of Spring and its freshness, and that of Easter and its joyousness emanates from the Hollis Street Theatre in Boston, for that gayest of comedies, "Dulcy," still reigns there. Throughout the four weeks that the play has been on view it has not only drawn a series of large audiences, but what is more to the point it has sent them out of the theatre delighted. "Dulcy" from the standpoint of the amount of pleasure that it affords is certainly good. However, to say that a play is good and that it is entertaining does not always mean anything for tastes differ, and so do viewpoints, with the result that what pleases one may bore his neighbor. So in forcing the fact that his offering is commendable the theatrical manager feels he must point to the size of the audiences his play is drawing. The idea is that if the piece is popular, if there is a strong desire and demand to see it, then it must have value as an entertainment.

NEWTON HOSPITAL FINANCES

Finance Committee Makes Report for the Six Months Ending April 1

The following report of the Newton Hospital for the first six months of the fiscal year, Sept. 1, 1921, to March 1, 1922 is made to the citizens of Newton:

The hospital closed its last fiscal year clear from debt including all expenses incurred during the war and the epidemic which followed.

This splendid record was made possible by 5,246 persons, who by their contributions of $81,780 expressed a willingness to share the burden.

The $81,000 cancelled the debt, and the over 5,000 contributors gave new hope of a fairer distribution of the burden of maintenance.

Large individual gifts cannot be duplicated year after year, but in a service for the common good the number of contributors should not only be maintained but increased. As a house to house canvass is no light task for the workers, and frequently is distasteful to contributors, the appeal has been made this year through the mail, with the following result:

Total Number	Total Amount of Pledges	Average Amount of Pledge
Auburndale . . . 125	$1,822.10	$14.58
Chestnut Hill . . 27	1,024.00	37.93
Newton 228	6,490.00	28.46
Newton Centre. 224	4,134.88	18.46

N. Highlands . . . 91	1,147.62	12.61
Newton L. Falls . 11	141.00	12.82
Newton U. Falls . 196	1,086.25	5.54
Newtonville . . . 170	2,211.50	13.01
Waban 61	1,165.50	19.11
West Newton . . . 251	6,395.50	25.48
Out of Town . . . 11	216.00	19.64

1,395 $25,834.35 $18.52

Six months of the new year have passed and the record of service shows a marked increase. How can the service be maintained if support is withdrawn? The record of service follows:

Medical and Surgical	1,105
Maternity	180
Babies	171
Contagious Cases	113

Total 1,569

The number for the same period last year was 1,307.

Some have felt that even a charitable institution should be more nearly self-supporting, and so during the past two or three years rates were advanced. The advance, which was made with great reluctance, has in turn been criticized, and service at a lower rate has been secured in some of the surrounding towns.

An active service must be maintained to secure the best results, and a hospital if it means anything to a community, must be equipped for every reasonable demand which may be made upon it.

HUNNEWELL DRAMATICS

The annual dramatics of the Hunnewell Club took place this week Tuesday and Wednesday, with crowded houses both evenings. The entertainment was called the Hunnewell Club Scandals of 1922, and lived up to its name.

The first part of the program represented a police court scene, with T. H. Calhoun as the Irish policeman; C. Ernest Greenwood as the judge.

J. M. Gibson, as a hayseed farmer, was up for driving his Lizzie in an intoxicated condition, and told his troubles in song. C. M. Morford gave a capital imitation of a drunk; Dr. Naylor as his wife, had altogether too weak a part for one of his ability; Dr. Mellus, as a dude Englishman, was a scream to look at, and L. F. Pike and Joe W. Gerrity were excellent negroes. The legal profession was represented by A. W. Blakemore and by Everett W. Crawford, who was dressed in one of his wife's gowns. After the preliminaries of the court scene the real trial of Jinks (Walter B. Sharp), and Juliana Jones (Goldwin S. Sprague), was staged. The jurors came in one by one and were given the slam bang treatment by the officer, and during the trial itself there was considerable horse play in the jury box. Miss Jones was suing Mr. Jinks for damages caused by leaving bottles of liquor on her doorstep, sending her alleged valentines, and giving her a serenade. Mr. Sprague made a great hit in female garb, and his efforts to remove handkerchiefs from the bosom of his dress caused continual laughter. Walter Sharp, as the surinching lover, was exceptionally good, and his pantomime address to the jury was cleverly done. George Tracy, as the old man, was much in evidence, and the number made a favorable impression.

HIGH SCHOOL MASTER

At a meeting of the Newton School Committee held on Friday evening, April 21, 1922, Mr. Francis L. Bacon was elected principal of the Newton High School. Mr. Bacon is at present principal of the Meriden High School, Meriden, Conn., where he has made an enviable record as a school administrator, and has won for himself a high place in the regard of the people of the city because of his active participation in all that relates to the welfare of the community and particularly to the work with boys.

He was born in Kingman, Kansas, July 30, 1889, and graduated from Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, with the degree of A. B. in 1912. He received a degree of A. M. from Columbia University, New York City, in 1915, specializing in the Department of Political Science and History. He has also taken several summer courses in education at Teachers' College, New York, and also several courses in the Department of Education, Yale University.

Mr. Bacon was for a time manager of the "Daily Free Press," Winfield, Kansas. He was instructor in history and science and athletic coach in the high school at Blackwell, Oklahoma, for one year, and principal for two years. He was instructor in social science in the Meriden High School, Meriden, Connecticut, for one year, and principal five years. For two summers he has given lectures in history at the State Normal Summer School, Yale University.

Mr. Bacon is president of the Meriden Scout Council, member of the Rotary Club, Chairman of the Boys' Work Division of the Y. M. C. A., member of the Executive Council of the Meriden Boys' Welfare League. He has been a frequent lecturer before Women's Clubs and for the State Department of Education at teachers' institutes. He was in the service for more than a year and is a member of the Meriden Post of the American Legion.

Mr. Bacon will take charge of the Newton High School at the beginning of the next school year. It is expected, however, that he will be able to give (Continued on Page 4.)

NEW PASTOR INSTALLED

The representatives of the churches of the Suffolk West Association, together with invited guests, met in council at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church on Friday afternoon, April 21, to examine and to assist in the installation of Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow, D. D., as pastor of the church. Rev. Cornelius H. Patton, D. D., was elected moderator, and Rev. Charles L. Morgan, D. D., scribe.

The afternoon session was for the examination of the records, after which Dr. Woodrow presented a statement of his religious experience and training, together with a summary of his doctrinal views. Supper was served the members of the council and invited guests in the vestry of the church.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

Norumbega District Sunday School Association Holds Enthusiastic Meeting at Newtonville

The annual convention of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association took place last evening at the Central Church, Newtonville. Members of the Community School met early to practice school songs and cheers, then marched in a body to the dining room to seats reserved for them at the supper tables. The supper hour was enlivened by songs and cheers from these tables, extolling the Community School and the District Association in rhyme and song.

Following the supper, Mr. R. O. Walter, president of the district, took charge. Stating that Prof. W. S. Arhearn was ill and therefore unable to speak, Mr. Walter said that this really was not so very serious a matter, because any one of five men present could have given the address on "Present Status of Week-Day Religious Instruction in the United States." Dr. H. W. Gates, director of the Community School, was then introduced for this address. Having recently attended a four-day conference on week-day religious instruction, which was attended by over 600 persons from all parts of the country, Dr. Gates presented the matter in a most convincing way. He told the reasons why we need more and better religious education, and stated some of the problems which make it necessary for any community to study the situation very carefully before initiating the schools. These problems, however, should not keep us from facing the task when our churches are ready for this serious forward step.

Mr. Walter read the list of Sunday schools in the Norumbega district, asking superintendents to respond briefly by telling the most important features of the year's work in their own schools.

Mr. F. W. Chase, chairman of the music committee, was called upon to tell why it is of great value for children and young people to memorize the worth-while hymns of the church and learn to appreciate them. Mr. Chase urged all schools to take advantage of the Musical Festival plan of the district.

Mr. Walter then called upon Dwight Shepler, president of the Young People's Executive Committee, who outlined the purposes and plans of the young people of the district, mentioning the Young People's Conference of last December, and the future Field Day being planned for May 30th, in which all church young people between the ages of 16 and 24 are invited to participate.

The next to speak was Miss Lullona Barker, executive secretary, who outlined the duties of such an officer to carry on such district activities as the Community School, the Young People's Division work, the sub-district teacher-training institutes, the Conference on Administration and Organization, the Religious Census in a section of the district, the hymn memorization and Musical Festival, the promotion of attendance at summer schools, etc.

At this point the program was turned over for one-half hour to Dr. Gates and members of the Community School. Mr. W. H. Loud and Miss Alice M. Nelson spoke for the school, boosting it in high terms. Miss Nelson said that the time might come when there would be a waiting list of those who wanted to teach in the Sunday school because of the greatness of the task and the wonderful pleasure and reward. Dr. Gates said he knew of places where this was already the case. Community School courses for next year were tentatively announced, including The Life of Christ, Biblical Geography, Departmental Methods courses, the Prophets and Bible Dramatization.

Rev. L. S. Naxton, new secretary of the Massachusetts Sunday School Association, spoke briefly on the relation of the district to the State work, saying that the district relation to the State is similar to the relation of local schools to the district. It is only when strong districts, like Nor-

HOSPITAL FINANCES

With this thought in mind and with an earnest desire to be of service in the time of need, the ward rates were reduced on an average about twenty per cent., and the private rates about thirteen per cent. The new rates went into effect on February 15th. Four rooms in Founders' Memorial have also been equipped as semi-private rooms for two patients each, at a rate of $5.00 for each patient. Even with this reduction it is expected that the difference between earnings and expenses will not exceed $40,000 for the year, less than one-half the amount contributed in 1921.

It must be remembered that the hospital received no aid from the State or city—it was not established for profit, nor has it been maintained for that purpose. It is dependent upon its friends.

Grateful acknowledgement is made to those who have already contributed. An appeal is now made to the balance of the 5,000 and to the newcomers who will recognize here, as they have recognized in other places, the benefits of hospital service to a community.

In order to avoid another house to house canvass, will you not assist the Finance Committee by sending a contribution, or a pledge, to pay during the year, to the treasurer, Stanley M. Bolster, Newton Hospital, Newton Lower Falls, Mass.?

FINANCE COMMITTEE,
Newton Hospital.

NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The employment bureau of the Newton Chamber continues to place several men in positions each day. While some of these are temporary positions, a gratifying proportion are of a permanent nature and many who accept temporary positions for the time being are later found jobs that are good for the summer, or longer. The number of registrants have materially increased during the past week and several good men, with excellent references, are now available. Newton citizens who have need of help about their homes are urged to avail themselves of this service. Using a man for but a few days will help to relieve the unemployment conditions which the Chamber is seeking to overcome. There are several young men registered, from seventeen to twenty years of age, and it is especially desirable that some of these be given some type of employment as soon as possible.

Of the four divisions of work provided in the new working plan of the Chamber, to be known as the Civic Division, Industrial Division, Mercantile Division, and the Building and Development Division, the latter is the first to organize with the appointment of its division committee, the members of which will serve as the board of directors of this division. G. Wilbur Thompson of Newton Centre, one of the vice-presidents of the Chamber, is chairman of this division and has appointed the following division committee: Ralph F. Alvord of Newton Centre, Real Estate; Henry C. Bourne of Abundant, contractor and builder; John T. Burns, Jr., of Newtonville, real estate; Phillips Byfield of West Newton, real estate; Fred A. Foresman of Newton Centre, electrical contractor; Thomas L. Goodwin of Chestnut Hill, contractor and builder; Albert H. McAuslan of Newton Centre, real estate; C. Gordon McMullin of Newton Highlands, builder and real estate; Horace W. Orr of Newtonville, plumbing and heating; W. Waldo Trowbridge of West Newton, real estate; and George W. Young of Newton Centre, painter and decorator.

The special zoning committee of the Chamber, which has served in many ways as an advisory committee to the aldermanic zoning committee and has considered many difficult problems from the viewpoint of what was best for the city as a whole, completed its work last Friday evening. The committee held three meetings, all of which were busy and extended sessions. Chairman George V. Phipps of the aldermanic zoning committee being present on each occasion while a special committee representing the Newton Real Estate Brokers Association attended the second and third meetings. Controversies between local committees were adjusted and miscellaneous minor matters were referred to the committee by the aldermanic committee for suggestions and advice.

The members of the Chamber committee were: President Frank L. Richardson of the Chamber, James V. French of Newton, Harry D. Cabot of Newtonville, and Robert of West Newton, William J. Doherty of Norwood, Frederick N. Balsor of Abundant, Albert H. McAuslan of Newton Centre, Arthur H. Hood of Chestnut Hill, J. Butler Studley of Newton Highlands, Henry C. Robbins of Waban, and Charles A. Chadwick of Newton Upper Falls.

The April meeting of the Chamber, scheduled for last evening, April 27, was postponed to some date in May, to be announced, on account of the many conflicting events announced for that evening in various sections of the city. This was in response to the requests and suggestions of various members who felt obligated to attend other events of importance but who desired to also participate in the Chamber "program meeting" of the Chamber. In arranging the new date, an effort will be made to secure the same speaker and to carry out a program similar to that announced for Thursday evening.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Newton High School

The seniors of the N. T. H. S. held their Prom in the library on May 12. The student committee is comprised of Louis Kirsch, chairman; Martin Hines, R. Cannon, H. Helgeson, E. Vniacke, E. Lyons. Each member is to invite a guest, and a good time generally is expected.

Last Friday, members of the Newtonian staff and the senior class ran a dance in the Gym. Betty Cole, dressed as "Raggy Ann," caused a great deal of merriment. The Gym was decorated by colored balloons, which, as part of a game, were all pulled down and exploded, making a noise such as is heard on the 4th of July.

The seniors in the Technical H. S. made a great success of their play, "She Stoops to Conquer," which was given last Thursday afternoon and Friday, and Saturday evenings. The performances showed that a great deal of time was spent, both by the cast and the coaches, in its preparation. There was dancing in the Gym after the evening performance, with music furnished by the Luellyn Orchestra.

Miss Wolmeyer of the French department returned to room 17 last Monday, after a long absence.

At the Freshmen Assembly on April 27, the boys gave a very humorous scene from the "Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Themes written by the class were also read.

Rehearsals of the senior play, which was written by Donald Reynolds, are going on regularly under the supervision of Mrs. Mills, with Mrs. Kuntz, Miss Rideout and Miss Dix assisting. The scene is laid in India at the present time.

The junior-senior reception takes place in the Technical H. S. today. A good time is expected, as the committee, Sheehan, chairman, Florence Merritt, A. Bjorkman, Yvonne Leonard and P. Reilly, have worked hard to make this event a success. The Luellyn Orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing, which will be in the library.

The seniors have elected Mary Schiara as historian, Edwin Loughrey as orator, and the honor of the valedictory address has fallen upon Dorothy Colby, who has the highest average in all subjects for four years in the senior class.

These, with two others, will be appointed by the faculty, will take part at the graduating exercises on June 16th.

On Tuesday over 60 members of the English Club, which met in the library from 2 to 4 o'clock, listened to an informal talk, "Novels of the Day," by John C. Minot of the Boston Herald. After the lecture there was one-half hour of questions while members ate ice cream.

The last meeting of the English Club will be a picnic toward the end of May to Wayside Inn. It is now planned to make the trip by automobile and eat supper in the woods near the old tavern, and return early in the evening.

—The Associates will run a dance in the Parish House of St. John's Church on Friday, May 12.

Claffin School

The Horace Mann-Claffin baseball team is doing strenuous practice work, a pupil of Grade V, have a very interesting project work out in their room, in their representation of the Philippine Islands. The children are very proud of their handiwork.

Grade VIII History class celebrated Grant's anniversary with a suitable program. Mrs. Goode, of Sharon, Mass., spoke interestingly to the pupils recently concerning birds and their habits. She told some very pretty anecdotes of the birds, and gave the children some valuable information concerning their care and treatment.

Burr School

The Burr team is expecting to play Hyde Park on Saturday.

The eighth grades are already choosing their High School courses.

Mr. John Rosequist of the Wellesley Junior High School is the baseball coach for the Abundant team.

Mrs. Goode, of the Audubon Society, spoke to the members of the Burr School on Monday. Audubon clubs are being organized in all the grades.

Stearns School Notes

Mr. Bruton of the Newton Y. M. C. A. was the speaker at our assembly last Wednesday morning. His talk on Tolerance was greatly enjoyed. Our school orchestra gave a new selection.

Stearns School Centre

The Junior Girls' Club held a very successful minstrel show on Friday evening in the Stearns School Hall. Margaret Terrio, May Boudrot, Ida Melman, Estelle Le Fevre were ably assisted as tambourine and men by Valanette McGrath and Michelena Lippa, who were costumed as Southern mummies. Harlow's orchestra furnished dance music after the performance. The minstrel was directed by Mr. Francis Sprague of West Newton and Mrs. Raymond Shaw of Abundant.

The Newton Girls' Club held their meeting on Tuesday evening, April 25th. Arrangements for a May dance were discussed, and the entertainment committee decided to hold this dance on Friday, May 12, in the Stearns School Hall. Miss Mary Delaney and Miss Irene Mullen will be in charge.

Hyde School

Mrs. Goode recently gave a lecture on birds and their habits. She told some true stories taken from her experiences and contact with bird life. She owns a Bird Sanctuary in Sharon, Mass., and desires to have the children as interested as she is.

Some of the rooms have been organized Audubon clubs and are finding the study of the leaflets very instructive and interesting.

At the closing of the Arbor Day program, given by the Woman's Club of the Highlands, prizes were given for the best bird houses. The contest was open to the boys of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades. The first prize was carried off by Warren Skelton of the eighth grade; the second prize by Robert Timble of the sixth grade. There were two third prizes, and these went to Francis Markham and Fred Hill.

Miss Grant, of the sixth grade, is making a blackboard border of the spring birds. The children are taking much interest in copying each bird as it appears.

The Hyde School participated in the Arbor Day exercises held in the square by saluting the flag and singing, under the direction of Miss Ryder, of Grade V. The children marched from the school to the field and drum.

Miss McCarthy is the new Normal School assistant from Framingham.

Miss Marguerite Green is planning a trip to Boston with her class to supplement their study of that city.

The sixth grade, under Miss Tabor, is building a health tower. Those under standard weight volunteer to help build by gaining. Each child of normal weight or over puts his initial on a brick in the tower.

Horace Mann

A new chart for the hours of sleep, play, work and school work has been made by Horace Mann. One of the members of the eighth grade, this pupil has worked faithfully for three days.

It shows how much sleep is supposed to be had by children and adults. The chart has been completed for the use of all pupils in our school, and it is very interesting.

The eighth grade has purchased a reflectoscope, which they will present to the school at the end of the term. This machine may be operated in an ordinary room with only the green curtains drawn. A wall map is reversed for a screen. This machine will first be put into use by two girls, who will lecture on Grant, in memory of the great general.

Mason School

Some time ago the eighth grades of the Mason had a very enjoyable time entertaining the first grades of the Rice School. Now, during the past week, selected members of the eighth grade have been busy helping the second grade in Miss West's room with their health posters by putting on the printed titles, ready to be commended.

On May 10, the children's work of the year will be placed on tables in each room of the Mason, so that the parents can see what their boys and girls have been doing. It is not an exhibition in the ordinary meaning of the term.

This week, on Friday, we hope to have Mr. James B. Melcher of the Trust Company speak to the members of the eighth grade on practical things along banking lines, in connection with the work on Vocational Guidance.

Mr. John Lotz, who has recently returned from South America, gave a very interesting talk on that continent to the children last Monday. The lecture was illustrated by some rare slides.

Lasell

The Vesper speaker for Sunday will be Dr. George S. Butters, for many years the pastor of the Century Methodist Church, and whom we are always glad to welcome as an old friend.

A stereoscopic lecture on a trip to the Pacific Coast will be given on Saturday, at the lecture hour, by Mrs. Mabel Stanaway Briggs, a member of the faculty.

The warm spring days, for which all the girls have been impatiently waiting, have come at last, bringing the opportunities for outdoor sports which mean preparations for Field Day, crews of the different classes practising for the races on the river, the tennis courts in great demand, as well as the usual hiking parties and horseback riding.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The 12th annual senior play, "She Stoops to Conquer," was given last week Thursday afternoon and Friday and Saturday evenings, in the assembly hall of the Technical High School.

An unusual amount of talent for dramatics was found among the members of the class by Miss Louise Wetherbee of the faculty, coach of the cast. The lead was taken by the class president, Martin Hines, and he was ably supported by Dorothy Smith, Marie Fayes, Helga Helgeson, Ruth O'Halloran, Dorothy Leonard, Anna Hurley, Miriam Priest, Thomas Pidgeon, William Kneeland, Ian Fraser, David Clark, Edwin Kidder, John Drennan, Harold Waters, Roland Doyle, Malcolm Covan, Arthur Seipson, Arthur Connolly and William Robblee.

The stage management was in the hands of Ralph Brennan, Leslie Keith, Timothy Murphy, William Kneeland, Dorothy Black, Ruth Blackley, Christine and Genevieve Calcock.

In addition to the play a vocal solo was rendered by Helen Dolmont and a xylophone solo was given by Mildred Beardsley. The Technical High School orchestra furnished the music.

The ushers for afternoon performance were Josephine Buswell, chairman; Louise Akins, Mary Ryan, Helen Priest, Dorothy King, Florence Lucas, Catherine Cannon, Martha Heffron, Sally Stanton, Dorothy Thornton.

The ushers for evening performance were Marie Curran, chairman; Clarice Amazeen, Emily Bown, Ruth Divney, Ginevra Harvie, Mae Purcell, Bertha Roberts, Alice Stahl, Mildred Wiggins, Helen Kinsman.

CAPTAIN AT AMHERST

Joel L. Leete, '23, of Newton, Mass., was elected captain of the Amherst swimming team for the year 1922-23. Although handicapped by illness during the season, he swam the 220 in several meets. He also swam on the relay team which lowered the college team record and placed second in the New England Intercollegiate. He is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Leete is considered one of the biggest athletes at Amherst. He has been a regular on the football team for the past two years, having won his letter on the line when the occasion demanded. He started the last season at center, but was shifted to end. Although new to the job, he played remarkably good football. In his sophomore year he won the distinction of having stopped Benny Boynton, the Williams star, seven times behind the line. He is a letter man and also in baseball. Last year he was a regular outfielder, and Amherst's very successful team. He is expected to make a name for himself as a left-handed pitcher this season.

In interclass contests Leete has been very active, having been a member of his class football, track, swimming and hockey teams. He is also swimming director for his class.

When in High School at Newton he won his letter for three years in football and track, and also played on the hockey and tennis teams. He was a member of the championship Newton football team, of which eight of the eleven men are now playing college football. George Owen of Harvard, and Hank Garrity of Princeton were two of his teammates.

DEATH OF MRS. PATRICK

Mrs. Martha Loomis Patrick, widow of Rev. Henry J. Patrick, for thirty-three years pastor of the Second Congregational Church in West Newton, died Monday noon at her home, 899 Washington street, Newtonville. She was ninety years of age and had been in failing health for some time.

Mrs. Patrick was born in Bennington, Vt., and her father was Rev. Amos Loomis, who was a Congregational minister in that city. She was married in 1860 to Mr. Patrick, and practically all her married life had been spent in West Newton until the death of Mr. Patrick in 1909, when she went to Newtonville to live. On the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the handsome new edifice of the Second Church, eight years ago, Mrs. Patrick was given the honor of putting the stone in place.

She is survived by five children, Miss Sara L., Miss Mary L., and Miss Augusta L. Patrick, and Arthur L. Patrick of Newtonville, and Henry Patrick of West Newton.

Services were held at her late residence on Wednesday, Rev. J. Edgar Park officiating, and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

Integrity First of All

Integrity is the first step to true greatness. Men love to praise, but are slow to practice it—to maintain it. In high places costs self-denial; in all places it is liable to opposition, but its end is glorious and the universe will yet do it homage.—C. Simmons.

"Fiasco" Meant Failure.

Fiasco is the Italian word for a bottle or flask. It is said that the Venetian glassblowers, in making their beautiful glassware, when they discovered a flaw in the bulb would convert it into an ordinary flask or fiasco, whence fiasco came to mean a failure.

NEWTON WINS BALL GAME

If Burt L. Standish the chap who grinds out the more or less famous Frank Merriwell stories, had been present at the Newton-Brookline game last Saturday, he would have witnessed his well-known fiction hero take actual form in the person of Capt. Emerson Murphy of the Orange and Black nine. Here was the situation. It was the last of the ninth inning, the score was tied at one all, and there were men on second and third with two out. Capt. Murphy of the home team was at bat with the umpire's count at two strikes and no balls. A perfect Frank Merriwell situation. Nothing could be sweeter. But even yet the plot is not complete. Of course, Capt. Murphy had struck out, Mr. Standish would have had to search elsewhere for material, but (and this is the feature that puts the story across) Capt. Murphy DID NOT strike out. Instead he batted a fast one between first and second and sent in the run that brought victory to Newton and defeat to Brookline. Verily, it was a Frank Merriwell story come to life.

Last Saturday's exciting pitcher's battle that Clafin Field has seen since the days of Fred Sawyer, Whitmore, who was pitching his second game within three days, made a wonderfully fine job of it for Newton, while Jack Harwood of Brookline actually had the heavy hitting Newton batters eating out of his hand. And had it not been for first baseman Gentile's misplay in the last half of the ninth the game might have continued on until darkness would have necessitated a halt.

As the two teams played last Saturday there was little to choose between them. Newton had a shade the better of the batting argument. Brookline played the smoother game in the field, while in the box Whitmore was a bit more effective than the clever and slow-performing Harwood. Whitmore struck out ten of the Brookline batters, allowed but four hits, and passed two men. Harwood fanned three Newtonians, gave only four hits, but passed seven men. And it was one of these passes that eventually resulted in his downfall, for it was the walk to Drennan in the ninth that paved the way for the winning tally.

Leahy was Coach Dickinson's choice to start the game and right away the fellow got himself in trouble. He passed the first man up, allowed the second man to reach first on a ground ball that should have been the easiest kind of out had Leahy thrown the ball into the dirt rather than at Tedesco, and then he passed the third batter. This was enough trouble for one man to start, so out came Leahy and in went Whitmore. With three men on base and none out it looked as if Whitmore was not going to be any too well, but "Whit" didn't score worth a cent and one solitary run was all that Brookline could gather from this ideal array of men on every base.

Newton tied the score in its half of the inning. Meredith gave the spectators the wrong impression that Harwood was "easy pickings" by lacing a double to left. Drennan was safe on a throw to first that drew Gentile off the bag. Leahy fanned and then Murphy rolled one to second that enabled Meredith to cross with the tying run. And from this inning until the fatal ninth it was simply a nice little pitching argument between Whitmore and Harwood. Hits were as scarce as hens' teeth and it was the exception to find a ball hit to the outfield. Then came the glorious ninth and with it the break that enabled the crowd to cease shivering and start for home.

It was a grand exhibition of baseball and could have been improved only by a warmer day. It was so chilly that one had but to close his eyes to imagine that it was the third period instead of the third inning, and that Jake Stafford was yelling signals instead of encouragement to Whitmore. The game was slowed up considerably by the extraordinary length of time that Harwood required to pitch a single ball. We timed him on a few occasions and found that he took almost three quarters of a minute to deliver a single ball after it had been returned to him from the catcher. The average twirler would throw about three during this space of time. However, with all his slow action Harwood is a heady pitcher and it will take a team of real sluggers to drive him from the box.

For Brookline, pitcher Harwood and shortstop Londoner were the big guns. This Londoner boy accepted seven chances without an error and shaped up as the best high school short stop we have seen in a long time. The entire Brookline infield played fast ball and made the Wealthy Town outfit look like the best team that has come over from Brookline in some years.

For Newton, the pitching of Whitmore and the catching of Cronin were bright lights. Cronin caught a Brookline man off third in the fourth inning, thereby staying off a very probable Brookline score. Nor must we forget to mention the batting of Leahy. Leahy was one Newton man who refused to keep missing Harwood's offerings, and it was his double in the ninth that made possible the winning run.

And now we go from the sublime to the ridiculous. English High played Newton at Clafin Field last Wednesday and after one of the wildest scrambles we have ever watched Newton landed on top by the delightful score of 15 to 13. To call it a ball game is to insult that grand old time. It was nothing more than a game of "Two Old Cats" and both teams should be ashamed the showing. English High played tough baseball and Newton made an even worse job of it. Newton went into the eighth inning with a lead of 13 to 3. Then English started to run wild and before the proud and haughty Newtonians could gather themselves together Coach Dickinson was obliged to send Whitmore to the mound. And Whitmore, thank heavens, saved the game. Newton scored four twirlers in addition to Whitmore. Capt. Murphy started the game and for the short time he worked he failed to impress. Leahy followed his captain and continued to live up to his reputation of throwing them where the plate isn't. Leith and Sullivan were also sent a to stem the English onslaught, but neither was able to do the trick and so "Iron Man" Whitmore came to the Mayor Childs has selected all next week as the annual CLEAN-UP WEEK, in which all kinds of rubbish will be removed by the city teams when placed at the sidewalk line, as is customary for the removal of ashes. With such an opportunity there is no excuse for any citizen to have an unsightly yard or cellar.

The efforts now being made by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Mr. Frank A. Goodwin to reduce the automobile accidents by penalizing fast driving are to be heartily commended. Police officers are well acquainted with habitual fast drivers and a word of caution at the right time may save much suffering and inconvenience.

Attention is invited to the report of the Finance committee of the Newton Hospital, which will be found in another column.

The safety zones which Capt. Burke of the Police Department has caused to be made in traffic congested places are very much needed, and we make sure that the zones are respected by automobile drivers.

CHANNING SUNDAY SCHOOL'S SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The seventieth anniversary of Channing Sunday school was observed on Sunday with simple and appropriate exercises, both morning and afternoon. At the morning church service an address was given by Rev. Samuel A. Elliott, D. D., president of the American Unitarian Association, emphasizing the vital need of religious education, which under present conditions it is the special function of the church school to provide. At the session of the Sunday school a letter was read from Mr. Willard G. Brackett of Boston, one of the few living original members of the school, with a heart-felt tribute to the devoted men and women whose influence had made the school a power for good from its earliest years. Mr. Frank H. Burt, a former superintendent, gave recollections of the school, beginning with the last year in the old church, where he was one of a class taught by the late W. Russell Brackett, twin brother of W. G. Brackett. Remarks were also made by Mr. Horace C. Harrington, secretary of the school; Mr. Ralph W. Angier, chairman of the Sunday School committee, and Rev. Chester A. Drummond.

In the afternoon many former members of the school from out of town joined with the congregation in the formal anniversary exercises. The other Sunday schools of the village were invited to take part, and a long line of children joined in the procession, singing, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." A word of welcome was given by Patty Niles, and a pageant, "The Flag and the Laws," was presented by children of the Channing school. An address was given by Mr. R. O. Walter of Abundant, president of the Norwobury Sunday School Association, followed by stories told by Mrs. Eggleston of the department of religious education of Boston University.

Mr. Brackett's letter was as follows: My dear Mr. Harrington:

I have just received an invitation to be present when the Channing Church School celebrates their Seventieth Anniversary next Sunday. As I cannot be there I am writing as one of the earliest members, to express my thanks for the invitation and congratulations to the School on its long and honorable career.

My brother and I entered the School at its very beginning. We were attending the Unitarian Church at Watertown with our parents when the movement was made to organize a Unitarian Society in Newton.

My parents joined and my brother and I were entered in the Sunday School. It was held in Cole's Hall over Cole's Grocery Store opposite the Newton Savings Bank. Our first teacher was Mrs. George Allen of West Newton.

Her husband was one of the Allen brothers who for many years conducted the Allen School for Boys at West Newton. Both the brothers attended the new society at Newton until a Unitarian Society was started at West Newton. Our next teacher was Miss Elizabeth Noyes whom some of the older church members of the present day may remember. Then Henry Claflin one of the finest type of gentlemen of the old school. Then as time went on, my brother and I became teachers.

Our connection with the school continued through the period when the Society was located in its church building on Washington street and for many years after the present church was built and under the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Smith, the Rev. E. J. Young, the Rev. Eli Fay, the Rev. Dr. Hosmer, and the Rev. Dr. Hornbrook. Your father and my father (Charles C. Harrington and Gilman Brackett) sang in the choir for many years.

The world was very different in those earlier years. No telephones, no electric cars, no automobiles, and without any of the hurry and rush and turmoil of the present day. A very peaceful and pleasant world to look back upon until the period of the Civil War arrived.

But I started to write about the Sunday School, and wish to say that its influence has lasted all through my long life. I look back now with gratitude that it was my privilege to know such men as Henry Claflin, Mr. Tyler, Mr. Farlow, Dr. Bigelow, the pastors I have mentioned, and the other good men and women who were the life of the church and the Sunday School in those earlier days. Their unconscious influence was a great power for good over all the young people who knew them. Especially am I grateful to Dr. Bigelow one of the best citizens Newton ever had. His influence was felt in the day schools as well as in the Sunday School.

My brother passed on two years ago, and there are probably very few now living who were members when the Channing Sunday School was first organized, so I am writing to wish that it may long continue in the good work it is doing, and to express my gratitude for all it did for me.

Sincerely yours,
WILLARD G. BRACKETT.

QUEER OLD WEDDING CUSTOM

Idea of "Running Up" in Vogue in Mississippi a Comparatively Few Years Ago.

A unique wedding custom was once practiced in America. The "run-up" wedding was an innovation in marriages, unknown in any part of the world except in southern Mississippi, but no longer than 25 years ago it was the way in which most southern Mississippians of means were married.

Some time before the wedding the groom began to choose from among his best friends those who should ride with him. It was considered a great honor to be thus chosen. Horses were carefully groomed and be-tasseled for the occasion, the long, luxuriant mustaches worn in those days were waxed and twisted, and particular attention was paid to every detail of the rider's appearance. On the given date the groom and his riders met at some secluded spot a mile or two from the bride's home, and at a signal from the groom dashed away at top speed, hats waving and voices shouting. Around the bride's house a cordon of outsiders was placed to warn of the approach of the groom and his party. As a cloud of dust announced their nearness the outsiders went out to meet them, whirling about and returning with them. On the porch of the bride's home her party strained their eyes to catch the first glimpse of the riders.

The sounding of the herald's horn set all hearts to fluttering. In a whirl of dust the groom appeared, snatching up his bride and riding on ahead a short distance with her in front of him on the saddle, then wheeling back and dismounting for the ceremony, for which the minister stood waiting. Then came the wedding breakfast.

MARVELOUS IS HUMAN BRAIN

Many Millions of Nerve Cells Make Up the Mind Which Controls the Body's Movements.

The highest product of evolution is undoubtedly the human brain. This is the seat of the mind—and, so far as it can be said to have a seat, of the soul, also. Filling the great cavity of the skull is the cerebrum, thrown into many folds or so-called "convolutions." This matter is gray on the outside and white toward the center. It is in the gray matter, composed of millions upon millions of nerve cells, connected one with another, that higher thought—reasoning, association, memory, etc., go on. In the brain there are certain sensory centers which record the senses of sight, smell, taste, hearing and touch. There are also certain "areas" or parts of the brain which move various parts of the body and these are the so-called "motor areas." The anatomy of the brain has been carried to such a fine degree of knowledge that we are now enabled to put our finger upon a certain spot in the brain and say, "This group (or groups) of cells moves the little toe on the left foot," or whatever it may be. Every movement in the body is controlled by these centers, either in the brain or by the nerves which branch out from the spinal cord. All activities of the body, however, other than those initiated by the brain, are unconscious.

How She Proposes.

Women do propose though they do not say outright, "Jack, I love you! Will you please be my husband?" They sometimes do, as did Alice and her friend Fred. They had been singing, and Alice searched through the music till she found a song entitled, "I am in love with you." Handling it to Fred she said "Do you know it?" Fred looked stunned, and ignoring the song she held out to him, he said, "No, I didn't know it, but I certainly am glad to hear you say so." And shortly Alice was wearing an engagement ring. But sometimes it works the other way. A young man was taking a girl home on a beautiful moonlight evening. Looking into his eyes she said, "Er—I'm not going to get married until you do." He asked why, and she replied "Because so long as you are single there is hope." But alas, he took her home and left her there and never saw her again!

Find Old Petroleum Deposits.

The asphalt springs of Hit, from which Noah probably obtained the "pitch" with which he made the Ark impervious to the "flood of waters," have now been thoroughly examined with a view to their commercial possibilities. The petroleum deposits of the land of Shinar, between the Tigris and the Euphrates, which furnished the "slime" that the descendants of Noah "had for mortar" in building the tower of Babel, have been measured as well as can be until the bit of the oil driller is sent down to prove whether the geologist is right. And the sources of bitumen which archeologists have found was used as cement in constructing the ancient palaces of Babylon and Ninevah have undoubtedly been located.

Vegetable Beef-Steaks.

The vegetable beef-steak grows on the oak tree. It is fungus, which is dark red above and flesh-colored below. When it is cut through, the alternate dark and light streaks exactly resemble the joint from which it gets its name. It is a wholesome article of food.

During a wet season this fungus grows about seven feet from the ground. It may be broiled, stewed, fried, or, if preferred, treated like beetroot and added to the salad bowl.

DEATH OF BROTHER AND SISTER

Mrs. Catherine Hobart, who died Monday at her home on Elliot Memorial road, Newton, was the widow of Henry K. Hobart, who was engaged in the iron business. She was the daughter of Peter Cushman and Jane M. Baldwin Jones, and was born in Boston Nov. 11, 1839. When quite young the family moved to Newton, where she had since resided. In 1872 she married Mr. Hobart, and she had been a widow for about twenty years.

Mrs. Hobart was a member of the Channing Unitarian Church and always interested in its activities. She was one of the early members of the Newton Social Science Club, serving as treasurer for a number of years. Although of late unable to take an active part in outside affairs, she nevertheless maintained a close interest in everything, and at the age of eighty-two years cast her vote.

She is survived by several nephews and nieces and two brothers, one of whom, George B. Jones, of Orange, N. J., is now on his way to England.

Services were held at her home on Wednesday, April 26. Rev. Mr. Drummond, pastor of the Channing Church, officiating.

Mrs. Hobart's oldest brother, Peter Cushman Jones of Honolulu, to whom she was devotedly attached, also died on Monday, within a few hours of her death, neither aware of the other's illness.

Mr. Jones was born in Boston, Dec. 10, 1837, and at the age of nineteen went to Honolulu, going in a sailing vessel by way of Cape Horn. There he became interested in the sugar industry and entered the firm of G. Brewer & Co. In 1891 he was elected president and manager of this concern, and eventually became one of the leading business men at Hawaii. He always was deeply interested in the educational and religious welfare of the islands, and was a member of the Congregational Church there. May 12, 1862, he married Cornelia Hall, daughter of one of the early missionaries, and he and his wife devoted themselves for many years to the education of the Hawaiian youth and founded Palama Chapel, quite a centre of activity.

He was a member of the Hawaiian board, and of the Foreign Board of Missions, and a trustee of Oahu College. With his late son, Edwin Austin Jones, and Henry Carter, Mr. Jones founded the First National Bank of Hawaii, of which he was president. During the revolution of 1893 he helped to organize the provisional government. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Alonza Gartley and Mrs. Abram Lewis, both of Honolulu.

his small son. The lad gave a good song and dance, and Mr. Angier's monologue was clever. This was followed by Clarence Howes and Hal Curtiss in a German monologue full of bright lines, and concluding with a topical song, of which the audience could not get enough.

TREASURES OF BUDDHIST ART

Marvelous Collection Preserved for Centuries in the Temple of Daigoji in Japan.

Daigoji, the head temple of the Ono school of the Shingon sect of Buddhism in Japan, situated not far from Kyoto, in the Uji district, suggests by its name its relation to Emperor Daigo, who reigned from 898 to 930. Its name originated from the fact that its founder, Abbot Shoho, came to this village and exclaimed after he drank from an old farmer's spring: "The water was as good as daigo!" It is a Buddhist word meaning an unctuous rich liquor. The posthumous title of the emperor must have originated from his devotion to the temple and its founder, as well as from his burial in the temple grounds.

Rare specimens of Buddhist art and literature, carefully preserved as the temple treasures of Daigoji, and exhibited recently at Tokio, through the efforts of Dr. Katsumi Korota of the editorial staff of historiographical materials in Tokio Imperial university, bring the story of the temple down to 300 years ago. Among the peculiar paintings in the temple are the "flower viewing screens," pictures of horse training and a collection of fan paintings said to be rare treasures.

In the literary collection there is an illustrated copy of the third roll of "Scripture of Cause and Effect of the Past and the Present." It was made nearly 1,200 years ago, but the colors in the picture are as fresh as the present day pigments. This scroll is considered the oldest thing extant in Japan of colored art on paper.

TREES GIVE MILKLIKE JUICE

Tropics Provide Pretty Fair Substitute for the Animal Product in Use in Northern Climates.

In British Guiana and the West Indies, particularly on the banks of the River Demerara, there grows a tree known to the natives as the halya, which yields from its bark and pith a juice slightly richer and thicker than cow's milk. The tree is about forty feet high and eighteen inches in circumference when full grown, and the natives use its juice as we use milk, it being perfectly harmless and mixing well with water.

The Cingaleses have a tree—they call it kiriguma—which yields a fluid in all respects like milk; while in the forests of Para grows a tree called the massenodendron, which gives a milklike juice. It can be kept for an indefinite time and shows no tendency to become sour.

On the other hand, certain trees in the valleys of Aragua and in Canaguia yield a similar fluid, which, when exposed to the air, begins to form into a kind of cheese, which very soon becomes sour.

In the Canary Islands there is a tree called bayaba dulce, of which the milk, thickened into a jelly, is considered a delicacy.

Unpleasant Dreams.

A London chemist, dreaming that he had swallowed poison by mistake, rose from the chair in which he had fallen asleep, so vivid had the dream been, he went to the shop and took an antidote. But this, in the absence of real poison, began to poison him, and before he realized the mistake the error was beyond repair.

In another case a man, after a heated argument with a visiting friend, dreamed that his guest was in his room molesting him. He actually "felt" rough hands on his body, jumped out of bed, and ran to his friend's room. There he attacked his innocent "assailant" so violently that the latter was confined to bed for several weeks.

Bachelor to the Rescue.

In a street car the other day I sat directly behind a woman who was trying desperately to untie a face veil. I was fascinated by her persistent but fruitless attempts to untie the veil with one hand while with the other she clutched her nose glasses, which were helplessly entangled in it. I was just wondering why some woman passenger did not offer assistance, when she turned to me and said: "Pardon me, but would you be kind enough to see if you can unfasten this veil." After frantic efforts, amid the suppressed merriment of the passengers I came out victor. But I was a much embarrassed bachelor.—Exchange.

Ostrich Plumes.

Ostrich plumes are not actually plucked, by the way. They are cut—pruned with no damage or pain to the bird. When the feathers are "ripe" the ostriches are driven into a V-shaped enclosure. Their heads are covered with a hood like a stocking, which renders them tractable. The wings are spread by the man doing the "plucking" and the feathers are clipped off fairly close to the flesh. This does not hurt the bird in the least and within sixty days the dead quill ends drop out of their own accord. The tail feathers are also clipped.

Kept Fish Alive.

During the recent storm several automobiles got into such deep water at Pennsylvania and Twenty-second streets that they had to stop until the flood abated. One member of a fishing party climbed out on the running board of his car and carefully tied a net of live fish to a spoke and calmly dropped it into the water.—Indianapolis News.

—The Seven Sleepers.

The story concerns seven Christian youths of Ephesus, imprisoned by order of the Emperor Decius in a cave in which they sought refuge, and where they fell asleep for nearly 200 years, awaiting to find a new civilization. They then related their story to the multitude, gave them their benediction, and expired. The Church consecrated June 27 to their memory.

As for the Bourse.

As for the Bourse, which is Greek by its colonnade, Roman by its arches and doors and windows, Renaissance by its tall vault, it is unquestionably a very correct and pure structure, and the proof is, it is crowned by an attic such as Athens never saw, a fine right line, gracefully cut here and there, by chimney pots.—Victor Hugo.

Eustachio's Manuscripts.

Bartolomeo Eustachio, whose name is perpetuated in the term "Eustachian tube," was an Italian physician to whom Pope Pius IV gave permission to dissect human bodies in the furtherance of anatomical knowledge. The original manuscripts of his works have just been unearthed.—Scientific American.

"LITTLE WOMEN" REPEATED

Mr. and Mrs. John Alcott of Newton are to be the guests of honor at the "Little Women" performance to be given Saturday in Jordan Hall, at 2 o'clock, for the benefit of the Boston North End Mission, now conducting its intensive drive for funds. They will autograph any of Miss Louisa Alcott's books which may be brought to the play. It was through the courtesy of Miss Caroline Freeman, director of Scouts for all the Newtons, and captain of the Newton team, that the performance of "Little Women," given recently with such success by the Lend-a-Hand Dramatic Club of Greater Boston, is being repeated.

CATHOLIC CLUB BALL

The resumption of the annual ball of the Newton Catholic Club last week Thursday evening, in the West Newton Armory, was one of the greatest successes of the many affairs that have been conducted by the club, more than 1000 being present. The guests included many civil and military dignitaries, among them being Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Fuller, Mayor Childs of Newton, Maj. H. D. Corcoran, Capt. John McClellan, Hon. Thomas W. White, supervisor of administration, and Lieutenants Hickey and Henneke.

Alderman Timothy C. Hickey and Miss Alice Duffy of Jersey City led the grand march.

BOYNTON LODGE RECEPTION

Boynton Lodge, United Order of Independent Odd Ladies, had a red letter day Tuesday, April 27th, when they gave to one of their members, Mrs. Sarah A. Wetmore, of Brighton, formerly of Newton, a grand reception. Sister Wetmore has reached the highest office in Oddladyship, being Supreme Lady. In the receiving line with her was Mrs. Lullie Ring of Watertown, now Noble Lady of Boynton Lodge; Mrs. Addie Raymond, Supreme Conductor, and Mrs. Florence Cory Thompson, senior representative. The receiving party stood under an arch of roses with tiny electric lights, the effect being most artistic. The hall was festooned with pink, and in every window was a flower box of pink roses, adding much to the beauty of the occasion.

The ushers were all members of Boynton Lodge, and included Eva Smith, Lou Sennott, Margaret Reed, Ruth Stoddard, Mary Newstead, Catherine Smith, Margaret Fogwill, Leona Woodward, Alta Florence, Jennie Clark, Harriet Young, Phoebe Littlebale, Leona Sear, Clara Elliot, Annie Preston, Josephine Robinson. About two hundred were present. Following the reception a most enjoyable entertainment was furnished by members of the M. Millie Beardsley Concert Company, which included pianolights and stories by Edna Knoght, violin solos by Irene Forte, readings by Doris Goodspeed, xylophone solos by Mildred Beardsley. This was followed by a social time and refreshments.

Mrs. Wetmore was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, which testified to the love and esteem in which her many friends hold her.

Mrs. Wetmore looked very charming in a handsome lavender messaline gown and carried a large bouquet of pansies.

Much credit is due the lodge for the splendid time they gave to their much beloved and honored Sister Wetmore.

The following officers were elected: President, Mr. W. H. Zoller; vice-presidents, Mr. Fred C. Alexander, Mrs. Augustus L. Wakefield; secretary, Miss Theresa Cram; treasurer, Mr. E. J. Kidder; assistant treasurer, Malcolm Yelland; librarian, Mr. Francis Beal.

A very pleasing entertainment followed the business meeting, in which Mrs. Florence Allen rendered several piano solos; Mrs. Ferguson, a number of vocal solos, and Mrs. Flagg gave readings.

Refreshments were served, Miss Ellen McCortney in charge.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Adequate provision for the rapidly growing women's clubs of the city is a crying need at present. Waban and West Newton seem to be the only villages now provided with anywhere near comfortable quarters. Auburn, date is nearing that happy prospect, and the always enterprising Woman's Club of that section is holding next week a two-day carnival to add to its funds. Newton Centre, with its club of nearly six hundred, is about to go ahead with its long cherished plans of erecting a clubhouse upon the site given by the Bray estate several years ago, which were put aside on account of the war.

"The clubhouse," says a circular sent out by the club, "represents the hard work, the personal sacrifice even of a few. The generous gifts and the investments of a part of the club; a few gifts from citizens with appreciation of what the club stands for and what a clubhouse will mean in the community, but the earnest wish of the committees and officers who are so deeply in earnest, and who have worked so long, is that every woman should own a share in her new clubhouse, that every citizen who is interested in the beautifying of the village, and in its social life, should give at least a mite toward the accomplishment of this great vision, and that later all may share in its benefits."

Newton with its Community Club, now numbering well over 600, is also feeling the stress of cramped quarters. The ground floor auditorium is a necessity not merely for the comfort and convenience of those for whom it is difficult to climb stairs, but for the very safety of those who attend the meetings.

State Federation

Although the annual meeting is still one month away, it is none too early to be securing accommodations. The New Bedford Hotel will be the headquarters, and all applications for rooms, whether in the hotel or outside, should be addressed to Charles W. Kokerda, manager. Rooms in nearby hotels or in private homes will be available. Kindly specify whether single or double beds will be required.

Monday, May 1st, the third Studio Conference of the Art department will be held at Grace Horne's studio, 146 Stuart street, Trinity court, Boston. "Beauty and Fitness in Costume" will be the topic for discussion.

Tuesday, May 9, is the date for the annual meeting of the Newton Federation. Be sure to save the day, for at this time the whole club work of the city is summed up and the club season rounded out.

Local Happenings

Saturday was Guest Day for the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club, and a number of presidents of the Newton clubs accepted the invitation for the occasion, which was held at the home of Mrs. Harry N. Milliken on Franklin street, Newton. Delightful music, rendered by several of the younger members of the club, was a pleasing feature of the afternoon, and included violin and piano selections by Miss Lindequist and Miss Cohen, a group of songs by Miss Mary A. Newhall, a piano solo and also a song by Miss Cohen. Rev. Mr. Van Kirk, of Newton Centre, read selections from "The Merchant of Venice," taking those scenes in which Shylock appears. The speaker professed his reading by saying that four great passions struggled in the heart of Shylock—love for his family and for his tribe, love of money, desire for revenge, and lastly and above all the love of life.

Mr. Van Kirk's interpretation of Shylock was particularly fine, and the whole reading finished most satisfactorily, and greatly enjoyed by all present.

A social hour followed, during which refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. F. H. Stratton, Mrs. F. S. Keith and Mrs. F. C. Snow.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands held its annual meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. George W. Barker, on April 24th. The club has continued its membership in the Child Labor committee, but has left other (Continued on Page 9.)

SCHOOL COMMITTEE REPORT

The following report of the Newton School Committee for 1921 has just been published:

The School Committee rate their City of Newton as being made up of citizens of modern intelligence. They conceive that their mandate from these citizens is to administer public education with modern aims and by modern methods, and with the aid of teachers carefully selected for character and ability.

The city's principal industry is the rearing of children. This is because Newton is essentially a city of homes. Moreover its people are of the sort who appreciate the importance of developing intelligence in the coming generation. They want their children to hold their own in the world, and even to forge ahead. For twentieth century children of intelligent parents, that requires much beyond "the three R's." Therefore, for example, Newton has more pupils in the high schools than have other cities, per capita of population. But the high school is the most expensive part of a school system. It is also more expensive to have children stay at grammar school than go prematurely to work in commerce. The larger school budget thus entailed is an inseparable characteristic of life in such a city. If, incidentally, the taxes for schools mount higher than in some other cities, it is because the people who live here insist upon having the advantages that can only be attained. People who appreciate the finer things of life are drawn to Newton, and remain here. Whether they themselves have children or not, they come, and they pay the taxes, because they find here people who are congenial, and because the municipality supplies here those things which tend to pleasant, convenient and healthful living conditions.

The Committee seek to administer the schools as economically as is consistent with the execution of this mandate, and with as little expense for housing and equipment as possible. They, moreover, in harmony with public sentiment during war time, postponed requests for needed new buildings. In consequence, the need is now the more urgent, especially as (except in Waban) we are doing business with the new over-crowded housing arrangements of 1919. It should be recognized that the requests of the School Committee for funds or equipment have basis in practical need—neither visionary nor inflated.

The survey of our schools made in 1920-21 by a body of outside experts, headed by James H. VanSickle, on invitation of a joint commission of Aldermen and School Committee, indicated that the main aim above stated aims are being attained. The schools were found adequate in variety, effective and modern in their work, and economical in their administration. In particular, the study showed that in cost they compare satisfactorily with the schools in other communities reasonably like Newton in character, and with which Newtonians may be compared. Details of this study are given in the report of the Superintendent.

This study led to the recommendation by the Commission that the junior high school be an approved policy and be gradually introduced as the resources of the city permit and housing needs require. The first of such schools is now being erected on Walnut and Crafts Streets, Newtonville. To serve a present estimated number of 504, this building provides a seating capacity of 628; and it is so designed as to permit addition of class rooms, for future needs, in a simple and economical way.

The city's experience in acquiring land for this school, having to pay for a house that had been erected thereon since the need for the lot was publicly known and tacitly agreed to a year ago, should emphasize the plain wisdom of securing sites for other buildings, whose need in the near future is already foreseen, before private enterprise occupies any desired site with such costly improvements as will either prevent the city's purchase or seriously hamper the school. Such sites are: in the vicinity of the corner of Washington and Greenough Streets (between West Newton and Auburndale) for a second junior high school; and on Ward Street, near Hobart Road (for the Chestnut Hill, Boston College, Commonwealth Avenue and future Waverly Avenue section) for a primary school, both to serve the growing section thus named and to relieve the already overcrowded Mason School at Newton Centre.

The needs for land to enlarge the Underwood School lot, to relieve the crowded Bigelow School in Newton, should also have consideration. A good opportunity exists at present to get land near the Eliot Railroad Station, to hold later the junior high school which will serve Waban, Upper Falls and Newton Highlands. These matters are outside of the jurisdiction of the School Committee, and we respectfully bring them to the attention of those in the City Government, and those citizens, who are concerned to have the city administered economically and well.

A recent instance of foresight in this direction, greatly to be commended, is the acquisition of the third and last section of the Claffin estate, extending along Hull Street south of Claffin Athletic Field and the Technical High School, containing some 300,000 feet. This has been made possible by the generosity of the late Mr. Frank A. Day and of Mrs. Day, who acquired the property for this purpose in 1907 and held it to await the convenience of the city. The city finally decided to purchase it from Mrs. Day at a price very much below its cost. It is hoped this field will be placed under the jurisdiction of the School Committee so that it can be used in connection with the school requirements.

During the year the new Albert Edgar Angier schoolhouse at Waban has come into use, having been opened in September. Simultaneously with this, the Angier District has been established to include Waban and Newton Lower Falls under the principalship of Mr. Harlan D. Crowell of the Angier School.

There is need of a centrally located building, preferably at Newtonville, to house the special classes which are now at the Barnard School in West Newton, to which pupils of grammar school age come from all parts of the city. The separate accommodation required by recent state law, for pupils who are mentally retarded more than three years, imposes additional needs on several schools.

The over-crowding at the Davis School in West Newton has been relieved by the provision of a two-room portable schoolhouse; so that for the moment the city has no part-time classes. However, the crowded conditions in this and other parts of the city continue. The average attendance for December, 1921, is 585 (equal to ten class rooms) greater than for December, 1920. At the Stearns School, Nonantum, one class is meeting in the school hall. At the Franklin School, West Newton, where there is already one portable room, there will have to be two new classes, additional, next fall. The Davis School building is in regrettable condition as to structure and equipment, and ought to be abandoned. The need for a building to relieve this district plainly exists. Such a building should be located between West Newton and Auburndale, where it can serve the seventh and eighth grades of both, and keep the ninth grade (first year high school) pupils near home a year longer, and give them the benefit of the junior high school system of instruction. At the Mason School, Newton Centre, additional room has been provided by finishing space in the attic. In the Bigelow School, at Newton, it appears inevitable that next fall there will be one class more than the building can possibly accommodate.

In general, much needs to be done to restore the school buildings to good repair. Expenditures for many years past have been grossly inadequate for maintaining condition, as well as for new construction. A related feature which is receiving occasional small attention is the installing of electric lights in many buildings which lack them. Last year the Committee asked that $5,000.00 be used to make a beginning of this work. The 1921 Board of Aldermen referred this matter to the 1922 Board; but later (December) Committee $1,000.00 to start the work. The injury to pupils resulting from inadequate lighting is not merely the loss of time when school has to be dismissed or diverted from its normal activities; but there is an inestimable damage due to eye strain while they are trying to work on numerous dark afternoons which are not quite dark enough for school to be suspended.

During the year new Rules of the School Committee were prepared, revising the old in many particulars, and greatly rearranging the subject matter. The reassignment of duties and the advent of the new assistant to the superintendent, Mr. Harry R. Howe, have enabled the Department to meet the situation caused by the withdrawal of Miss Celia M. Chase from her long term as secretary to the School Committee and general financial supervisor of its accounts and of the supplies for the schools. Her efficiency and faithfulness have contributed largely to the economy with which the business side of the School Department has been operated of recent years.

We have to chronicle the termination by death of the service of two of the most prominent teachers in the Newton High School:—Mr. Charles D. Meserve on January 20, head of the Department of Mathematics, and Mr. Enoch C. Adams on November 17, principal. Mr. Meserve, efficient and especially loved as teacher and adviser of boys, and Mr. Adams, efficient and notable as administrator and teacher of a successful high school, are mourned by many school generations who have grown up and graduated under their influence. Mrs. Eleanor L. Collbroth, teacher in the Mason School, also passed away during this year.

We also record with regret the withdrawal from service of Miss Charlotte E. Stearns, after a service covering 48 years in the Newton schools, of late in the Eliot School, and Miss Mary A. Laselle, who has been with us since 1900, the latter part of which time as teacher in the Vocational High School.

As measures of economy, the School Committee have this year, with regret, discontinued successful courses of instruction involving the curtailment of important service in four directions: The supervision of nature study in the grammar schools. The home garden work in the grammar schools. The post-graduate secretarial course in the Technical High School. The post-graduate home economics work in the Vocational High School.

The nature study has had an important cultural effect; the home gardens and the instruction therein have been of great practical value to citizens as well as to pupils, especially during the war; the post-graduate course have enabled pupils to ground themselves with full classical course of studies, followed by a year's intensive training in the technical branch selected.

During the year the departmental studies for revision of courses in the grammar schools have continued, under the charge of committees of teachers, to keep the curricula up to date. Classes have been provided for teachers in special subjects (mathematics); kindergarten and primary work; junior high school; in order to add them in keeping up with modern advances in pedagogy in these departments, and to prepare for the junior high school organization upon which it is hoped to enter in September, 1922.

For the teachers in the Vocational School a "permanent list" has been established comparable to the list of teachers "on tenure" in the ordinary schools.

With the aid of the latter appropriation, the Americanization classes have increased in number and become established in importance and value. Much time has been given to consideration of a problem of serious moment which still remains before the Committee, viz: the question whether the three specialized high schools can wisely be placed under administration. Such a combination would be in line with the current ideas held generally by educators, that the "comprehensive" high school, with its enlarged opportunities for pupils in one to take courses in another, is the best yet devised by modern art; but the physical obstacles to a close union, and the desire not to sacrifice the high degree of efficiency which these Newton schools have already attained leave this matter still a problem.

HOLE-IN-ONE

Payson T. Lowell, Jr., of Newton Highlands, a 15-year-old junior member of the Commonwealth Country Club, made an absolutely perfect shot from the tenth tee to the 135-yard hole while playing a tournament on the club links last Saturday.

He used a jigger, and the ball had just the right distance with perfect direction, going straight for the pin all the while.

The ball landed four feet from the hole and had just enough momentum to go straight into the cup.

Only twice before has a hole been made in One on this course. Once by Francis Quimmet and once by Charles E. Murnan.

Young Lowell is a sophomore in the Newton High School.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"The Love of Su Shong," which plays at the St. James this coming week, is the sister play of "East is West." Critics have one and all proclaimed it at least as good as "East is West." It is a romantic melodrama of "Old China" and "Young America," and has all the features of "East is West," in which Fay Bainter starred, besides the added attraction of the wonderful settings which are for the most part laid in China. "Su Shong" is distinctive—it is novel—it is interesting—it combines thrills and romance. According to the managing director, George A. Giles, the play promises to be one of the most startling, yet delightful drama of the age—a romance with a punch!

philanthropic work for the larger Woman's Club. After the reports and election of officers the time was occupied with a discussion of the popular novel, "If Winter Comes." Refreshments were served during the social hour. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. M. Mick; vice-president, Mrs. Charlton D. Miller; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Campbell; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Frost; auditor, Mrs. G. A. Salmon.

Last Monday evening a large and enthusiastic audience attended the presentation of two plays by the Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls, "The Happy Day," and "The Crimson Cocoon." Both plays were very well done, and particularly the last caused a great deal of merriment. The audience was warm in its appreciation of the actors.

The annual meeting of the Auburn-dale Woman's Club took place on Tuesday, Apr. 25th, at the Methodist Church. Following the regular routine of business the annual reports of the activities of the various committees were read, and the following appropriations were made: West Newton Music School, $25; Disabled Soldiers, $25; Barnard School West Newton, $10; North American Civic League, $10; Newton District Nursing Association, $25; Children's Hospital, $10; Children's Hospital, State Federation, $5; Newton Federation Philanthropic Fund, $50; General Federation Headquarters, Washington, D. C., $10. The election took place with the following result: President, Mrs. Wilbur D. Gilpatrick; First Vice President, Mrs. George W. St. Amant; Second Vice President, Mrs. Madison M. Cannon; Recording Secretary, Mrs. George G. Goldie; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. A. O'Brien; Treasurer, Miss Anne E. Bunker; Directors, Mrs. Henry F. Keever, Mrs. Royal Whiting. It was with much pleasure that the president, Mrs. Gilpatrick, announced that application had been made for the club to become incorporated under the laws of the State of Massachusetts to be called the Auburn-dale Woman's Club, Inc. A short entertainment of a very informal nature was given by the club members followed by refreshments.

Wednesday morning the members of the Newton Social Science Club were conveyed to the Brae Burn Country Club for the annual meeting and luncheon. Miss Georgia H. Emery being chairman of transportation. In opening the meeting Mrs. H. A. Nealey, the president, noted the death of one of the old members and a former treasurer, Mrs. Henry K. Hobart. The annual reports of officers and committees showed a large amount of good work done. The money gifts for the year include, Hampton Scholarship, $70; Stearns School Centre, $250; Newton Hospital, $100; Hospital Social Service League, $15; Welfare Bureau, $50; West Newton Music School, $35; East Relief, $32; Army and Navy Club, $5; Massachusetts Child Labor Committee, $10; District Nursing Association, $25; Russian Relief, through Mr. Hoover, $15; Barnard School, $10.

At the close of the business Miss Grace Weston gave a very interesting account of her winter in Washington, speaking particularly of the impressiveness of the Armistice Day ceremony and the burial of the Unknown Soldier.

A delicious luncheon was served upon tables decorated with beautiful flowers. At the close instead of any after-luncheon speaking, Mrs. Edward M. Hallett, chairman of the Social Committee, announced a short play, "Suppressed Desires," which was exceedingly well done by Mrs. H. I. Harriman, Mrs. E. M. Moore, and Mrs. C. Sidney Ensign.

These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Henry A. Nealey; vice-presidents, Mrs. Geo. M. Merrill, Mrs. Franklin Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. George L. Parker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. N. Pitts; treasurer, Mrs. John M. Woodbridge; auditor, Miss Georgia H. Emery; directors, Mrs. Sterling Elliott, Mrs. Samuel N. Braham, Mrs. Henry I. Harriman.

At the meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club yesterday, Maud Huntington Benjamin read "The Girl With the Green Eye."

Sale for the Disabled Soldiers

Under the auspices of the Civics and Social Service Committee of the Newton Federation a very successful sale was held at the Newton Club on Monday for the benefit of the Disabled Soldiers now in the Hospitals about Boston. Miss Edith F. Ticknor, of the Hospital Sales committee together with some of the boys and their teachers, were in charge of the sales tables. The articles, which were all made by the boys, included bags, rugs, scarfs, silk girdles, necklaces, leather-work, baskets, handwrought jewelry. To these were added cake, candy and a tea table in charge of the club women, the total profit going to the object, for the expenses were met from the Federation treasury. Those who poured were, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, Mrs. Frank L. Miller, Joseph C. Hagar, Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, Mrs. Radway, Mrs. J. N. Lovell, Mrs. Teulon and Mrs. H. R. Morse. In charge of the cake and tea, and Mrs. Fred Young of the candy. About $700 were realized from the sale. ANNUAL CONVENTION umbega district, are back of the State that weaker districts may be aroused, and thus the whole future of religious education in this State be assured.

Financial matters received serious consideration, for the Norumbega district work has reached such large proportions that, including the Community School and the share due the State, the budget recommended for the coming year is $4,500. Mr. C. A. Haskell made the treasurer's report.

Mr. W. T. Rich, chairman of the finance committee, recommended the adoption of the $4,500 budget.

The district nominating committee then made its report. The incoming officers rose as their names were called, and a prayer of consecration was offered by Rev. M. H. Lichtler.

The officers elected are as follows: President, Fred L. Smith; vice-presidents, G. Lewis Foster, Nathan Heard and Appleton P. Williams; recording secretary, Miss Alice G. Reynolds; treasurer, Mr. C. A. Haskell; chairman of the finance committee, Mr. Wm. T. Rich; district representatives, C. V. Moore, Wm. E. Lowry, C. A. St. Lawrence, P. R. Ziegler, A. A. Cole, Theodore S. Cooley, Harry T. Barnes, Chauncey B. Conn, W. H. Loud, James E. Tully, Anson T. Leary, Dr. B. T. Loring, Dr. Jos. E. Perry. Two district representatives from Waltham are to be elected during the coming week by the Waltham Federation of Churches. The finance committee were then announced by Mr. Rich as Rev. M. H. Lichtler, Richard O. Walter, Jas. H. Banks and Dr. B. T. Loring.

Dr. E. Morris Fergusson, former State Association secretary, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Walter, the retiring president, who for four years has thrown himself unreservedly into the work and brought the district to its present prosperous condition. A rising vote of thanks, though entirely inadequate to express the appreciation of Mr. Walter's work, was accordingly extended. A short address was made by the new president, F. L. Smith, and the convention closed by a prayer offered by Mr. Walter.

JOHN WINWARD HEIBECK

On Friday of last week Abundant was shocked to hear of the death of John Winward Heibeck after an illness of but a few days. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Heibeck of 5 Chaske Ave., and like his parents was identified with various local activities.

He was a Sophomore of the Classical High School, a member of the Abundant Troop of Boy Scouts, and a communicant of the Church of the Messiah, where he was active in the work of the Church School and in the life of the young people. He was born in Hyde Park, September 28, 1907, coming to Abundant in 1917. During these five years of residence in Newton he won to himself a host of friends and he was held in high esteem by everyone who in any way came in contact with his splendid personality.

The Burial Service at the Church of the Messiah on Monday was but one expression of the universal affection felt for him among his associates, young and old. The service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. Percival M. Wood, assisted by Mr. Paul Neal and the vested choir, many of the choristers being former choir-boy associates. The Boy Scouts attended in a body under the leadership of E. C. Hilliard, Scout Master, breaking ranks and standing at attention as the funeral procession passed between them in its approach to the Church and its departure from it.

The pall-bearers were Earl Buntington, Herman Foster, Raphael Fox, Chester MacRae, Everett MacRae and Jerome Preble. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to wide acquaintance and high regard in which John was held. The interment took place in the Newton Cemetery.

The heart of the community has been touched by the sorrow of the bereaved family and loving sympathy, is extended at this time.

"He being dead, yet speaketh."

This is a splendid opportunity, open to all, to give a mother, child, or older sister or brother, a wonderful outing in the country at a camp or home which has been thoroughly investigated and is constantly supervised. Any donations to this worthy cause can be sent to headquarters, marked "The Country Week." Twelve dollars will send a guest to a farm or camp for two weeks.
